YOUR SYSTEM OF RECORDS?

BETTER USE OURS

It costs a dollar a mile to go to Chicago in a Special Train, but only a few cents a mile on the Empire State Express. The same is true of the RECORD AND GUIDE QUARTERLY. Each subscriber receives for Twenty Dollars a year a service that would cost him thousands of dollars.

A system of records is as necessary to a real estate broker as the "ticker" to a stock broker. Conceivably a man might get along without either, but he would suffer immensely both in person and estate.

By means of the RECORD AND GUIDE QUARTERLY, which occupies only a few square inches on a shelf or a desk, the real estate man is put in possession of a system of records in which he could find any particular transaction, be it conveyance, mortgage, auction sale or lease, as easily as he can find the name of one of his clients in the telephone book. It is permanent in form, ever ready and available. It does not go "out" like the office boy, or make mistakes like the stenographer.

The annual number of the RECORD AND GUIDE QUARTERLY contains ALL the legal records for the past year concerning real estate and projected buildings, arranged alphabetically and numerically, with invaluable annotations.

These are supplemented by tables of important transactions, with typical prices, covering the past quarter of a century or more, accompanied by expert comments.

CUMULATIVE bull conditions of the year are beginning to make themselves felt at last. It has been truly an unnatural situation, for each increase in the rate of dividend for the past six months has been promptly followed by a decline in the stock involved, although it had not theretofore advanced in anticipation. Again, when at last Amalgamated Copper, in which an increase in dividend had been unanimously expected, celebrated its disappointment by a five point rise, Wall Street was disposed to say that this nonsense had gone far enough, and we must be permitted to have at least or at last a logical market. It certainly looks now as if this may be the case under the leadership of Southern Pacific and perhaps Canadian Pacific. The large banking interests that have been buying Southern Pacific for weeks assert that the present move will be phenomenal. Par is predicted, and many new records in railroad shares as well. It seems a certainty that, measured by market value, the country's crops will be the greatest ever known, and the conditions for an extended bull movement in stocks are thus highly favorable. Commission houses, which means margin holders, are bare of shares, while perhaps there is the largest scattered short interest in the history of Wall Street. The London settlement, just concluded, also shows a meagre bull account and a large short interest in Americans. This state of affairs, taken together with the decline in the prices of last January, afford material for an advance of fifteen to twenty points. Some authorities say that 60 may well be reached on the next lap for Steel Common.

HERETOFORE we have expressed the opinion, to which we still adhere, that low-priced railroad stocks like Wisconsin Central, Iowa Central, Toledo, St. Louis & Western, and others of a similar character will show the greatest profit, some of them, perhaps, doubling in market value. The Wheat crop will certainly be the largest on record, and only something entirely unforeseen can prevent Corn from being so, while the Cotton yield may well be the largest if we except the freak crop of two years ago. Money has ceased to be an element of danger to the market. That is to say, Wall Street has arrived at the conclusion that money is to be eliminated from the list of things of which to be afraid. Of the Russian situation, it may be said that it is bound to improve, through the mere exhaustion of the people, who are beginning to give evidence that they are tired of dancing to the tune played by the extremists of the several parties. To sum up, the strength of the market indicates that it should both rise and broaden. Strong interests have certainly, for the time being, ranged themselves on the bull side, and the return to this centre of activity of financiers and operators of international fame and reputation cannot but fail to have a beneficial effect.

ALL the reports from San Francisco tend to confirm the impression that the spirit of optimism with which the people of that city first met their disasters has been succeeded by a spirit of depression. They are beginning to realize how enormous the work of restoring the city must be, and what a long time it will take. The insurance companies are paying up very slowly, the population of the city is dwindling, and it is even being asked whether the city will ever recover from the shock of the earthquake and the effect of the conflagration. Such a feeling of depression is natural after the strain upon the nerves, which so serious a calamity necessarily involved; but it probably contains as large an element of illusion as the earlier hopes of an almost immediate recovery. The prosperity of San Francisco will probably experience a set-back more serious than did either Chicago or Baltimore under similar circumstances, because the destruction was more complete, and because of the peculiar situation of the city. It will be more difficult for San Francisco to rebuild cheaply than it was for a city like Baltimore, which can draw on unlimited supplies of labor and building materials. Nevertheless, we believe that the prosperity of the city will prove to be beyond even the power of such a calamity permanently to diminish. In the long run, the influence of its magnificent harbor, of its improving means of railroad communication, is bound to effect the process of restoration. It is bound to be the exporting and distributing centre for almost the whole of California, and for parts of certain neighboring states. Seattle may for a while be able to snatch away some of the Oriental export trade, and Los Angeles may become for a while the distributing centre of a larger region; but, in the long run, the competition of neither of these cities can seriously diminish the amount of business which will be transacted in San Francisco. It will remain the commercial centre of a state which has larger undeveloped natural resources than any state in the Union; and as California increases her production both of agricultural and manufacturing commodities, San Francisco is bound to be the place in which these goods are sold and distributed, and in which the growing business of the state is financed. The only doubt about the future of the city which a person who understands the economic situation can feel is, whether San Francisco can afford to rear on the ruins of the old wooden city an edifice constructed of really fireproof materials. There will be the strongest temptation to rebuild in the same bad old way; and unless this temptation is withstood, even at a very heavy cost, the future prosperity may be threatened by the only possible permanent danger, viz., by a feeling of insecurity.

IT looks very much, however, as if the old wooden San Francisco would be succeeded by a city built of concrete. From every point of view the system of reinforced concrete construction seems peculiarly adapted to the local needs and conditions. A wall of armored concrete is, of course, quite fireproof, and, according to the opinions of experts, it is able to stand the strain of an earthquake as well as a wall resting on a steel frame, and better than masonry construction. Then a city of concrete could be built much more cheaply than could a city composed of any other equally fireproof materials. Clay is scarce in the neighborhood of San Francisco, and the necessary amount of brick could be obtained only at an impossible expense. Good building stone has to be carried from a long distance, and is very expensive to lay. Steel beams must be transported from the East, and come high by the time they are laid down in San Francisco. On the other hand, cement mills could be erected at convenient points in a short time, and without a large investment of capital. Sand can be obtained in sufficient quantities, and steel rods would be much cheaper to transport, compared with the amount of work they do, than steel beams. It seems very probable consequently that the new San Francisco will be substantially a concrete city, particularly in view of the fact that, inasmuch as the old buildings were mostly wooden, the debris will not contain much material which can be used over again. If such should prove to be the case, it will be interesting to see what the architects of the new city will do in order to make concrete construction superficially attractive. When reinforced concrete is used for factories and mills, there is, of course, no reason for any veneer, but whenever the same method of construction has been used for buildings which face the streets of a large city, some attempt has usually been made to convert the dull monotone of the cement into something more interesting. In many cases a coating of tiles has been used, while in others the concrete itself has been colored in a livelier fashion. However the surfaces of these buildings are treated, it is very much to be hoped that the architects will not be tempted to spend much money on the ordinary decorative detail. Such detail is meaningless when plastered on a concrete building, the effect of which should be made to depend upon good masses, lines and surfaces, varied by well-placed openings.

UNRIVALLED in excellence as are the hotels of New York City, the extent of the accommodations they offer, the conveniences which they have installed, and their progressive management, combine to make it the more surprising that New York should be the only large city in the country which has, in fact, few "middle grade" family hotels. Between the first-class hotels and those of the cheapest sort there is little middle ground in New York. There are no hotels here which cater or profess to cater to middle class patrons at moderate rates. All other American cities have three varieties of hotels, those of the highest class and largest accommodations, those of the middle class at moderate rates, and the cheap and transient hotels to be found usually near railway stations or boat landings. New York has cheap hotels, but it has few family hotels; that is to say, hotels which cater to "family patronage" particularly. The reason for this is that the standard of rents charged in New York in eligible locations is so much higher than elsewhere in the country that to run a New York hotel according to the standard of family hotels in other cities would result in a loss. Moreover, the measure of prosperity of hotels in this city is based on the extent of the accommodations they offer. The most up-to-date hotel is by an invariable rule the most successful, and the New York hotel which, through the standard of the prices charged, is confessedly not "up-to-date," would have little chance of attracting a considerable patronage from other places or from residents of the city itself.

Real Estate Less Active.

SIGNS are evident on all sides of a falling off in the volume of real estate transactions. Popular interest in the sales of suburban lots in the outlying boroughs steadily diminished as the season advanced. The trading in tenement houses, which has of late years continued pretty steadily in Manhattan all summer, has shrunk to comparatively small proportions. Building operations, which in the beginning of the year showed an increase over the amount of the preceding year, are now week by week turning in decreases. It is probable that by the end of the year the figures representing transactions of all kinds will be substantially smaller than the corresponding figures for 1905. Some of this subsiding activity is doubtless due to the condition of the money market, which has been acting for some time as a restraint upon speculative transactions in real estate, and it is very much to be hoped that the money-lending institutions all over the country are using their influence in favor of a similar conservatism. Speculation in real estate, and particularly in unimproved property, was assuming large and unwholesome proportions, and a speculation of this kind when it does overreach itself has very serious consequences. It involves a far larger number of people than an excessive speculation in grain or stocks, and is much less restrained by the prudence of professional knowledge.

So far as the local situation is concerned, it looks as if the activity in real estate would be moderated, but the general situation would not be essentially weakened. There will be less trading than there has been in the tenement house districts, and tenement house property will be less profitable. Consequently, fewer tenement houses will be built. On the other hand, there is no reason to suppose that the situation will become very weak, or that the diminution of activity will spread to the business districts. As long as the existing business activity continues, the demand for more space for the transaction of business will continue, and new office and loft buildings will be erected to meet it. It is not reasonable to anticipate that any shrinkage in general business will take place during the coming winter, and consequently we may expect that the whole section between Fourteenth and Fifty-ninth Streets will exhibit a continuation of existing conditions for another season.

General speculative purchases during the coming year will depend to some extent on the result of the pending negotiations between the Rapid Transit Commission and the Interborough-Metropolitan Company. If satisfactory arrangements could be reached for Lexington Avenue and Seventh Avenue subways, it is probable that this fact would have a considerable effect upon the market. The whole situation on the East Side between Fifth Avenue and Lexington Avenue would be enormously strengthened by the authorization of a tunnel under Lexington Avenue, particularly as such a tunnel could probably be completed in less than three years; and the same statement is true in respect to the West Side south of Forty-second Street. Speculation in the Pennsylvania Terminal district has almost ceased of late; but a Seventh Avenue subway would be the signal for an early revival. But if the construction of new subways is postponed, that fact will undoubtedly have a depressing effect, and will leave speculators somewhat at a loss for districts in which to operate profitably.

The Big Catalogue.

IS the big catalogue efficient? Is it really exempt from the fate that we know befalls the smaller catalogue?

Big firms imagine they gain something by issuing a big catalogue. They think size has in itself some virtue; they send out to architects and others a heavy bound volume of several hundred pages, in which they illustrate every article they make or deal in. This proceeding costs a deal of money. Is the expenditure made upon sound principle? Does inquiry justify the enterprise?

But, here let it be remarked, the last thing any firm inquires into is the validity of the expenditures made for catalogues. Other outlays, as, for instance, in the manufacturing department or the sales department, are subjected to rigorous accounting. Cause and effect are scrupulously compared. Expenditures not justified are dropped. However, disbursements made for catalogues are rarely questioned. Nearly everything is taken for granted. It is understood that in all other commercial affairs, methods once efficient become inefficient; machinery once profitable becomes unprofitable; men once money-makers become outgrown, and, by changed conditions are transformed into financial drones, whose cost of maintenance is chargeable to the wrong side of the ledger. But the catalogue! That does not seem to be subject to any of these deteriorations of time or circumstance! The idea appears to be that because a certain catalogue was a good thing ten or twenty years ago it still is just as good. If it were wise to spend upon it ten, twenty or fifty thousand dollars a decade or two ago, why it is quite as judicious to continue or even to enlarge the expenditure. No wonder so much money is wasted at present on catalogues; and the big catalogue is in many cases the most flagrant instance of mere routine inefficiency.

Several conditions contribute to the increasing inutility of the ponderous catalogue. These books have now become so numerous that they compete with one another. Any one of them is no longer sufficiently distinctive to confer any great amount of prominence upon the firm that issues it. These volumes, therefore, have lost almost all their "advertising" value. They are so numerous they destroy one another. The architect cannot house a hundred or more of them. Consequently, their efficiency also is degenerating steadily. Why? Think a minute. The first small catalogue that was ever issued attracted attention by its novelty, but as soon as everyone issued small catalogues, was not the novelty dead? The first firm that "got on" to this, and issued an illustrated catalogue or an art catalogue hit the mark for a moment, but only until these novelties became the common property of everyone; and so on with other attempts to gain the customer's attention. Likewise with the big bound catalogue. When first issued, it exerted an imposing effect, but every additional big catalogue that has been published has tended to detract from the initial advantage, until to-day the predominance has dwindled to comparatively small dimensions. Every year makes it less.

But, more important than all is this: In order to give these big books their bulk, a vast amount of unrelated material is perforce included within the covers. Everything a firm makes is thrown into their pages, and the books are issued to people who have no possible interest in seven-eighths of all that they contain. Take architects, for instance. What possible interest can they have in a large proportion of the matter printed in the big hardware catalogues, plumbing catalogues, steam fitting catalogues and others of that class? Does an architect ever specify trunk locks or meat choppers? Yet these things are to be found illustrated through scores of pages in the ponderous tomes sent out by big hardware concerns. How many architects are directly concerned with common wash bowls, the lowest grade of faucets, the cheapest plumbing fixtures of one kind and another? Yet plumbing firms devote page after page to this grade of goods, and so swell out the unwieldy volumes they distribute among the profession. This material is undoubtedly valuable to the local hardware dealer, or the country plumber, but is it not largely irrelevant so far as the real architect is concerned?

Finally, the presence of this cheap material reflects a certain air of commonplace upon the better material depicted in these books, and in which the architect really is interested. The tastes and standards of the profession have advanced greatly in the last few years. Architects as such are seeking more and more the highest grade of goods. They prefer the "exclusive." The utterly cheap and mechanical acts as a sort of grit to the teeth. Besides, does not the architect take some things for granted? A man can purchase a bowl of rice and milk as readily in the Waldorf-Astoria or Delmonico's as in a Childs' restaurant, but neither the Waldorf nor Delmonico's parade the rice and milk up and down their menus. We are not contending that there is no place at all for a catalogue that contains the commonplace, but we do contend that that place is not in the catalogue prepared for the architectural profession. A wiser policy would be to send the cheap catalogue to the dealer and the limited catalogue of the higher grade goods to the architect.

London's Largest Landlords

Nine Chief Estates Hold Five Square Miles of City Territory

LONDON.—(Special).—Strange as it may seem in this twentieth century, when statistics on every conceivable subject, from the mountains and rivers of the moon to the bacilli in a square inch of Shoreditch, are as open to all our sights as the lines in a man's hand, there is no reliable or official information available on the subject of the ownership of London. Even the authorities at Westminster and Spring Gardens themselves do not know; it is useless to inquire of the parish authorities; they are as ignorant as the rest. Attempts have been made in the past to compel the owners of land to make a return, but the attempts have failed. So that the only method of arriving at an estimate of the magnitude of each property, and ascertaining its boundaries, is to follow by-paths, to make local inquiries, to collate old maps. For you must not hope to receive any assistance whatever from the owners themselves or their agents and surveyors; with them the old feudal principle of secrecy is maintained to the letter. It is irritating, but perhaps we may after all be able to dispense with their co-operation.

Let us, then, begin with the Duke of Westminster's property and its precise boundaries, not because this estate is the oldest—that distinction belongs to the Bedford property—but because it is the largest. It was acquired by the marriage in 1676 of Sir Thomas Grosvenor with Mary Davis, the only child of Alexander Davis, of Ebury Manor. Now, Ebury Manor, leaving out of consideration the public parks, was, roughly speaking, just what the Grosvenor estate is to-day. Nobody, not even the holders of such estates, had any thought in those days of the immense value land on the outskirts of London would eventually attain.

It was then open country; indeed, only a century ago snipe were shot in the neighborhood of Belgrave sq. Any old map will show you the boundary of the old Grosvenor estate, which to-day is situated in the parishes of St. George, Hanover Square and St. John, Westminster.

The northern portion is bounded by Oxford st, the western by Park lane. On the east the line passes close to South Molton st, down Davies st, traverses a portion of Berkeley sq, takes in both sides of Mount st, and so back to Park lane. The southern section starts at St. George's Hospital, passes down the centre of Grosvenor pl to Buckingham Palace road; thence down Vauxhall Bridge road to the Thames, and eastward to the Grosvenor Canal. On the west it reaches nearly to Sloane sq, and so on northwards almost to Knightsbridge road. In addition to these two parcels of land, covering altogether nearly 340 acres, there is another—the tidy little Milbank estate, near the houses of Parliament, an oblong patch between Horseferry road and the Tate Gallery. Here was formerly Peterborough House, the town seat of the Mordaunts, Earls of Peterborough, it eventually passing to the Grosvenors. Altogether we have nearly 400 acres on the map, a very handsome slice indeed out of the metropolis, two-thirds the area of the city of London proper.

The Cadogan estate in Chelsea, originally the manor and embracing some 400 acres, is to-day by no means so large, being only about half the size of the Westminster property. It is situated in a district bearing many reminders of its owners in the names of streets and squares, such as Hans pl, Cadogan sq, Pont st and Sloane st. The estate came into the family through General Cadogan, an officer of the Horse Guards in Queen Anne's time. He had married the daughter and heiress of Sir Hans Sloane, who had previously (in 1712) acquired the manor of Chelsea from the Cheyne family.

From the Cadogan we pass to the estate of Viscount Portman, which covers 270 acres. It lies north of Oxford st, between Edgware road and High st, Marylebone, its northern limits being even beyond the Regent's Canal. It takes in Portman, Manchester, Bryanston and Montagu sq, Baker st and Lisson Grove. On this site was, in the sixteenth century, a farm which the Lord Prior of the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem granted for fifty years to John Blennerhasset and his wife. At their death, in 1532, Chief Justice Portman acquired the reversion of their house and finally the fee-simple of the farm from Queen Mary.

East of the Portman estate is Lord Howard de Walden's vast property, popularly known as the Portland estate. Its southern boundary is Oxford st, between Marylebone lane and Wells st, taking in Wigmore st, running north to Regent's Park, excluding the top of Portland pl, and east as far as Cleveland st. But this is not all. There is Portland Town, a fine estate to the north of Regent's Park, between Wellington road and Primrose Hill, and northward to St. John's Wood Terrace, and another parcel to the west of Lord's Cricket Ground, which Lord Howard de Walden recently acquired for the sum of 64,000 pounds. Altogether we have here about 290 acres in the possession of a young man of five and twenty, who inherited it from the daughter of the fourth duke of Portland.

The estate of the Eyre family adjoins Lord Howard de Walden's and Lord Portman's on the north, running as far as Swiss Cottage, and embracing a great part of St. John's Wood. The lord of the manor and owner of Hampstead is Sir Spencer Maryon-Wilson, whose seat of Fitzjohns we find commemorated in Fitzjohns av. Claim was formerly made by the owner of this vast property, Hampstead Heath itself, so that, in 1870, it had to be purchased for the unrestricted use of the public by the old Board of Works. But all the contiguous part of this great and growing district is in the hands of this fortunate baronet, and has to pay tribute to him as ground landlord. Coming back southward, we strike into the northern portion of the domain of Lord Southampton, in the neighborhood of Chalk Farm, and so on to Camden Town and Kentish Town, the property of the Pratt family, amounting to 200 acres.

A far more valuable and important estate, so far as London and Londoners are concerned, than any of these last mentioned is that owned by the Duke of Bedford, as head of the Russell family. It was formerly only 220 acres, but there have been recent important purchases from the Crown, of which Parliament and the public seem to have been kept in ignorance. The Bedford property comprises three distinct parcels of land. The first is in St. Pancras parish, north of Euston Station, east of Hampstead road and south of Crowndale road, and including Harrington sq, Amptill sq and Oakley sq. The second portion is that upon which the British Museum and Russell sq stand, stretching as far north as Endsleigh Gardens to below New Oxford st on the south—between Tottenham Court road and Southampton row. The third division, although the smallest, is not the least important, as it includes Covent Garden and neighborhood, including Southampton st and the offices of the Strand Magazine. As will be seen, there are a great many theatres also on the Duke of Bedford's estate, in each of which he stipulates for the reservation of a special ducal box.

East of the Bedford property is that owned by Lord Northampton, situated in the parish of St. James, Clerkenwell and St. Mary, Islington—roughly speaking, about 200 acres, exclusive of the manor of Canonbury, which came into the Compton family by the marriage of the heiress of Sir John Spenser, who died in 1609, with an ancestor of Lord Northampton. Eastward several hundred acres are in possession of Lord Amherst, who is the landowner of Hackney. The Tysens, a Dutch family, settled at Hackney, and purchased the manor two centuries ago. Afterwards the property passed to the Kentish family of Daniel, who assumed the surname and arms of Tyssen, with the additional name of Amherst. De Beauvoir Town to the north of Hoxton is part of the Amherst estate.

To the south of the Thames a great landowner is Lord Llangatock, otherwise Rolls, of the Hendre. This property lies in Bermondsey, in Southwark, in Camberwell and Newington, and includes the Old Kent road. Rotherhithe is in the possession of the heirs of the late Sir W. Gomme.

The last illustration of this kind that we give shows the extent and vicinity of the estate vested in the Bishop of London, which approximates in area the estate of Lord Southampton, although far less in extent than that of Lord Amherst.

On the whole, then, we see the nine leading London landlords—the nine chief estate owners of the metropolis, apart from the Crown and the city companies—hold between them not less than five square miles of territory. The vast and ever-increasing value of land in London makes the possession of so much property in the hands of a small group of peers an event, in our days, of extraordinary significance. It must be remembered that sites for building, in certain of the more populous districts, have realized as much as fifty pounds per square foot!

No Bids Before 1907.

From present appearances it will be 1907 before bids are opened for the construction work of the Bronx Valley sewer, which is to run from White Plains through the towns of Greenburgh, Eastchester and Scarsdale past Mt. Vernon and Yonkers and across the southern boundary line of the city in an outlet to the Hudson, near Ludlow. The long engineering work is now about ended. There were 25 miles of territory in the assessment district to be surveyed, and the maps are now about ready to be presented to the commission. After this has been done and after the commission generally approves the maps, public hearings must be given so that those people included in the assessment district may enter any objections they may have.

When the plans have been finally approved by the State authorities, the commission, through its counsel, will then apply to the Supreme Court for the appointment of commissioners to estimate the cost of land condemned for sewer uses. Once those commissioners have been appointed the sewer commission then comes into possession of the land and can proceed to advertise for bids and open contracts.

Rapid Transit Needs of the Bronx.

A largely attended meeting in favor of better rapid transit in the Bronx was held on Wednesday night in the Morris Building, at 149th st and 3d av, under the auspices of the Joint Transit Committee of the Civic Associations of the borough. Addresses were made by J. Homer Hildreth, who was called to the chair; Captain Baxter, State Railroad Commissioner F. M. Baker, Mr. Barnes, the electrical expert of the State Railroad Commission, Julius H. Hass, F. W. Hollenroth, J. B. Powers and others. The plan of the committee covers the following transit additions and improvements:

1. Building of the so-called "McLaughlin loop" from the subway at the corner of Brook and Westchester avs, thence on elevated structure through Brook av, to its junction at 3d

Views in the Hotel Belmont.

Entering from 42d street, we are at once in a spacious two-story lobby, with an interior staircase, the second story forming galleries around three sides and affording excellent lounging space amply provided with comfortable chairs from which patrons can see down onto the lobby floor and still be out of the bustle of the moving crowd, a very admirable piece of hotel planning. The decorative treatment of the ceiling and wall surfaces calls for less enthusiastic praise. The piers, ceiling and ceiling beams are treated in artificial Caen-stone with the joints marked off in white. Supporting the beams and on each side of the piers which look quite able to support their loads, there have been placed ponderous Atlas-like figures executed in white staff. Aesthetically one can find no excuse for them, nor do they give any particular character to the room. Even as architectural ornaments they fail to hang together, springing as they do from little trivial pilasters, the intersection of which with the figures has been but awkwardly concealed. Passing through the lobby and through the corridor on the Park avenue side, one emerges into the other entrance hall, which contains a pretentious and ample staircase running to the third story, and the elevators, which run all the way up. The floor, walls and supports are treated in red marble and av and 160th st. Thus all passengers coming up or riding downtown will be enabled to ride via subway and elevated to and from Tremont, Fordham and Bedford Park, without changing cars.

2. Extend the spur of the elevated structure as originally built and now ending near the junction of Willis av and 145th st, through Willis av to Bergen av, to Westchester av, there to intersect with existing elevated system. This will afford trackage to run some of the 2d and 3d av trains direct to West Farms without change.

3. All island stations from 133d st to Bedford Park stations should be removed, and third track put all the way through between said points.

4. Establish express service during the entire day on all these intersecting roads or lines.

5. Institute express service trains all day from West Farms to City Hall via subway. In this connection it must be distinctly understood that the traveling public in the Bronx expect that on the adoption of the additions and improvements recommended herein, the aforesaid spurs and third track will be used for running express and regular trains, and at no time for the storage of cars.

The plan when worked out will render transfers at 149th st and 3d av unnecessary, and end the disgraceful congestion at that point.

The civic associations of the Bronx, as represented by the committee, are pledged, regardless of political affiliations, as taxpayers and home seekers, to secure the results sought, and will co-operate through their accredited representatives to obtain proper consents and grants for the use of streets and tracks as recommended herein.

produce an effect so different from the entrance lobby we have just left that we can scarcely believe we are still in the same building. The view beyond shows the end of the dining room which, like the entrance lobby, has balconies on three sides, but instead of sculpture, the entire surface is elaborately frescoed, pale blue and green being the predominating colors. The effect is rather cold and uninviting, though perhaps, it may attract in summer. The brilliant chandelier of cut glass in the centre forms the most attractive spot of decoration in a rather expressionless interior, but unfortunately that was draped when the photograph shown herewith was taken. The floor is richly carpeted and the furniture and curtains are simple and appropriate in design and color. We retrace our steps into the entrance hall and go up to the second floor to the banquet room which, unlike the rooms we have thus far noted, is small for such a large hotel; it has a ceiling of plain gold, and mirrors on all sides, somewhat counteracting its smallness. Red is the predominating color in the furniture and draperies, which here as elsewhere, are simple and appropriate.

Hearing on Route No. 9.

Official notice is given that the commission appointed by the Supreme Court to pass upon the necessity for route No. 9 of the projected subway system will hear interested property owners at the offices of Boardman, Platt & Soley, on Aug. 8. As proposed the route is briefly as follows:

Broadway (Brooklyn) from its intersection with Fulton st and Jamaica av to Williamsburgh Bridge approach, running thence over the said approach and bridge and connecting with a route in the Borough of Manhattan; Cranberry, Pineapple and Montague sts, each connecting by a tunnel under the East River with a route in Manhattan; Fulton st from Cranberry st to Brooklyn Borough Hall, connecting with the present subway; Willoughby st to Flatbush av extended; Flatbush av from Willoughby st to Fulton st; Fulton st from Flatbush av to Lafayette av; Lafayette av from Flatbush av to Stuyvesant av; Bedford av from the Eastern Parkway to Williamsburgh Bridge approach; Gates av from Bedford av to Broadway.

All these matters are awaiting reports from the chief engineer.

Municipal Bonds Less Desirable.

In connection with the sale of city bonds this week bankers gave an exposition of the mortgage money situation peculiarly enlightening to real estate and building interests, so far as it has a bearing on building loans and permanent mortgages, though spoken in reference particularly to city bonds. Controller Metz was able to dispose of but $11,029,000 of the $13,500,000 of city bonds advertised for sale, and at an average of only 100.97. President Rhodes, of the Greenwich Savings Bank, summarized his impression of the situation in this way:

"In my judgment the low price obtained for New York City bonds in the sale held yesterday rises from the following causes:

"In the first place, business activities of the country have been so great and speculation has been so rampant as to pro-

316. Acquiring title to Eastchester road, from East 225th st to Williamsbridge road, and East 225th st, from Bronx Boulevard to Eastchester road, to be acquired in one proceeding, as these streets form one continuous highway or boulevard.

317. Acquiring title to Sedden st, from MacClay av to West Farms road.

318. Acquiring title to Buck st, from Zerega av to Sedden st.

319. Acquiring title to the widening and extension of Becker av (or 241st st), from the White Plains road or boulevard to the centre line of the Bronx River, Wakefield, Borough of the Bronx, New York City.

320. Regulating and grading, setting curbstones and flagging sidewalks a space 4 ft. wide, laying crosswalks, building approaches and necessary drains and appurtenances in West Farms road, from the Bronx River to the easterly side of Morris Park av, and paving the roadway thereof with granite blocks on a sand foundation.

321. Paving with granite blocks on sand foundation Devoe av, between West Farms road and East 180th st, and setting curb where necessary.

duce a condition of strained credit, that is to say, with all the increase in currency we have had, there is not enough money to meet the demands which come from every direction and which are now especially heavy in connection with real estate speculation.

"So far as the savings banks are concerned they are very large holders of city bonds, and the larger banks as a rule are now carrying as large an amount of these bonds as they deem proper. The decided demand for bonds of this class has, for the time being, lessened materially, owing to the employment of money more profitably in other directions. It is to be regretted, however, that in view of the large debt of this city, constantly increasing, with greater demand for improvements of all kinds, more effort had not been made to keep the credit of the city up to the highest standpoint."

Other bankers say that not for "ten years has the general bond market been so overloaded. For this circumstance there are three excuses—that the resources of life insurance companies have been diminished, that the fire insurance companies have been compelled to pour out into trade nearly half their accumulated surpluses, and that more money is needed, because of prevailing high prices for staples, to carry on almost any given enterprise."

It is also pointed out that under the new mortgage law, municipal bonds, not only of New York City, but of any city, are less desirable than tax-exempt real estate mortgage securities in this State, and gradually but surely capital is turning that way, and this week's city bond transaction is only a forerunner of what is to follow, as lending institutions are certain to prefer five and six per cent. loans to four per cent. or less. In fact, the results of the city bond sale are not alarming, but highly significant to real estate interests.

WALL ST.—Plans are now in preparation for the erection of a new Assay Office, on the present site of the old structure, No. 30 Wall st. It is probable that a comparatively low building will be put up, as an administration building, with a taller building in the rear for the transaction of necessary assay work. The purpose will be to make the design conform with the architecture of the new Custom House, in lower Broadway. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Edwards and the Supervising Architect of the U. S. BUILDING NOTES

William Runkel, president of the Warren Foundry & Machine Co., New York, sailed for Europe on Friday.

John W. McKay has been appointed chief engineer of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity of the Borough of Brooklyn.

The Otis Elevator Co., 17 Battery pl, was the only bidder for installing an electric elevator in the sheet metal shop at Puget Sound Navy Yard, Washington, at $3,750.

G. A. Roullier, of Flushing; L. I., and R. H. Bethel, of Manhattan, have formed the firm of Roullier & Bethel, civil engineers and surveyors. They have offices at 211-217 West 125th st and 20 Main st, Flushing.

As noted in the Record and Guide last week, plans for only twenty buildings were filed in Manhattan from July 14 to 20, as compared with plans for 101 buildings for the corresponding week a year ago. In the Bronx the falling off amounted to only 50 per cent., being 26 last week against 51 for the same period in 1905.

An unexpected falling off in building operations is reported by the Queens Bureau of Buildings. During the week just closed plans for only 31 new buildings were approved by the Queens Bureau, the estimated cost of which is a trifle more than $100,000. In the preceding week 67 plans for new buildings had been passed upon, involving an outlay of almost $500,000.

The demand for homes in the Jamaica section has increased to such an extent that several New York and Brooklyn builders have filed plans for the erection of large brick flats. Until now practically all of the construction has been of wood, and the erection of flat houses will be watched with interest by those who have recently invested heavily in unimproved property in that vicinity.

Edward Johnson is now building sixty-seven new houses in Borough Park, and thirty-five of them are 2-family brick structures, situated on 44th st. His 2-family houses, he says, sell before the foundations are complete. All the eighty houses now in course of erection west of New Utrecht av, in Borough Park, on the former Bocker estate, are of the 2-family type, and throughout Bath Beach, J. H. Pennock; the Pinover Construction Co., W. R. Pengel and other well-known builders, are finding it their biggest seller. The same is true in Bay Ridge and Fort Hamilton.

Twenty-two hundred houses were commenced in the Borough of Brooklyn during the second quarter of 1906. The Thirtieth Ward, which takes in Borough Park, Bay Ridge, Van Pelt Manor, Bath Beach and Bensonhurst, exceeded any other ward in number started. In the Thirty-first Ward 167 were started, and in the Eighth 128. The proposed improving of transit facilities with the coming of the new subway is considered largely responsible for this rapid development, but real estate dealers also regard other circumstances as prime factors in the movement. One of these is the recent sub-division of large tracts of land, which have for years been held by estates and syndicates. Another is the increasing demand for suburban homes.

A Concrete Office Building.

The first reinforced concrete office building in New York City will be erected on the plot No. 231-241 West 39th st by the McGraw Realty Co., a subsidiary concern of the McGraw Publishing Co. The plans were filed a few days ago by Radcliffe & Kelley, architects, who with Prof. Wm. H. Burr, consulting engineer, and Walter S. Timmis, mechanical engineer, have the building in charge. The builder is Frank B. Gilbreth, who has sublet to the Underwriters Engineering and Construction Co. the reinforced concrete work. Operations have been started and it is expected that the building will show above grade in three weeks' time.

The structure will have a frontage of 126 ft. 4 ins., a depth of 98 ft. and 9 ins. and a height of eleven stories, and is to be finished as an up-to-date office building. The basement is planned for a press room, and the first floor will be used for finishing and shipping the products of the press room. These and two upper floors will be occupied by the McGraw Publishing Co., and the remainder of the building will be rented as offices.

The design of the structure embraces all the most approved features of this new method of construction and is logically and consistently worked out as a reinforced concrete problem, brick not entering into the construction in any part, not even in the facing of the walls, which will be of concrete, finished on the front in a more careful manner than has heretofore been done, with the result that the facade will not suffer in comparison with fronts of the usual materials, and will be an honest expression of the construction of the building.

The design of columns, with beam and girder connections to them, has received particular study and will be of a more simple nature than those in vogue, with steel reinforcement of no greater weight than usual, but of an inherent stability, which will give the strength necessary to carry the dead load of the structure independent of the concrete filling and covering.

All partitions, shaft enclosures and even the stairs will be of concrete. The doors will be metal covered; the window frames will be of metal glazed with wire glass, and the equipment of building generally will be such as to give the greatest fire protection, which naturally will result in the lowest rate of insurance.

Measures for the Protection of Workmen.

Acting Mayor McGowan has returned with his disapproval the proposed ordinance entitled "An ordinance for the better protection of persons employed in the construction, altering or repairing of buildings in the City of New York."

His objections are briefly shown and specified as follows:

Section 1 provides in substance that it shall be unlawful for any owner or contractor to place in any building in course of construction, alteration or repair any ladder or step-ladder in excess of 8 ft. in length, or stairs or any landing of stairs intended to be used by men engaged in the construction, altering or repairing of the building unless said ladder shall be securely fastened at the top and bottom, and unless said ladder shall be so constructed as to bear four times the maximum weight required to be placed thereon when in use, and unless said stairways have treads thereon and said landings be covered immediately after the iron stair springs are put up and unless every part thereof is securely and sufficiently fastened, and unless each and every part of said stairs and of every such landing is capable of sustaining at least three times the maximum weight required to be placed thereon when in use.

The second section makes certain provisions as to well-holes, floor openings and guard rails.

The third section provides that a violation of the ordinance shall be a misdemeanor punishable by fine of not exceeding $100 and imprisonment of not exceeding six months, or both.

There are already in the statutes of the State, and especially in the Labor Law, provisions intended to protect workmen and laborers while engaged in building operations.

For instance, in Section 18 of the Labor Law, it is provided as follows: "A person employing or directing another to perform labor of any kind in the erection * * * of a house, building or structure, shall not furnish or erect, or cause to be furnished or erected for the performance of such labor, scaffolding, hoists, stays, ladders or other mechanical contrivances which are unsafe, unsuitable, or improper, and which are not so constructed, placed and operated as to give proper protection to the life and limb of a person so employed or engaged. * * *"

Section 19 provides as follows: "Whenever complaint is made to the factory inspector that * * * ladders * * * used in the construction, alteration, repairing * * * of building within the limit of a city are unsafe or liable to prove dangerous to the life or limb of any person, such factory inspector shall immediately cause an inspection to be made of such * * * ladders. * * * If, after examination, such scaffolding or any of such parts is found to be dangerous to life or limb, the factory inspector shall prohibit the use thereof and require the same to be altered and reconstructed so as to avoid such danger."

In Section 20 there are provisions as to the protection of persons employed in buildings in cities.

In Section 21 provision is made that the factory inspector shall enforce the various provisions of the Labor Law in the respects provided for in the sections just referred to.

Furthermore, in Section 447a of the Penal Code is the following provision:

"A person or corporation employing or directing another to do or perform any labor in the erection, repairing, altering or painting of any house, building or structure within this State, who knowingly or negligently furnishes or erects or causes to be furnished or erected for the performance of such labor, unsafe, unsuitable or improper scaffolding, hoists, stays, ladders or other mechanical contrivances * * * or permits the use thereof after the same has been declared unsafe by such officer contrary to the provisions of Article One of the Labor Law, is guilty of a misdemeanor."

There are, I believe, other provisions of statute in the Building Laws and in the Health Laws which are intended to safeguard the lives and persons of workmen and laborers.

The proposed ordinance is thus an attempt to at least supplement and perhaps to repeal, modify or amend the statute laws of the State. The Legislature has already passed such laws upon the subject as it has deemed wise. An ordinance of the Board of Aldermen which attempted to repeal, modify or amend a State statute, would, of course, be illegal and of no force or effect, and the same would be the case if the ordinance was inconsistent with any State law.

Some of the provisions of this proposed ordinance, even if they would be valid, would operate as a hardship in many cases, would be difficult or impossible to enforce and would work injustice and be almost destructive in their operation. For instance, it would seem that under this ordinance if a ladder more than 8 ft. long were to be used by workmen repairing a cornice, or a chandelier in a room, it would be necessary to mutilate the ceiling and the floor in order that each end of the ladder might be secured.

Without pursuing the subject further, enough has been shown to indicate why I disapprove of the proposed ordinance.

P. F. M'GOWAN, Acting Mayor.

Architects at San Francisco.

In spite of all statements to the contrary, it is absolutely certain that Mayor Schmitz, soon after the fire, caused telegrams to be sent to the mayors of the principal cities of the United States urging them to send at once architects and draftsmen to San Francisco to help build up the new city. The consequence is that San Francisco is overrun with architects and draftsmen. Hundreds have gone there and hundreds more are going. A San Francisco letter says that architects are on the whole less busy than they were before the 18th of April.

"In fact, nearly all building operations of magnitude have stopped short just as completely as the machinery of a large plant does when the power gives out. All this frenzied talk of this man and that man starting skyscrapers next week is pure tommyrot. As to the fear lest the world's steel supply will give out in the vast undertakings of the immediate future, all we can say is that such an apprehension is as absurd as the rumor that reached Paris to the effect that 300,000 people of San Francisco were killed by the earthquake and that Chicago was twenty feet under the waters of Lake Michigan. Doubtless there will be plenty of work for architects in due time, and there will be enough architects here to attend to it. The evil of the mayor's ridiculous telegram is to the deluded men who come here rather than to the established ones already in the field. An influx of new professional blood would do us good, providing the men are of the right kind. Among the many arrivals from Eastern cities are several quite eminent names, and no doubt other quite eminent men without any name. Such men we are glad enough to welcome, but, failing employment, what are they to do? On the other hand, seeing that the architects come here by way of their respective City Halls—through the mayoralty, as it were—it is safe to assume that they are not all quite the kind that we need."

Plan New Route to Coney Island.

Extreme activity on the part of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. disclosed the fact that plans are being made for the operation of a new trolley line to Coney Island.

The proposed line will be especially advantageous to residents of Dyker Heights, Bath Beach and Bensonhurst, and also to those living in Borough Park, as the intention is to form a junction with the present line on 16th av.

So far as known the proposed route, beginning at Coney Island, is along Stillwell av to 79th st, through 79th st to 7th av, thence to 8th av, and from this point of intersection along 8th av to Prospect Park, where a connection will be established with other lines going downtown. At 16th av and 79th st a junction will be made with the 16th av line, which is to be extended from its present terminus at 58th st.

For some time rumors have been afloat that the B. R. T. was about to operate the franchise granted a number of years ago for a trolley line along 16th av to Benson av and thence through Stillwell av to Coney. The proximity of Benson av to 86th st, however, caused this plan to be abandoned, and the 16th av line was never extended beyond the Sea Beach tracks at 58th st. The rapid development of building operations, with the consequent increase in population, has since then made apparent the necessity of providing additional transit facilities, and the present road is planned as a provision for the future. Agents of the B. R. T. were in Dyker Heights last week to secure the consent of 79th st property owners, and are now approaching others whose land fronts on the line of the proposed road. The necessary formalities will probably be pushed without delay.

Values in Long Branch.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., July 12.—(Special).—The real estate market in Long Branch City, which includes North Long Branch, Branchport, Long Branch, West End, Hollywood and Elberon, has been very active for the past half year, owing to the many improvements that have been made to the beach front, such as the new board walk, and to the Casino, the widening of the Ocean Boulevard, and the concerts now given by the Government Carlisle Indian Band, they having altogether made an increased demand for desirable property. There are not more than fifty unrented cottages in the City of Long Branch this season. A considerable number of new cottages and business buildings are being erected, notably the elegant business building of Park & Tilford, on what was the rear site of the old West End Hotel, which was razed during the past few months. This new building and land, when completed, will cost about $30,000. The Hollywood Hotel & Cottage Company, which owns the tract between Tacanassa Lake and Park av, will improve its vast holdings by opening streets, building a bridge connecting Woodgate av, and by the erection of cottages. Mr. Jeremiah C. Lyons, the large New York builder, who owns the Hollywood Hotel and cottages north of the lake, will improve that site as far north as Cedar av by the widening of the lake and the erection of cottages and a garage. Values of cottage sites range from $40 to $125 per front foot. Business property is worth from $100 to $250 per front foot. The average cottage containing from 12 to 15 rooms rents for the summer season for 900 to $2,500, and sells from $11,000 to $30,000. The train service on the Jersey coast is the finest that can be had, there being about 84 trains from and to New York daily, and the running time of the Long Branch specials on the N. Y. & Long Branch Railroad is about 75 minutes. Jacob A. King, the New York real estate agent, who recently established a branch at West End, N. J., is credited with being the moving spirit in the improvements to be made.

One Way of Getting Rich.

At once the easiest and surest method of getting rich in a growing community that has been hit upon by the inquisitive instinct of man is that of securing possession of a piece of land, sitting down upon it, and watching it increase in value. The successful merchant must have a genius for anticipating the capricious tastes of the public and for organizing and directing his business so as to meet these tastes. The successful manufacturer must have a capacity for constantly devising improved and more economical methods of production or for utilizing the brains of those who can devise them. To get rich through investment in land—not speculation in land, understand but investments in it—what is chiefly needed is to "sit tight."

Some of the greater fortunes in the world have been created by this means. The duke of Westminster owes his enormous fortune mainly to it. London chose to extend itself over a tract acquired by his ancestors. It is now in the heart of the city and, of course, is immensely valuable. The Astor fortune chiefly consists of lands in New York City which were farms when the first John Jacob Astor, the founder of the family, bought them. Covered with great skyscrapers, the rents from them in a month far exceed its whole value a few generations ago.

Land may fluctuate in value as times alternately become good and bad, but unlike other sources of wealth it will not take unto itself wings and fly away, and experience shows that it almost invariably will be worth more at the end of a period of fluctuation than it was at its beginning. Improvements will add to its value, but in the long run its value usually will increase without them. What it is worth depends less upon what is done with it than upon what goes on around it—less upon the enterprise of its owner than upon the progress of society. Where society is in a progressive state, with industry expanding and population growing, the owner of land may get rich, though he never turn a furrow or build a shanty upon it. Of course, he must cultivate or rent or otherwise utilize his property to realize on his investment, but meantime, whether he does anything or nothing with it, the price for which he could sell it grows. Time is on his side and works for him with assiduous industry.

REAL ESTATE NOTES

The Board of Estimate will not meet again until Friday, September 14.

Charles F. Mehltrötter & Co., active real estate brokers and agents in the Tremont section of the Bronx, are now occupying large and pleasant offices at 967 Tremont av, near Crotona av.

Ashforth & Co., real estate brokers and appraisers, will remove on August 1 from 51 West 42d st to the Schmidt Building, 11 East 42d st, where they will occupy offices on the second floor front.

For bargains in Bronx lots, H. Goodman, of 130 Nassau st, offers three choice parcels, 25x100, situated at 140th st and Southern Boulevard, 80 ft. from southeast corner. They can be had at $3,000 per lot. Twenty-five per cent. cash, the balance on mortgage to suit.

The Local Board of Chester, 25th District, recommends to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment a widening of East 225th st, from Bronx Terrace or Bronx Boulevard, to Laconia av, from 50 ft to 100 ft, and an extension of Eastchester road, from Laconia av to East 225th st.

About three hundred protests have so far been received against the report of the commission in the condemnation proceedings for the Grand Boulevard and Concourse. Hearings are being held daily by the commissioners at the Bureau of Street Openings, 90 West Broadway.

Henry M. & Joel H. Ribeth, in conjunction with Sherman Buhre, sold for William J. Hyland to George Keller 40 lots facing Westchester Creek and Pelham av. The buyer intends to bulkhead the property on Westchester Creek and build docks for the benefit of shipping interest in that section. Westchester Creek flows into Long Island Sound.

Bronx citizens complain, and a local paper calls attention to the supposed fact, that the borough is suffering injury to its real estate interests through a seeming discrimination against it by the large holders of capital. There is said to be an evident unwillingness on the part of many banks and loan companies to take mortgages in the Bronx. Bronx representatives assert on the other hand that "nothing could be more solid and enduring than the values of real estate on the North Side." The symptoms complained of are general rather than local, but it is natural for the Bronx to consider its case exceptional.

President Haffen, of the Bronx, has written a letter to Martin Petry, secretary of the Heights Taxpayers' Association of the Bronx, which called the Borough President's attention to the alleged injustice of demanding an extra fare in order to be carried over the lines of a single company to or from any section of the city. In this letter Mr. Haffen says: "I beg to say that I am heartily in favor of the proposition that the payment of one fare should entitle the passenger to all transfers from the surface and subway roads in this borough, and will co-operate as far as possible with the people of the Bronx desiring to be accorded this privilege."

The Municipal Art Society, in conjunction with the West End Association, is making an effort to get Park Commissioner Hermann to improve the Parkway on upper Broadway, in the same manner as the sample block maintained by Mrs. Potter between 87th and 88th streets. Frank A. Houghton has charge for the West End Association, and Charles H. Israels, as Chairman of the Committee on Street Fixtures, is acting for the Municipal Art Society. The official gardeners have not treated the grass plots kindly at all, and weeds thrive in them and bare spots are numerous. In brief, this middle section of the city's main artery is unpleasant to look at, and it ought not to be left to citizens to point out such a blemish.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

AROUSING advance has characterized the stock market this week, much on the lines the Record and Guide has forecasted. In the opinion of many banking houses, however, the advance has gone far enough. This may be the case, but yet there are indications of stocks going still higher. Old operators in Wall Street have learned by experience that all great movements up or down may be divided into two periods. In the first period prices reach a point where the best agreement is that they shall not go any farther. Then they proceed to go a great deal farther. This they are likely to do now, and we probably have only seen the beginning of the rise. The resumption of dividends on United States Steel Common unquestionably has given a fillip to the market, if that were necessary. It came as a surprise, but is apparently amply justified by the large earnings of the company. Bullish sentiment has been greatly encouraged by it and inquiry among commission houses shows that outside buying has already begun, in strong contrast to the conditions that have prevailed for several months. It would seem as if good profits were to be found in the low-priced railroad issues. Colorado Southern has made a new high record, and others in the same class heretofore mentioned in these columns should logically do likewise. The prospect of bumper crops this year has now become an old story, but the iteration of the fact is nevertheless impressive. The Government July crop reports indicate that the corn crop will break all records, the acreage planted being the largest ever devoted to a single grain in any country. Wheat, much of which is already harvested, may go beyond the record by thirty million bushels. Corn, hay, wheat and oats, taking them at their gross value, may be estimated to be worth $2,750,000,000. Statistics and deductions from statistics are often misleading, but they are interesting nevertheless. Fifty-five years of American progress (1850-1905) have seen American wealth grow from 7 to 110 billions, or 1,600 per cent. increase, while the population has increased by only 250 per cent. In other words, the national wealth has increased eight times as fast as the population. Certainty of ease in the money market is undoubtedly a favorable factor in the general situation. Call money has loaned during the last month as high as six per cent. and as low as one and one-half per cent., the ruling rate at this writing being two per cent. Attention must be directed to the very successful sale by the Government of $30,000,000 2 per cent. 30 year Panama Canal bonds. It was admirably conducted by the Secretary of the Treasury, and the best possible prices secured, though national banks were not largely represented. Although the Russian situation is disquieting, it has so far not had any marked effect on the European bourses. From London it is learned that the instalment of 20 per cent. of the Russian loan due on Wednesday was fully covered without any hitch. It is pertinent to the money and exchange question to state that the United States exports to Europe alone in 1905 amounted to $1,021,000,000, having grown nearly $400,000,000 in the last ten years. Compared with figures for 1896, the imports during the fiscal year just ended show an increase of $447,000,000 and the exports an increase of $861,000,000. Such facts argue well for a continuation of the prosperity which the country now enjoys, and as Messrs. Fisk & Robinson say, “it also means the building up of still greater financial resources, which ultimately will seek investment in high-class securities.” It was Messrs. Fisk & Robinson who secured $15,000,000 of the Panama bonds, and are naturally in touch with the financial conditions. With an advancing stock market and the prospects of a continuance of easy money, it is highly probable that at the opening of fall business and the increase of activity in real estate transactions, there will be less difficulty for builders and operators in obtaining loans.

DECIDEDLY more animation characterized the real estate market this week than has been observed for a month, and the sales comprised a very good variety of properties, though not of marked significance in any individual case. The business of the week was at least normal for midsummer, and is a very strong indication that September will see the beginning of another long era of activity. As to the monetary phase of the question, there is nothing in the condition of the mortgage market to be wondered at. The total amount of money loaned during the last eighteen months in the County of New York has been enormous, and much greater than during the preceding period. This has been the case in spite of very disturbing tax legislation. The average amount of money loaned for each week for the last three has been at the rate of over $600,000,000 a year. When allowance is made for the recording of new mortgages to take up old ones, the total is still surprising. And there are other reasons which are more general for the high rates of interest at the present time. The better feeling is also evidenced in the building line and in the stronger demand for material, with higher quotations for common brick. Dealers in building materials agree that the slump is only natural and usual in brick building at this period, but seems more pronounced because of the long period of high prices preceding. The brick market on Wednesday was quite clear of material and shippers up the river were reported to be holding their cargoes for a minimum of $6.25 per M. It may be remarked that other building materials have maintained values at the highest levels of the summer, in spite of the bear movement, which indicates that building operations generally continue in strong force.

PHILANTHROPISTS and would-be philanthropists have long sought to establish hotels or lodging houses for women who work in stores, offices or factories, and whose income is necessarily small. What is now known as the Park Avenue Hotel on Fourth avenue was originally built by the late Alexander T. Stewart, the dry goods millionaire, with such an end in view. But the management was inefficient, and the restrictions were so severe that the enterprise proved a failure, and the Stewart heirs turned the structure into a regular hotel. This was over twenty-five years ago. There is still a crying need for such establishments, and so we now have the “Trowmart Inn,” a seven-story hotel in Abingdon square, built for working girls, which will open its doors in a few days. The hotel possesses many original features, and is an imposing and substantial structure. Mr. W. R. H. Martin, who built it, says: “I put up this building because I did not want to make the mistake of many well-meaning persons, who leave such enterprises for executors and legatees, who may or may not be in sympathy with the plan. It is said that the structure is not an investment, and that Mr. Martin does not expect any return from the property, but that it is to be made self-supporting. When this is the case it is to be turned over to a board of trustees. There are some four hundred rooms, many bath-rooms, and on the ground floor, parlors, a library, reading and recreation rooms. The terms will be very moderate to begin with, and if feasible will be reduced to a lower figure to a point where the income and outlay will be equal. Provision is to be made for some sort of social life for the Trowmart Inn’s patrons and for the entertainment of visitors. There are to be no unnecessary restrictions, and if Mr. Martin can carry out his beneficent plans in conducting the establishment it should prove a boon to working girls in having a home in a great up-to-date structure with all sanitary improvements, good and cheap food, and amid desirable surroundings.

SINCE the bids were opened for the last sale of New York City bonds many good reasons have been offered to explain the failure of the sale, and these several reasons agree substantially with one another. The low price at which the city was obliged to sell its securities was due chiefly to the fact that more of them have been offered for sale recently than the market could take. The city has been borrowing enormous amounts of money during the past five years, and practically throughout the whole of this period business has been active and money was in lively demand. The consequence has been that the bond-brokers have been loading up with city securities which they could not easily sell, and each successive issue has been bought at a lower price, until now the city is obliged to pay practically four per cent. for its money. The credit of New York ought to be quite as good as it was ten years ago, when the corporation was not obliged to pay even three per cent. for its money, because in the mean time the assets of the city and its taxable resources have been increasing even faster than its obligations; but such is not the case, for the reasons outlined above. The condition will most assuredly rectify itself in time, but the serious question is, whether its credit will be restored at a sufficiently early date. The existing demand for money in general business will last in all probability at least for another year, and during this period New York will have to borrow a great many million dollars. Will the city be able to raise this money under existing laws? It cannot sell its bonds for less than par or raise the interest rate to more than four per cent.; and in view of the recent sale the day may come when a bond issued by the City of New York bearing four per cent. interest cannot be sold at par. Obviously the situation is a serious one, and demands careful management on the part of New York's financial officials. Before any more bonds are issued, they must receive some assurance in advance that the issue will not be a failure. Furthermore, the city ought to have the power to issue notes running for several years and carrying more than four per cent. interest. These notes would be different from revenue bonds, for they would simply be temporary issues, to be paid for by the proceeds of long-term bonds sold at a later date, and under happier conditions. Apparently the improvements demanded by the future of the city cannot be financed in the near future unless officials have the power to issue notes of this character.

The Means of National Success.

NOT so many years ago, when the expansive power of England appeared to be irresistible, a Frenchman published a book in which he sought to analyze what he believed to be the sources of Anglo-Saxon superiority, and after much appearance of discussion he traced England's success to the free expression of individual energy characteristic of Anglo-Saxon methods. This explanation was naturally very popular in Great Britain, and a large number of articles were published, in which Englishmen congratulated themselves on the admirable achievements of their race. There followed, however, a number of years in which Anglo-Saxon superiority was not so manifest. The display which England made of her military prowess during the Boer war was not of a nature calculated to tickle Anglo-Saxon vanity, and during the first five years of the new century it has been apparent that England was being out-distanced in international industrial competition, both by Germany and the United States. Various explanations were advanced by Englishmen for this apparent failure to maintain their superiority, and the suspicion that the national policy of their country was not as necessarily successful as it might be has undoubtedly been responsible for the attempt made by Mr. Joseph Chamberlain to substitute a certain amount of protection for the traditional English fiscal policy. But it cannot be said that the discussion provoked by the knowledge that England was being in some respects outdistanced in the race for industrial success has resulted in any practical measures of reformation.

Recently another book has been published, which bears an interesting relation to the earlier French analysis of Anglo-Saxon superiority. This book is written by a Mr. Eltzbacher, an English citizen of German descent; and his conclusions are just the opposite of those reached by his French predecessor. In this book, which is entitled "Modern Germany," Mr. Eltzbacher attempts to show that England is being beaten by Germany just because of an excessive dependence by England upon individual activity. The average Englishman, according to this explanation, is energetic, but unintelligent; and as he has insisted upon having his own way, and upon being let alone by his government, he has neglected certain things which are indispensable to industrial success under contemporary conditions. He has neglected the advantages of special training, scientific knowledge, and the disciplined, carefully regulated effort on the part of many individuals towards an important national purpose. Germany has been obtaining a greater measure of success because the individual energy of her citizens has been more wisely directed. She has not depended upon vigorous, but frequently misguided individual effort, but she has depended upon the value of efficient national organization, upon scientific training, and upon the authoritative regulation by the government of German industrial and commercial activity. All the advances made by the Prussian Kingdom and the German Empire have, according to Mr. Eltzbacher, been due to efficient and far-sighted management on the part of the State. Her national unity was effected by wise leadership, and now her increasing industrial supremacy must be traced to precisely the same cause. She started in the race handicapped in every way. She was deficient in natural resources, in accumulated capital, in the habit of industrial production, and in convenient harbors for international commerce; yet in spite of all these drawbacks her resources have been so wisely managed that she is gaining steadily on England, and is in many respects advancing more rapidly than the United States. Her whole economic system is based upon the leadership of the State, and upon the application of scientific methods to industrial problems.

Whether Mr. Eltzbacher's analysis of the causes of Germany's success is entirely correct we shall not pretend to say; but the industrial and commercial expansion of modern Germany is certainly a hard nut for economists of the old school to crack. It was their theory that State interference with the natural course of business was doomed to failure, because such interference was nearly always both unwise and ineffective. Commercial and industrial success depended absolutely upon non-interference with the natural course of business. Herbert Spencer went so far as to develop this policy of "laissez-faire" into an absolute political theory. States were divided into the military and the industrial classes. The military state depended for its springs of action upon what he called regimentation, that is, upon the strict classification of individuals and upon the assignment to each of his proper work. In such a state individual initiative counted for little, and the majority of the people worked simply according to orders. It was absolutely controlled by the principle of authority, and it resulted in political and industrial stagnation. Opposed to this was the industrial state, in which the competition between individuals was allowed the freest possible play, in which the state interfered only to preserve order and in which every particle of the whole fabric was supposed to be endowed with the utmost energy and momentum. Whatever truth there was in this theory, it certainly fails to explain Germany's success. Germany is a military empire, and its industry and commerce are handicapped by a tremendous diversion of energy and capital for merely military purposes. Yet in spite of its military organization, it has certainly afforded an example of singular industrial ability and extraordinary industrial success; and if the two types of states were as radically opposed as Mr. Herbert Spencer believed, it would not have been possible for a people who are so completely regulated as the Germans are by their official superiors to have exhibited so much industrial and commercial efficiency. Evidently there is something to be said in favor of Mr. Eltzbacher's contention that unregulated individual activity is wasteful, and that a nation cannot reach its greatest industrial efficiency without wise governmental direction and capable leadership.

The Central Park West Section.

The improving of property in central sections is a work which American cities have been called upon to undertake within a comparatively recent period. Nearly all the work henceforth to be undertaken on Manhattan Island must partake of the character of central improvements. It has to do with the very heart of the most valuable holdings. However large in themselves, these areas bear but a small proportion to the area of the territory which pays tribute to them, but this relation is positive and vital and must exist, or central property would have no more value than suburban property. Values for real estate on Manhattan Island over most of its extent, but particularly in the middle latitudes south of 110th st, bear such a relation to the values in other sections and other boroughs of the great city and the territories beyond that all improvements to lands, even sites never actually occupied except by the traditional farmer and squatter, must be considered as central improvements; and the business of improving such valuable real estate in a way to meet the requirements of the present and anticipate the future is one that requires the highest talents in the real estate and building world.

It is a business for men of large means as well as of large grasp of affairs, and while not so absorbing for the masses as the less expensive operations of the suburbs, it is the line of work to which Manhattan operators must devote themselves more and more in the future. Millions are necessary for carrying out plans now where thousands would have sufficed years ago. Under such circumstances they necessarily must interest as principals a fewer number of men except as members of investing or building corporations and syndicates. Speculative operations by individual builders must in the nature of things become fewer with the advancing years and the ascending prices, if it is a true saying that Manhattan values must always ascend, and corporations, both as investors and builders, must replace them. Men are still engaged in this improving work who grew up financially with the times from nothing, but who will be financially able to start where they leave off and handle the still larger quantities that central improvements of the future will require?

For example, what cyclopean mechanics and financiers will rebuild Central Park West when all its sites are occupied as they soon must be if the present rate of improvement continues much longer? Famous as a thoroughfare of fine apartment houses, Central Park West is seeing in the present more improving work than at any period in its history since the movement attending the building of the elevated railroad. The great demand for apartments in handsome and central sections has afforded an opportunity to improve a large number of sites, necessarily with costly structures. The opportunity was emphasized by the opening of the subway last year, and by the pressure of demand resulting from the tenement house legislation and the building trade war of 1903. The apartment house situation on the upper West Side was never in more desirable form; houses were never occupied to better advantage, the percentage of vacancies never less, by the testimony of leading brokers. The inquiry for private houses has also been a notable factor for fully a year, and has increased sufficiently to indicate a distinct market tendency, and builders are preparing to meet a more expensive taste on the part of homeseekers. The combination of apartment house building on Central Park West together with the high-class residential construction in the lateral streets constitutes a building movement of a quality if not of a size surpassing any similar movement in the same section in recent years.

Typical of the dwelling house construction is a row of fifteen which Mr. James Carlew is rearing in 85th st, on the north side, an operation requiring a total investment of nearly a million and a quarter. Two have been finished and sold for prices reported to be in their neighborhood of $75,000. The operations which Mr. Carlew has carried through on the West Side, extending over a period of many years continuously, has put him in the forefront of New York builders. The fifteen buildings in 85th st are similar to the row which Mr. Carlew erected a year or more ago in 77th st, facing the Museum of Natural History. These latter are built of limestone and limestone and brick. The vestibules occupy the full width, and are of marble. Each house has an electric elevator. Billiard rooms, parquet floors, parlors and music rooms in white enamel and gold, are attractive features. The dining-rooms are wainscoted to a height of 6 ft., with beamed ceiling of red mahogany. A separate servants' staircase runs from cellar to roof, and each house has a 5-sty extension. W. W. & T. M. Hall are finishing in 86th st the last of a row of 5-sty dwellings, of the American basement type, similar to the row of five which the same firm erected in West 73d st, and which sold for $72,500 each. Within the scope of the present movement in the Central Park West section is the very exceptional row of eighteen dwellings erected by the Clark estate in the south side of 74th st. As they were erected for rental and not for sale, they constituted a rather unusual operation for the West Side, taking into account their high cost. The principal rooms are in mahogany, rosewood and oak, with open fireplaces in the bedrooms. Kitchens have parquet floors, French ranges and gas ranges, ovens and broilers. Cook pantries have Lorillard glass-lined storage refrigerators, butlers' pantries have wine refrigerators of the same make, silver safes and steam heated plate warmers. Servants' bed and bathrooms occupy the entire top floor. The rents are $5,000, $5,500 and $6,000. Each house cost to build a little over $100,000, exclusive of the value of the land, so that the outlay by the Clark estate on the operation is approximately $2,000,000. Another interesting feature in the private house situation on the upper West Side is the demand for remodelled dwellings. This is a sort of improvement which appeals to many owners, and answers the requirement for "central" improvements, as its effect is to virtually produce a modern dwelling capable of being rented at a figure in accordance with the real value of the property. A house so made over recently sold for $60,000. The entrance is ornamental, with large plate glass doors. The floors throughout were relaid in parquetry, the mural coverings replaced by silk and tapestry hangings in effective designs; bathrooms, of which there are three, were tiled and otherwise elegantly equipped and fitted.

Central Park West monopolizes for the time being all the apartment house construction going on in the territory under consideration. At the south corner of 65th st the "Prasada," a house of 12 stories, is expected to be ready for the fall renting. It is intended for housekeeping rather than for boarding, and gives from nine to twelve rooms to each apartment, with three apartments on a floor. Rentals will range from $2,400 to $2,600 a year. As some Central Park West rentals mount well into the thousands per year, this schedule is not considered more than an average one. Some of the apartments in the "Langham," a 13-sty house occupying the block between 73d and 74th sts, are rated at $6,000 annually. Twelve-room apartments in the best part of the street bring about $5,000 each a year, and apartments range in size from seven to twelve rooms. Rentals of apartments in Central Park West are not figured on a basis of so much a room. Their value is determined by their finish, their layout and the size of the rooms. In some cases a ten-room apartment brings as much rent as a twelve-room apartment and a seven-room as much as a nine-room apartment. During the last two years there has been an increase of about twenty per cent. in the rental power of Central Park West apartments.

On the north corner of 70th st, a 12-sty house is rising, this for the Valima Realty Co., of 52 Broadway, from plans of Robert T. Lyons. The ground dimensions of this building are 150x90.6, and the estimated cost, exclusive of the land, is $800,000. On the south corner of 86th st the Gotham Building and Construction Company is erecting a 12-sty apartment that will cost $950,000, exclusive of the land, from plans of Milliken & Moeller. Excavating has commenced for another elevator apartment house on the north corner of 85th st.

On the south corner of 89th st the "Urban" apartment house, 125x140, costing $800,000, not including equipment and site, was finished this year for Peter Banner, from plans of Robert T. Lyons. It is not the largest, but is a typical house for Central Park West. The basement contains private storerooms for the use of tenants, the superintendent's quarters, the machinery and apparatus for heating, lighting, refrigeration and power, and the system of drainage is that which is used in modern high-class hospitals. All water is filtered before being used. There are four apartments on each floor of twelve rooms each, these suites renting for from $3,000 to $4,500 per annum. The apartments are so arranged that all of the living rooms, bathrooms and bedrooms open directly to the outer air. The servants' rooms, kitchens and pantries are isolated from the apartments proper, and all household supplies are brought directly from the basement to the several kitchen service hallways by a separate electric freight elevator system. The living rooms and reception halls of each apartment are also entirely separated from the bedrooms, bathrooms and private halls. The rooms and halls of the apartments are all finished with parquet flooring, hardwood trim and with specially designed hardware, lighting fixtures, mantels and radiators. The dining-rooms are trimmed in quartered oak with paneled walls and beamed ceilings; the parlors and libraries in mahogany, and the bedrooms and bathrooms in white enamel. The main bedroom in each apartment is provided with a heavy safe, built into the brickwork and having only the dial exposed. All the bedrooms, bathrooms and dressing rooms have the doors fitted with full size plate glass mirrors. The bathrooms are large and sumptuous, the walls lined with glazed tile and the floors paved with vitrified tile having artistic borders. The tub, lavatory and closet are of solid porcelain ware of handsome design. In the kitchen of each apartment is a large tile lined refrigerator box, containing in the upper part the cooling coils, which connect direct with the large ice plant in the basement. It is possible for the tenants to make, at any time, their own ice by simply placing in the freezing chamber a can filled with water.

On the block next south of the Museum the classic edifice of the Historical Society is in course of erection, and at 100th st the Red Cross Hospital. In the past three years construction jobs have been unusually numerous, but now the movement seems to be at its height. At the Jones sale in February, 1889, the lots between 74th and 75th sts, fronting on Central Park West, sold for an aggregate of $149,550. The north corner of 74th, 25.8x100 (as the land was then divided) was bought by Judge Dugro for $28,000, the south corner of 75th st, 25.8x100, by V. K. Stevenson, for $25,100. Oppenheimer & Metzger paid $48,450 for 76 ft. and $32,800 for 51 ft. In the seventeen years values have nearly trebled. In 1847 a single corner lot at the corner of 65th st and Central Park West was valued at $400; in 1857 at $5,000, and in 1868 at $12,000.

Conditions in the Bronx.

Though October is yet two months away, agents are in the midst of their renting arrangements for another year. The season's business seems to be coming on fully as early as last year. In old New York conditions are as highly satisfactory to owners as last year. While rents are not being raised on old tenants, advantage is being taken of the opportunities afforded by removals to advance rates, especially for the upper West Side houses. On Washington Heights there are some vacancies, and from some sections of the Bronx reports of over-production of houses and a lowering of rents have come.

Regarding particularly the Tremont section of the Bronx, Mr. Mehlretter, of 967 Tremont av, was interrogated yesterday with reference to any relaxation of rentals in that section, or the evidence of any slump either in rentals or values.

"Rather than a relaxation in rentals, there was a decided demand for apartments of a modern character," said Mr. Mehlretter. "There is a very active demand for five and six rooms, with bath, where the rents average around from 20 to 28 dollars, and to show as a few examples of how some recent buildings were filled up, take the McNulty Building, a 5-sty apartment at 179th st and Arthur av. This building has twenty apartments; they average from $23 to $25. The entire building was rented in less than a month after completion.

Then the building which Mr. Bejorgen put up at Oak Tree pl and Arthur av, seven rooms with bath, at an average of $30. This house is just getting ready for rentals and beginning to fill up. The building constructed by Waters & Connell, corner 175th st and Crotona av, is all rented. Those built by the Crown Realty Co. in Fairmount pl, between Crotona and Clinton avs, and just completed, are half rented.

"These apartments are very much in demand and go to show that there are more demands for rooms than there are vacancies, although there will be some more buildings ready shortly, as Mr. Giordano is constructing three 5-sty buildings on the southwest corner of 180th st and Prospect av. The Hensol Powell Realty Co. have just finished up their new building at 187th st and Prospect av, where the rents range from $23 to $27, and where they rented quite a number of apartments before they were ready for occupancy.

"Sergeant Egan is putting up two large high-classed apartments in Elsmere pl, near Marmion av. Mr. Benerson is building a 4-sty building, two families on a floor, up in Oakland pl, which will rent from about $20 and up. We have now on our list the names of enough tenants to fill these buildings up as soon as ready. If the builders would only realize or dream of the demand for vacancies here, they would hustle up and give us some buildings.

"In reference to 2-family houses, the demand is steadily increasing, with nothing building to supply this demand. The 2-family house is selling at a higher price than ever before. The increase in price has been steady within the last two years. As soon as there is any desirable property on the market, it is generally snapped up in short order."

"Do you notice any improvement in the building-money market?"

"Well, money for building purposes is pretty tight. We have the hardest time to get our mortgages placed just now, and builders are hindered to quite some extent, but judging from the outlook this will be remedied before very long.

"In this section there is no danger of an over-production of houses either of the apartment class or of the 2-family class. The trouble is rather the other way; we haven't enough. The big mistake, as I have said before in previous interviews, is that the builders in most cases forget the middle-class man and put up buildings for which they must ask too high a rental, and from this cause the trouble in renting some of the lower sections of the Bronx arises, but I can safely state that there is no difficulty whatever in renting where the builder had an eye for the middle-class man.

"To prove that there has been a tendency toward activity rather than the opposite, we ourselves have been forced to take larger offices where we can handle our business more easily, and so as to be better located and more accessible to our clients."

Mr. Edward Polak, of 174th st and 3d av, remarked:

"There does not seem to be any relaxation of rentals. Flats are well filled. However, it would be wise for awhile, even in this section, to stop building flats until they are filled in all sections.

"Values are steady as yet, but, where building operations diminish, as they soon will, lots fit for flats will have to be held in strong hands to maintain present prices. Flats may suffer likewise, but not to such an extent as vacant land. It will only be temporary, however, as population increases so rapidly in Greater New York that vacancies will soon disappear.

"There are some vacancies, but not more than can be filled in a reasonable time. I do not think there is a real over-production of houses. But I do think it necessary for builders to be cautious and not to undertake too many building operations.

"I do not notice an improvement in the building-money market. It is a mistake to tighten the money market too quickly. New York real estate represents good security, and there is absolutely no danger to capital if judiciously loaned in New York real estate."

Third Tracking of the Third Avenue Elevated.

In a letter which Mr. Lawrence Veiller has written, under date of August 2, in behalf of the trustees of the City Club, to the Hon. John J. Delany, Corporation Counsel, urging prompt action in bringing before the courts the matter of third-tracking the elevated road on 3d av, in order to test the right of this railway to maintain and operate this third track, he states the position and views of the City Club in these terms:

"As early as January 22, 1906—over six months ago—the City Club called to the attention of Mayor McClellan the fact that at that time the Interborough Railroad Company, without the consent of the local authorities and in your opinion rendered to the Mayor, without having a franchise, was deliberately constructing an additional third track at various points on the Third Avenue Elevated line; we submitted with that communication affidavits and photographs showing this construction, and called upon Mayor McClellan to stop this work. Nothing, however, was done; and the Interborough Company was permitted, so far as the city authorities were concerned, to continue this construction without interruption. On March 22, 1906, this work still going on, we again called Mayor McClellan's attention to this matter and requested to be informed what action had been taken by the city authorities. We were then advised by the assistant secretary to the Mayor that the matter was in the hands of the Corporation Counsel and accordingly, under date of March 30, I addressed you a communication reciting the facts and asking you what action had been taken; notwithstanding this letter, nothing was done. On May 23, 1906, the Interborough Company had completed all its work as far south as 42d st, and proceeded to run express trains on its third track to that point. Again, on that very day, a further communication was addressed to Mayor McClellan reciting the facts, advising him of the operation of these trains on this track, and asking him to act. Under date of June 12, 1906, you advised the Mayor that 'You had considered the whole question involved with care and had reached the conclusion that it was extremely doubtful that either on the ground advanced by counsel to the company or on any other ground the New York Elevated Railroad Company or its successor, ever had a franchise to operate a third track on this structure, or if it may be contended that it had, its franchise has been lost and forfeited, so that the Interborough Rapid Transit Company has no right whatever to operate a third track on the Third Avenue Elevated structure.'

"In this opinion you stated that court proceedings would be greatly facilitated if the Rapid Transit Commission would take final action upon an application for a franchise for this additional third track which the Interborough Company had made on May 31, 1905, but on which the commission had not taken final action. In accordance with this suggestion, the Rapid Transit Commission on June 28, 1906, definitely denied this application. It was immediately thereafter announced in the newspapers as follows: (Evening Post, June 30, 1906.)

"A complaint will be filed in Part I. of the Supreme Court on Monday by the corporation counsel's office against the Interborough Rapid Transit Company because of its effort to build and operate a third track on its Third Avenue Elevated line. At the same time, the city will ask that, pending the determination of the case, two injunctions be granted, one preventing the Interborough from operating the third track, the other preventing it from maintaining it. This second order, if granted, would compel the removal of the track. The action of the legal department follows closely the unanimous decision of the Rapid Transit Commission against this project two days ago. At that time Acting Mayor McGowan announced that he would have the Corporation Counsel take action to compel the removal of the tracks.'

"Upon inquiry at your office, we find, notwithstanding your announced intention as stated on June 30, that now, a month later, no action whatsoever has been brought on behalf of the city against the Interborough Company in this matter, and the Interborough Company is still allowed to continue its unlawful operation of this third track.

"To sum up: Over a year ago a powerful street railroad corporation applies to the local authorities—the Rapid Transit Commission—for a franchise for a third track on one of their elevated roads. The franchise is not granted. This railroad corporation then, through the ensuing six months, proceeds to take by force that to which, in your opinion, it had no legal right; a body of private citizens finds it necessary to call this situation to the attention of the duly constituted authorities whose function it is, under the provisions of the charter, to prevent such occurrences from taking place; two months later, nothing has been done, and these citizens call this matter again to the attention of the proper authorities, but still nothing is done. Finally, the railroad corporation finishes its construction and begins to operate trains. The matter is again brought to the attention of the proper authorities and nearly one month later, an opinion is rendered, that the railroad company has no rights whatsoever in the matter; two weeks later the Rapid Transit Commission formally and officially denies the application of this railroad company for this franchise. It is then announced by the Acting Mayor and by the Corporation Counsel that legal proceedings will be brought two days later by the Corporation Counsel to stop the unlawful operation of these trains and to compel the removal of the third track. To-day, one month after this declared intention on the part of the Corporation Counsel nothing has been done and the railroad corporation is still operating its trains without let or hindrance from the city authorities."

Amendments to the ordinances of garage regulations were recommended by the Municipal Explosives Commission on Wednesday to Acting Mayor McGowan. The chief features of the proposed amendments are the requirements of a pump house for the handling of inflammable liquid and storing the safety cans; that a cement floor be provided, and also heavy galvanized iron drip pans, with improved iron ventilating pipe. A copy of garage regulations, published January 1, 1906, of the City of New York, can be obtained from the Bureau of Combustibles, Fire Department, 157-159 East 67th st. George E. Murray is inspector.

Lands for the Memorial Viaduct.

The Corporation Counsel's office has commenced proceedings to acquire lands which are required for the Henry Hudson Memorial Viaduct.

The property which the Department of Bridges desires for this bridge consists of a strip 300 ft. in width and comprising one parcel lying in the Borough of Manhattan and immediately south of the Harlem River, with a length of about 1,100 ft., and of four parcels lying in the Borough of the Bronx, extending from the Harlem River northwardly to a point about 80 ft. north of the northerly side of West 227th st. The acquisition of a strip 300 ft. wide is a very wise precaution, as it will prevent the disfigurement of the dignified bridge which it is proposed to erect by unsightly structures in close proximity to it. If an object lesson were needed of the unfortunate results of the building of structures alongside of such a bridge, it could be found in the viaduct by which the Riverside Drive is carried across Manhattan Valley, immediately adjoining which, and so near that it can be reached by those passing along the sidewalk, has been built an enormous gas receiver, which detracts greatly from the appearance and dignity of this bridge.

The Bridge Commissioner has furnished technical descriptions for each of the five parcels required, but he does not give the assessed value of any of them. This value it is exceedingly difficult to obtain, as the property divisions in no case agree with the lines fixed, but as nearly as can be estimated, they are as follows:

Parcel No. 1—Borough of the Bronx.....	$47,000.00
Parcel No. 2—Borough of the Bronx.....	22,000.00
Parcel No. 3—Borough of the Bronx.....	5,000.00
Parcel No. 4—Borough of the Bronx.....	23,000.00
Parcel No. 5—Borough of Manhattan.....	65,000.00

Personal.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, the Society of Beaux Arts Architects and the Architectural League of New York, resolutions expressing a great loss in the death of Stanford White were adopted. The secretary was instructed to send a copy of the resolution to Mrs. Stanford White and Messrs. McKim, Mead & White.

Charles Addison Bragg, District Office Manager of the Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co., Philadelphia, Pa., died at that place on Sunday, July 29, after an illness of over two months' duration. Mr. Bragg was one of the pioneers in the electrical business, he having been associated with the United States Electric Lighting Co. as early as 1882. His connection with the Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co. began in the year 1889, when he was made the manager of the Philadelphia office, which position he filled successfully up to the time of his death. Mr. Bragg possessed a most genial disposition, which endeared him to all with whom he came in contact. He was born and reared in Franklin County, Mo. Following his early education, he attended Yale College, from which he was graduated. He was 56 years old. Mr. Bragg is survived by his wife and one daughter.

ERNEST STURM,

(Seal) Notary Public, Kings County, New York.

(Certificate filed in New York County, N. Y.)

All records for quick construction were broken, it is said, by the Thompson-Starrett Co., of New York, in the construction of the great mercantile plant for Sears, Roebuck & Co., of Chicago, and a bonus of $75,000 was given the builders. There are six buildings, occupying a good part of a site a half mile long by 700 ft. wide, with a total floor area of fifty acres. Seven thousand building mechanics were employed at one time on the group of structures. The buildings are remarkable for their architectural elegance. In the centre of the plant a whole city block has been laid off in an Italian garden.

REAL ESTATE NOTES

A remarkable real estate sale was made at auction on Friday, August 3d, by James L. Wells, Nos. 14-16 Vesey st, to the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., of the following parcels of land on 33d st, south side, 530 ft. west of 8th av, 0.4x98.9, and 8th av, west side, 98.9 ft. north of 31st st, 0.1x100 ft. The total price paid was $3,900.

"This is a sleeping market," said a broker, "and I look for it to wake up about September 1. There has been a good demand for low-priced properties all the year, but even that is now feeling the effect of summer dullness. There is comparatively little centrally located business property in the market and the prices are holding up well on that class, although the transactions are not numerous just now. Perhaps the most peculiar recent development in the market is the great demand for loans on real estate."

East 149th st now crosses the tracks of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Co. immediately west of Park av by a bridge 90 ft. in length; for the remaining distance, some 200 ft., between the bridge and Spencer pl the property on both sides of the street is owned by the railroad company, and in the improvement and adjustment of its yard and terminal facilities it is desirous of utilizing this space, and it is proposed to erect a new bridge which will be about 293 ft. in length, spanning the entire distance between Spencer pl and Park av. This bridge will have a grade which is practically uniform, a portion of it being at the rate of 1.5 per cent, and the remainder at the rate of 1.435 per cent. The cost of this bridge is to be borne by the railroad company, and this company being the abutting owner on both sides, there can be no possible claim for damage on the part of any other owner. The improvement is about to be made.

When the members of the Board of Estimate meet again, which will not be until September, there will be laid before the body a definite plan, with an accompanying agreement on the part of the railroads concerned, for either an elevated or underground loop to connect the Brooklyn and Williamsburgh bridges. Engineers of the B. R. T. and the Interborough are to investigate and report on details. The B. R. T. is willing to run its cars over the loop, and it is understood that the two transit companies are willing to defray the cost of a superimposed structure on the elevated road in Park row and the Bowery. It would seem that the matter is being brought gradually to a definite proposition by a very evident necessity for some kind of a connection, either above or below ground. Whoever will consider must conclude that Brooklyn, a great city, with only one really accessible door of entrance, is left in a cruel and unreasonable position.

One effect of the unexampled trading in apartments and dwelling houses for the two or three years now past has been quite serious to the old established agencies. Agents who have had the management of particular houses and estates for a long period of years have suddenly had to see the supervision of them given into other hands owing to changes of ownership, and they have had to canvass for clients as keenly as if they were starting in business all over again. Some old managers have found themselves as the result of the great shifting of titles with comparatively few properties left to manage, and are deliberating whether it is worth while in their case to start in and build up anew. Said one veteran: "I have determined to sell out what I have here and retire. I have lost much of my business through the tremendous shifting of the past few years. In a very large degree property in this territory has been sold into the hands of individual owners, for the most part ambitious men coming up from nothing, and who are taking care of their own collections and repairs. It has been difficult to keep track of all the changes in ownership and follow them up, and as I am not required to do this by financial necessity, I am willing to give a more needy man a chance. In the old days ownership was much more settled than it has been of late, and conditions were much more comfortable for those who made a specialty of managing estates. The broker is in the lucrative field under present conditions with the managers of office and business property as second choice."

Street Planning on the Heights.

A project for the opening of new streets in the Fort Washington section is still held in abeyance through inability of the interested parties to agree on a plan. A resolution which was passed by the Local Board provides for the laying out of West 173d, West 174th and West 175th sts, from Fort Washington av to a proposed extension of Haven av, and an extension of Haven av, from its present terminus north of West 171st st to West 177th st, and also for a change in the lines of Buena Vista av.

This action of the Local Board is the result of a petition by Nettie F. McCormick, asking for the extension of Haven av and for the laying out of West 172d and West 173d sts. The plan which is submitted complies with the petition as to the extension of Haven av, but instead of extending West 172d and West 173d sts, the plan shows three new streets, known as West 173d, West 174th and West 175th sts. Of these three streets, the last named is an extension of West 175th st, as now laid out east of Fort Washington av. The other two streets, however, are not extensions of any existing streets, and are so located as to destroy several large buildings; in fact, the plan, as submitted, appears as though it had been designed to take wholly or in part every building which it is possible to reach. Of the five streets covered by the plan, only one, namely, the direct extension of West 175th st, fails to destroy some substantial building. On Chief Engineer Lewis's recommendation, the Borough President has been asked to report another plan, one that will avoid the taking of buildings.

Record and Guide Quarterly

The annual number of the Record and Guide Quarterly contains all the legal records for the past year concerning real estate and projected buildings, arranged alphabetically and numerically, with invaluable annotations. These are supplemented by tables of important transactions, with typical prices, covering the past quarter of a century or more, accompanied by expert comments; also by a list of realty corporations created during the past two years, with officers and the enterprises in which they are engaged. The whole makes a volume of reference which no real estate man can afford to be without. It should be on every desk and in every library. Its cost is as nothing compared to its value as a time-saver. This important work can be obtained, with three quarterly numbers, for the comparatively small sum of $20. It is published by the Record and Guide, at Nos. 14 and 16 Vesey St., where interested parties may see it and have its uses explained to them. If you cannot call, drop a postal card to the Publisher, or call him up on telephone, 3157 Cortlandt.

Record and Guide Quarterly

The annual number of the Record and Guide Quarterly contains all the legal records for the past year concerning real estate and projected buildings, arranged alphabetically and numerically, with invaluable annotations. These are supplemented by tables of important transactions, with typical prices, covering the past quarter of a century or more, accompanied by expert comments; also by a list of realty corporations created during the past two years, with officers and the enterprises in which they are engaged. The whole makes a volume of reference which no real estate man can afford to be without. It should be on every desk and in every library. Its cost is as nothing compared to its value as a time-saver. This important work can be obtained, with three quarterly numbers, for the comparatively small sum of $20. It is published by the Record and Guide, at Nos. 14 and 16 Vesey St., where interested parties may see it and have its uses explained to them. If you cannot call, drop a postal card to the Publisher, or call him up on telephone, 3157 Cortlandt.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

THERE is not much to be said of the stock market this week, beyond the conclusions reached and commented upon in these columns for two weeks past. There is no extended speculation, except what is going on in half a dozen stocks, such as the Harriman issues, Pennsylvania, Reading and Amalgamated Copper. Outside of these issues, the market is dull and lifeless, but with a very strong undertone. For the want of a better reason for the abstention of the public, politics is the commonly assigned cause of the dullness and inertia. Of course, money at this season of the year is always a bugaboo, and the recollection of rates ranging from fifty to one hundred per cent. last November and December is still too fresh in the minds of people who were the victims of these exacting rates not to act as a deterrent against running in debt just at this time. A section of the banking interest is inclined to hope that Secretary Shaw's plans for preventing such another disgraceful exhibition of inordinate rates at this center will be successful, but until the money situation is clearer the bulls may have uphill work, and their present successful operations may be due to a larger short interest than was supposed. This short interest may remain uncovered pending the development of the autumn money conditions, in which case, if money should not become stringent, the removal of fear from the bulls and the necessities of the bears coming together might result in a startling advance in prices, particularly for those issues which have been selected for short sales. The buying of Pennsylvania this week for the first time in a long period has been both aggressive and confident. It would not therefore be surprising if Pennsylvania should prove to be the leader in next week's speculation. Two weeks ago we said of the Russian situation and its influence on the financial world that it was bound to improve through the mere exhaustion of the people, who were beginning to give evidence that they were tired of dancing to the tune played by the extremists of the several parties. Notwithstanding the many disquieting events in that unhappy country, it is apparent that all but the professional agitators are growing weary of the strife and strain, and the view taken in this column is borne out by the latest news. Still the end is not yet, and the unexpected may happen, as the monotonous record of acts of violence are scarcely reassuring.

THE purchase of the present site of the Union Dime Savings Bank, on Greeley Square, by the City Investing Company is a very interesting transaction. It is interesting not only because of the high price which has been paid, but because it shows how peculiarly valuable these irregular plots, with frontages on three streets, have become. It is a great pity that the layout of New York does not provide for more of them. The commission who planned the city early in the century would have entirely dispensed with such irregular plots if it had been possible to do so, but, as it happened, the diagonal course of Broadway could not very well be altered, even at that early date, and the consequence was that wherever Broadway crossed a longitudinal avenue in their new rectangular plan, it was necessary to introduce irregularities in the plan. These irregularities, which were regarded at the time as necessary evils, have proved to be great boons for the contemporary exploiter of real estate, because they afford him unusually good sites for tall buildings. The big rectangular blocks are very bad in that respect, because, unless the whole block frontage is purchased, the light and air on two sides of the skyscraper is placed in a precarious position; and when a skyscraper is erected on such a plot, it is generally necessary to purchase and reserve adjoining property in order to afford the offices in the building a sufficient supply of sun light. But a small plot, facing on three streets, like the one just purchased by the City Investing Company, has no such drawback. A building erected on such a plot will have good light and air secured to it in perpetuity, and that is the reason why the two tallest buildings erected in Manhattan north of the financial district are the Fuller and the "Times" buildings. Doubtless a similar structure will eventually be erected on the present site of the Union Dime Savings Bank, and the securing of this property by the City Investing Company is an evidence of wise and far-seeing management. Greeley Square will undoubtedly be the most important business center uptown, and well-lighted offices on the square will command higher rents than they will in any other part of the middle section of Manhattan. Within five years the square will be enclosed by skyscrapers, and the only possible threat to its future prosperity consists in its bad plan. It is not properly laid out to accommodate conveniently all the business which will eventually be concentrated at that point, and it is probable that the demand for more space and the tunnels which will run under the square will result before many years in the building of a new square at that point below the surface.

IS the art of the sculptor and stone-carver to become a dead letter, or will it receive an additional impetus? This question is suggested by the exhibition of a sculpturing machine, the invention of Augusto Bontempi, of Italy. It was shown in operation at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Manufacturing Company's building, 316 Hudson street, on Tuesday morning last, August 7. It is truly a marvelous device, and is calculated to exercise a great influence on sculpture and carving in marble, stone and wood and in the reproduction of the art treasures of statuary. The work that the machine accomplished in the presence of members of the press, architects, builders and men in the marble business was remarkable. The exhibition was by no means experimental, as the machine was invented about four years ago, and is in practical operation in several countries—on the continent of Europe and in Great Britain, in which latter country it was introduced by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, of "Sherlock Holmes" renown. This Bontempi machine should ultimately effect something in the nature of a revolution in the carving of stone, marble or in sculpturing. It executes busts in seven hours which would require six weeks' work by hand. Replicas of art treasures of statuary are produced by the Bontempi machine perfect in every way as the originals. Special adaptations of the device will carve ivory, jasper, porphyry, mother-o'-pearl, silver, bronze and other materials. The possibilities of the machine are practically unlimited. A great ancient or modern work of the sculptor's art can now be reproduced so that what is equal to the original may become familiar to everybody throughout the civilized world. The Sculptrix was Mr. Bontempi calls it, will prove a large factor in the beautification of cities, as it will make the very best stone or marble artistic, ornamental and decorative work procurable at a comparatively small cost.

FATHER KNICKERBOCKER has his own system of finance, which, if in some respects a little old-fashioned, is in all respects conservative. It provides that bondholders should be preferred creditors, though none of them need ever have the slightest reason to doubt the fullness of the security which Father Knickerbocker has to offer. Certain revenues of the city are applied to its ordinary expenses, and so diminish taxation. These amount in a year to about $8,000,000, and include fees, franchises, licenses, interest, commissions and penalties. The other items of city revenue, exclusive of taxes, are set aside, as for the sinking fund, to be held for the benefit of bond owners and be applied to paying off the bonds as they become due. The city is getting this year $700,000 from the sale of real estate, $300,000 from market rents and fees, $3,200,000 from docks, $200,000 from licenses, $250,000 from street vault privileges, $25,000 from gas franchises, $325,000 from railroad franchises and $140,000 as interest on city deposits in banks or trust companies, the official theory being that as such interest comes from property on which the city bondholders have a lien, the interest should be safeguarded for the bondholders, or, rather, should be held for their benefit under the same conditions as the payment of insurance for damage to a house by fire is paid to the holder of a mortgage upon it in part liquidation of his claim. The sinking fund will suffice this year to take up $11,780,000 of city bonds becoming due in 1906.

The Methods of Real Estate Brokers.

EVERYBODY interested in New York real estate is familiar, of course, with the change which has taken place in brokers' methods during the past ten or fifteen years. Time was when a real estate agent used business methods analogous to those of a lawyer. He rented and occupied an office in a prominent situation on the best business street in the district in which he was interested, and there he waited for customers to come to him. His object was to obtain the confidence of the owners of property in the selected neighborhood, so that when they wished to rent or sell their houses they would place their property in his hands, and he knew that if he succeeded in getting on his books whatever desirable real estate there was for sale or for rent in his vicinity, the people who wished to occupy or purchase such houses would be obliged to come to him. He did not try to make business; he simply tried to secure for his office the business which made itself. Little by little all this has changed. The broker still tries, of course, to obtain the confidence of people who own real estate, particularly in the vicinity of his office or offices, and a large part of the brokerage business which is transacted goes to the long-established firms who have gained the confidence of a large and wealthy clientele; but even the best known and most conservative firms are no longer content with the old, passive methods. The broker has become the active instigator of real estate transactions. He does not wait for business to come to him, but he seeks to create it. He follows closely the course of real estate transactions in all parts of the city, and is constantly writing letters to property owners, in which he asks them to place their property on his books. Then, when he obtains a figure at which he is authorized to sell a particular piece of property, he is equally active in seeking to secure a purchaser. Of course, as often as not, he is actually representing a purchaser and is working in the interest of people who are ready to buy almost any piece of real estate at a price which makes it look cheap instead of expensive. But whoever he represents he is no longer a gentleman who sits in an easy chair and waits patiently for customers to come to him. He is constantly scouring the city, either by correspondence or in person, and endeavoring to persuade people who have either real estate or money to sell or buy.

This change in brokerage methods is not, of course, an accidental one. It is the result of a change in the actual condition of real estate ownership in New York City. In the old times, when there were more private houses than flats, real estate was owned chiefly by estates or by small investors, or by the occupiers of the property. The number of speculative transactions was comparatively small, and was confined chiefly to those parts of the city in which an active building movement was taking place. During the past fifteen years, however, the investor has been superseded as the active factor in the New York real estate market by the speculator. Property is no longer bought chiefly for occupation or as a means of obtaining a smaller or greater income. It is bought chiefly by men who believe that they can resell within a comparatively short time at a profit, and this fact has, of course, increased enormously the number of real estate transactions. There are thousands of people in New York who constantly employ a capital ranging from a few thousand to many million dollars in purchasing pieces of real estate in which they see a profit; and the broker who scours the city for business, instead of sitting passively in his office, is really the representative of these speculators. This speculation means that a much larger proportion of New York real estate is constantly for sale than used to be the case, and at the same time that the steady demand is also much greater. In the less active parts of New York the speculator will not, of course, buy unless he can secure a bargain, but in the active sections he is constantly advancing prices until frequently the buildings yield a small income compared to their market price. The brokers are becoming men a large part of whose business consists in satisfying the demands of professional speculators. They know that they can always find purchasers at a price, and they believe that it pays them, consequently, to spend every minute of their spare time in simply finding out at what prices different pieces of property in different parts of the city are for sale. The larger brokers keep many typewriters constantly at work who do nothing but write letters to property owners, and the smaller brokers use the same methods in proportion to their means and opportunities.

This constant solicitation must seem to be profitable, or else so much time and money would not be spent upon it; but the question is worth raising whether it is not being carried too far. At the present time it certainly defeats its purpose in many cases. Property owners receive so many letters which mean nothing except a desire for information on the part of an enterprising broker that they no longer pay any attention to a letter unless it bears the evidence of being written with a much more serious purpose than usual, and where the letter is written with a more serious purpose than usual the effect is always, of course, to stiffen the backs of property owners. The owner of a parcel in an active section will receive several letters a week, all of which may bear evidence of being written at the instigation of some speculator who is really ready to buy; and the consequence is, of course, that the owner tacks on a few thousand dollars to the price. This few thousand additional dollars may not make much difference at a time when prices are still advancing; but a couple of years of inactivity and sagging prices might, under such circumstances, have a serious effect. Brokers would become still more solicitous of business and property owners would find it hard to believe that a genuine demand did not lie behind these continual and pressing inquiries. On the whole, it is probably true that even now this constant letter writing prevents as many transactions as it provokes. The property owner, while he throws the letters into the basket, is still persuaded by them to believe that he must have a pretty valuable parcel. The actual transaction, however, is nearly always the outcome of a personal call, and the owner waits for such a call as a necessary preliminary to serious negotiations. It is not to be supposed that there will ever be any reversion to the methods of the earlier days, in which the broker was a passive rather than an amount of miscellaneous letter writing will diminish. Many active agent; but it is probable that a few years from now the brokers keep it up at the present time only because they are afraid that if they do not do so they will not secure as much business as their competitors. But even if it pays at present it will not pay during a period of inactivity. Under such circumstances it will really act, not as a stimulus, but as a curb to real estate business. The lesson will not be learned all at once, but in the long run business methods, which involve as much waste as those do which now prevail in the New York real estate business are not likely to be continued.

Vanishing of a Church.

The wrecking of the old Madison Square Church is nearly complete. The New York House Wrecking Company's men (of 514 East 23d st) are seven days ahead of the 45-day limit of their contract. A. Lederer is in charge for the wrecking company.

The Madison Square Presbyterian Church, at Madison av and 24th st, was organized in 1853, in response to the growing demand for houses of worship in what was then the uptown section of the city. Most of the congregations at that period were Presbyterian, and the merchant princes and other leading men of business of that day were then largely of Presbyterian stock. The original members of the Madison Square Church were drawn largely from the Central Presbyterian Church in Broome st, and the Rev. Dr. William Adams left the pastorate of the Central Church to assume that of the new organization.

The edifice now being razed was first occupied in December, 1854. It was a brownstone in a simple style of Gothic architecture. The new church across the way is a radical departure from old forms of ecclesiastical architecture, as all can see. Designed by McKim, Mead & White, it was erected under contract by Charles T. Wills, and cost $200,000, exclusive of the cost of the land and the equipment. The new church occupies the site of the old Bishop mansion, which was purchased by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. and given to the Madison Square Presbyterian Society, together with about three hundred thousand dollars, in exchange for the old church property.

Yellow brick, white marble and terra cotta compose the walls of the new church. There is an ornate cornice of terra cotta, and fronting Madison sq are six Corinthian columns of light colored granite. The auditorium is 52 ft. square. Supported entirely by the walls, the dome rises 69 ft. from the street level. Steel girders are used in the walls. A 3-sty parish house connected holds a large lecture room, the pastor's room and the session room on the first floor; on the second floor the main Sunday school and two meeting rooms; a parlor, sewing room and study on the third floor, and in the basement a gymnasium.

Ready for Delivery.

The Record and Guide Quarterly, covering the period between April 1 and June 30, 1906, is now ready for delivery. In addition to the record matter which this publication has always contained, there has been added to the conveyances the grantee's address, and under each mortgage will be found the name and address of the attorney loaning the money, making this publication an invaluable real estate directory, which should be in every broker's office.

Building Material

Values

Brick Manufacturers Association Cannot Curtail Output—When Prices May Be Expected to Advance Again.

Brick values have reached a level at which they will probably rest for a time, the lowest in several years. Attempts to co-ordinate manufacturing forces and conserve energy and product seem to be unavailing in this trade, and the consequence is that builders have the full benefits resulting from unlimited independence. It is understood that a suggestion was made to suspend work on Mondays and Saturdays. This scheme, it appears, was to become operative upon the securing of 85 per cent. of those engaged in the trade, with the understanding that a bond was to be given in the sum of $1,000 for each machine operated by any individual brick manufacturer, to be paid to the general association in case of a violation of the agreement. But a sufficient number of manufacturing firms would not consent to this, and there was some fear that such action would be considered as in restraint of trade. Nine more manufacturing plants than last year, and extensive enlargements of old works, eventually overwhelmed a diminishing requirement for material.

Other lines seem not to be particularly assailed by such circumstances as have routed the brick manufacturers. Cement and other masons' materials are still commanding the highest prices of the season. The North Carolina pine manufacturers have been obliged to propose measures for the curtailment of output, and hemlock lumber has been let down sufficiently to touch the previous base price of $20, though the maximum rate of $22.50 continues to hold.

MR. HOWLAND'S VIEWS.

Francis N. Howland, of Candee, Smith & Howland, foot of East 26th st, and President of the Association of Dealers in Masons' Building Material, remarked this week that it was a difficult matter for anyone to properly forecast the building situation in this city, or to in any positive way account for the present mixed up and unsatisfactory state of affairs.

"The extremely high prices of building material," said Mr. Howland, "the cost of labor, not to mention the advance in cost of building plots, has brought the building situation to a point where it is better to make haste slowly, at least until the loan market improves to a very marked extent.

"As to the common brick situation, I can only see the law of supply and demand in the present marked decline in the price of that commodity. When the demand was far ahead of the supply, we saw the price soar to $13 per 1,000, and now that demand, from various causes, has fallen off, and the supply, through new yards and new machines on the old yards, has increased to many millions, the inevitable happens, and we see prices falling to their present state.

"The manufacturers of brick are not taking kindly to the existing state of affairs, and are meeting at stated intervals and trying to devise ways and means for keeping their product from going to what they consider ruinous prices, and I understand are seriously talking of curtailing production by stopping work for at least two days each week through the present season. As we have had considerable wet weather through the last week, no doubt the output has been materially curtailed, and the manufacturers may feel that the Lord is looking out for them, but when it is remembered that the same wet weather prevented the using on the buildings here, it would about even up matters on that line. From my point of view, I cannot see any possible reason for much of an advance over present rates on brick until the season for making is over, and the manufacturers with full sheds canvass the situation and consider whether it is wiser to hold for a better market in the coming spring, or market their product for what it will bring.

"Cement, Portland especially, stands on its own platform. It is used in so many places where other material was thought necessary, and the demand is so great, that in the face of enormous and steadily increasing manufacture it has advanced in price until it is possible to import foreign cement at a profit.

"As to the outlook for the rest of the year, while there is some large work under way and to be started, I do not imagine we shall see as many apartments and tenements built as early reports led us to believe, at least until the money situation clears and allows the builder some hope of placing his loans."

PRICES WILL ADVANCE AGAIN—VIEWS OF MR. GOSS.

President Goss, of the Empire Brick and Supply Co., 874 Broadway, one of the largest concerns in the trade, remarked yesterday that a fall in the price of North River hard brick is not an unusual occurrence at this season of the year. The decline in comparison is greater than usual, because it must be considered in relation to the extreme high prices which have ruled since the close of navigation on the Hudson River last December, said Mr. Goss, and he added:

"In July of 1905 North River hard brick sold, cargo rates f. o. b. dock New York City, at $6.50 to $7.25 per thousand. During the past month, under similar conditions of delivery, brick have ruled at from $5.50 to $6.25 per thousand; a difference of only $1 per thousand less than the low price of last year.

"Everyone familiar with this subject knows that this annual slump in the price of brick is to some extent unnecessary, and misleading to those contractors and consumers who are at this particular period making their plans and calculations for work which will require this material during future months of the year.

"Experience has not brought about any change in the methods of manufacturers in the handling of their products. Each year, induced by the higher prices which usually prevail in the spring before the opening of navigation, manufacturers employ every facility to hurry brick to this market at a time when work is not ready and the demand for building materials is at the minimum. The market being thus temporarily overfed, prices naturally decline.

"The character of construction used in the better class of buildings of recent years has been such that it was late in the year before the larger demand for bricks was felt. Particularly is this apparent in this year's business. Plans for thousands of new buildings have been filed with the Bureau of Buildings. Many of these operations are now lying dormant, being temporarily held back owing principally to the difficulty experienced in securing loans, either on temporary or permanent mortgage, to carry on the work. This inability to procure money readily is the chief cause of retarding speculative building operations and is reflected in the diminished demand for bricks.

"Concrete steel construction has not been to an appreciable extent a factor in reducing the price of bricks. Unless some new form of construction or materials had been available during the past year many building operations would have been suspended, as the facilities for furnishing bricks were taxed to the utmost.

"The indications at present are that the demand for bricks will increase very much as the season advances and the consumer who delays his building operations in anticipation of lower prices for bricks, or who calculates that present prices will not be advanced, will no doubt be very much deceived."

Personal.

Henry M. Steel, formerly chief engineer of the Central of Georgia Railway, has become Chief Civil Engineer for J. G. White & Co., contractors and engineers, 43 Exchange pl, Manhattan.

James M. Wentz, who died August 3 at his residence at Newburgh, was one of the largest individual lenders for building loans doing business in New York City. He was a director of the Mercantile National Bank of New York, a director of the Mortgage-Bond Company, 39 Liberty st, New York, director of the National Bank of Newburgh, and President of the Newburgh Savings Bank. He was 82 years old, worth several millions, and 30 years ago was prominent in the wholesale drygoods trade here, being head of the firm now known as Teft, Weller & Co., but then as James M. Wentz & Co.

The Executive Committees of the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, the Society of Beaux Arts Architects and the Architectural League of New York have passed a resolution expressing their sense of the great loss which the profession and the art of architecture have sustained in the death of Stanford White in these words: "His quick and generous appreciation of all that is beautiful, even beyond the field of its immediate profession, was so genuine that the influence of his work will long continue to be a stimulus to the artistic development of this country. Only those of us who have been closely associated with him professionally can fully appreciate the love and enthusiasm with which he devoted himself to art. His was a commanding personality, and whatever he produced had the touch of genius."

Mr. E. W. T. Gray, who has for years been manager of the New York sales office of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, resigned recently to take up commercial work in another field. Mr. Gray's decision to sever his connection with the Westinghouse Company was received with great regret by the management, he having been one of the pioneer employees of the company. Mr. Gray began his work with the Westinghouse Company about the year 1890, starting in the laboratory of the original works in the heart of the city of Pittsburgh. Later he took up installation work for the company, installing the first railway motors the company made, on cars in Lansing, Mich., about the year 1901. Following a short period spent in installation work, Mr. Gray was called by the company to its sales organization, with headquarters at Pittsburgh. In 1898 Mr. Gray received the appointment of manager of the New York office. Mr. W. C. Webster, who succeeds Mr. Gray as manager of the New York sales office, has a broad general knowledge of the company's commercial policy, and on account of his close association with the sales department in the past enjoys a personal acquaintance with the entire sales force, which should be of great advantage to him in his new work. Mr. Webster entered the employ of the company in 1898, and has always been identified with the sales department.

West Farms Waits for Builders

Fortunes Can Be Made There—Small Loans Available—Nothing to Rent in Bedford Park and Williamsbridge

The vacancies in the East Bronx appear to be confined to the new houses in the southeastern section, where a class of houses has been erected not altogether adapted to the neighborhood. In the central and northern sections of the borough, properties are well occupied, and values are firm.

The situation seems to be that in some quarters a type of house has been erected from which such a revenue is needed owing not only to high cost of land, but also to constructive design and building costs, which the surrounding public is unwilling to meet. For less money more commodious apartments can be had in old-law houses, and invariably these must be filled first when it is a matter of competition between the two types.

For nearly a year concessions have been offered in special cases, and builders and owners of new houses have been persuaded to modify schedules which were decidedly more attractive to buyers than to renters. In this connection a story is told of a prospective buyer who went to an agent and broker for some free information concerning values in the vicinity. "I am assured," said he, "that the rent roll in the house I am thinking of buying runs from $22 to $25 a month." To this the broker returned: "I think you are being deceived about that. I know the present owner has asked such rates, but I am informed he has never been able to obtain them." "But I have seen receipts for $25," ejaculated the bargain hunter. "Well, I know that the highest rent next door is only $18, because I collect it."

Nevertheless, the speculative gentleman, relying on the genuineness of the receipts, bought the house, and a month later came back, and, acknowledging that he had been stung, commissioned the broker to sell the property for the best terms he could get. In cases perhaps numerous in some sections, properties may be held on margins so slender that the summer dullness has caused an uncomfortable feeling, and the decline of brick may even represent a larger share of such margins than it is thought best to admit. But, for the most part, improved realty in the Bronx at least is in hands amply strong enough to hold it, and the growing population assures a very healthy tone to values for the borough as a whole, in spite of sectional mistakes or temporary fluctuations. As this is an era of great growth with promised transit outlets to the suburbs not yet realized, it is apparent that for years to come at least nothing but an oversupply of houses can affect the market, and only in a few sections is there any danger of this, certainly not in Tremont, nor in Fordham, or Mount Hope, or University Heights, or the Central Bridge Section, or Kingsbridge or West Farms.

Regarding the status of real estate affairs at West Farms, Mr. John A. Steinmetz, 1343 East 177th st, near the Bronx River, remarked yesterday that he could rent almost anything in that vicinity. He added:

"One block from my office they are renting finished attics, with four rooms, for which they get as high as $15 a month. I had a 2-family house vacant not long ago and I had so many people applying for it that two parties were fighting for the same rooms. At the present time I have scarcely any rooms to let.

MARKET GOOD FOR SMALL LOANS.

"I find the market very good for small loans. I have several clients waiting for good loans. I must say there is no activity in the building line in West Farms. If some of the builders would wake up they would see we need as many apartments with five and six rooms as we can get, for there is not a thing to rent in this section, and I have at least 20 to 30 people in my office each day inquiring for rooms. That is, apartments to rent from $22 to $28 a month. I could almost guarantee to rent a 4-sty double within 30 days.

"I know if the right man would take hold he could make a small fortune here. A few months ago I built two 2-family houses in this vicinity and before they were finished I rented both houses, five rooms and bath, for $24, and six rooms and bath for $26 per month, without heat or hot water, with the exception of range and boiler; and I also sold both of them after holding them a short time and made a nice profit.

"Any builder who would desire any information in regard to this section, or who would like to look over the ground for building purposes with small payments, I can show him just what he is looking for."

BEDFORD PARK AND WILLIAMSBRIDGE.

Wilbur L. Varian, of 2777 Webster av, said it was almost impossible to find a private house for rent in the vicinity of Bedford Park, Williamsbridge, Wakefield or Woodlawn Heights.

"There are a number of floors in 2-family houses to be had, and a fair demand for them. What we want at Bedford Park, in the vicinity of the "L" station, is a number of good flat houses.

"The general market at present is inactive, but in my opinion this is caused by the hot weather and the vacation season. We are looking forward to a good fall business."

Bronx Streets Closed.

Under recent proceedings the Board of Estimate has taken cognizance of the desire of manufacturing and commercial interests situated on water frontage to have land enough for the expansion of their business, by making a very considerable change in Bronx street lines.

The changes are somewhat radical and consist of the closing and discontinuing of four of the existing streets leading to the water front, between Eastern Boulevard and the bulkhead line, while every third street is retained. This will result in leaving unbroken plots with a width of 720 ft. which will be available for large commercial or manufacturing purposes. While changes of the city map for trivial reasons are inexcusable and should be discouraged, it is undoubtedly the case that blocks with a width of 200 ft. along the water front render it impossible to build up large commercial enterprises employing a great amount of labor. Manufactories of this kind have frequently been compelled to abandon their plants within the city and transfer them to New Jersey, because the restricted block dimensions do not permit them to expand sufficiently to meet the demands made upon them. Requests for changes such as the one under consideration are frequently condemned as in the interest only of some corporation, and it is stated that the interests of the public are being sacrificed. This may be true in some cases, but the authorities cannot see why the changes asked for in this instance will embarrass the public in any way, while it is quite evident that they will permit of a development increasing materially the wealth of the city and giving employment to a large number of men.

It is proposed to close Dupont st, from Leggett av to the bulkhead line of the East River; East Bay av, from the lands of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad to Tiffany st; Craven st, from the Eastern Boulevard to Edgewater road; Worthen st, from the Eastern Boulevard to Edgewater road; Edgewater road, from Truxton st to Tiffany st, including the public place at the intersection of Edgewater road, East Bay av and Craven st. The map also provides for the re-establishment of Barry st, between Leggett av and Eastern Boulevard, and for shifting the lines of Dupont st by moving them eastwardly and laying out a new Dupont st, to take the place of the one discontinued and closed.

Quarter of Million for Sidewalks.

Ficklen & Stobaugh, who have just completed five miles of cement sidewalk in Douglas Manor, have been awarded the contract for the rest of the grading, cement sidewalks and macadamized streets at Broadway-Flushing. This is one of the largest contracts ever awarded in the Borough of Queens, and will amount to approximately a quarter of a million dollars. Ficklen & Stobaugh claim to be the largest sidewalk contractors in the United States. Their first work was the Court of Honor at the World's Fair. About five years ago the firm came East to do the cement work for Wood, Harmon & Co. and others. They have since secured the largest contracts in their line which have been let in Greater New York, and they now have over $1,000,000 in contracts, employ over 800 men and 150 teams, operate 90 steel cars, control three miles of railroad track and own all kinds of implements and machines for doing work which is usually done by hand.

In addition to their contracts with the Rickert-Finlay Co., they have large contracts for the Cord Meyer Co. at their new town, Forest Hills; Hallock & Co. at Queensboro; Bankers' Land & Mortgage Co. at Elmhurst Heights; William H. Reynolds Co. at Westminster Heights and Vandever Crossings, Brooklyn. They also have contracts with the Realty Trust Co. at East New York, and with the City of New York for five miles of cement curb and gutter on Staten Island.

The grading, etc., of East 166th st, between Morris av and the Grand Boulevard and Concourse, has been authorized. Property in this vicinity is being rapidly improved. The same action has been taken with McClellan st.

Transformation of Morningside Heights

A New High-class Apartment House Quarter Growing Up Around the University and Cathedral—A New Century Development for Manhattan

TWENTY-FIVE years ago the upper West Side was a wilderness of confusing possibilities. In the curious anticipations of that era it was thought that Central Park West would be seized upon first of all the avenues on the West Side by the wealthy as the one for private mansions more splendid and aristocratic than anything and everything on 5th av. Tenth or Amsterdam av was to be preferred to 9th or Columbus av, the Boulevard was to be the seat of lordly pleasure houses, and 11th or West End av, to which small thought was given, was consigned by many to be the location of small household supply shops. The future of property on Morningside Hill was regarded as exceedingly promising, but much of the land was still owned by the Leake and Watts Orphan Asylum and by the Society of the New York Hospital. The former owned three blocks between Morningside and 10th avs, 110th and 113th sts, the Hospital Society owned the entire tract (with the exception of a few lots), between 112th, 120th, 10th av and Broadway boulevard, together with a large piece west of the Boulevard, north of 116th st, leaving only a comparatively small number of lots for private owners.

For the strip on Morningside av, from 113th st to 122d st, averaging about five hundred feet in width and on the front along the avenue, exclusive of the Leake and Watts Asylum, there were only ten owners in all; namely, Emanuel Garcia, Frederick de Peyster, General James Watts de Peyster, James J. Goodwin, Joseph W. Drexel, Dwight H. Olmstead, the Central National Bank, Tracy, Olmstead & Tracy, Mary G. Pinckney and James Rufus Smith. Among the large owners of inside or street lots were Butler H. Bixby, Roscoe Conkling and B. W. McCready. It was in 1886 that the authorities of the Episcopal Church bought for $850,000 the site between 110th and 113th sts, and Morningside and 10th avs.

Twenty-five years ago it was difficult to explore the region without a guide. The growth of New York at every stage has been strictly controlled by the nature of rapid transit facilities, and the extent of the one has ever marked the boundary of the other. When the omnibus was the type of rapid transit the wholesale district was confined below Chambers st, the retail stores extended to Canal st, and the upper residential part of the city stretched to 14th st and beyond; but the 'bus could not extend the town very much farther than 23d st, and the Long Island and Jersey suburbs began to grow instead. The horse car, coming next, about 1852, built the city up to 59th st, and the Elevated carried the population past Morningside Heights, but left this area bare almost until the Subway electric road and its heralds began a new era. For some time after the first section of the Riverside Drive was constructed there may have been some doubt as to the fate of this important tract, but, if so, it was dispelled soon when the trustees of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine acquired the orphan asylum property. Only a year later St. Luke's Hospital bought an adjoining square. Columbia University soon followed, buying four blocks, and the two institutions have both erected magnificent buildings. With Columbia came Barnard and the Teachers' Colleges and some minor institutions, all of a character that determined the status of the district and made first-class improvements only possible.

In the course of the following years a large amount of land passed out of the hands of original owners, but always with restrictions that protected old and new buyers, and in the confidence thus created investments immense in the aggregate have been made there. The whole of the Heights is not restricted, but there existed for many years an organization known as the Morningside Protective Association, of which Seth Low was president, that watched over the interests of the section. It is high and salubrious with natural boundaries on two sides, making it as delightful a place of residence as there is in New York.

One who has not looked over the Heights within so short a period as three years can perceive a great transformation. Six years ago there was less than two million dollars' worth of buildings, apart from the institutional and ecclesiastical structures, and as the area between Cathedral Parkway and 118th st seems now to be fully half built over, there has been a wonderful change, even for New York, considering the value as well as the size of the operations; for the area has developed in that short time into probably the most distinctive high-class apartment house quarter in the city. Almost all the buildings are of that type; the few private residences are survivals for the most part, and it would seem some law had been passed against any other kind of a house than a great multi-family palace. The sort of living which preceded can be judged from the row of 1-sty and attic cottages on the south side of Cathedral Parkway. A similar row still stands, but unoccupied, on the south side of 111th st, between Amsterdam av and Broadway. The re-grading of the street left them far below the curb, almost hidden from view, but a curious and interesting collection to those who can remember this territory as it was fifty years ago. Property abutting on Cathedral Parkway, between Amsterdam and Riverside, still remains, except in one single instance, in a state not permanently improved, which may be taken as an indication that it has not changed hands in many years, and that it is being reserved for a higher type of improvement than is possible now. This parkway (110th st) is destined to be one of the principal cross-town streets of the city, and the owners are supported by public opinion in reserving it for structures more in harmony with the Cathedral than can be assured at the present time. On the Riverside frontage excavating has commenced for the great Hendrik Hudson apartment house, which is to cover the block front and have a depth of 135 feet. (See Record and Guide July 21, 1906, for picture and authoritative description.) When this great building is finished (including an addition) it will be the largest house of the sort in the city, so far as has been arranged for to this time.

One Hundred and Eleventh st has, so far as the north side is concerned, been one of the active streets. In the summer of 1903 a series of large apartments was erected between Amsterdam and Broadway, and at the present time a block of five is going up on Amsterdam av, taking in the two corners. Frank G. Ormsby bought from Margaret Morrison last March the 6-sty apartment 525-531 West 111th st, 100x100.11. The property is assessed for $155,000, of which $44,000 is for the land. In February Lewis D. Jones sold to Herman Schwarz the 6-sty brick apartment, 75x100.11. Assessed valuation of property, $120,000, of which $33,000 is for the land. In April Milton Elsmann bought from John Campbell Nos. 610-612 south side of 111th st, 175 feet west of Broadway, 50x100.11, on which were frame dwellings, and last month he sold to Harry Schiff. The property is assessed at $26,000, including buildings.

On the south side of 112th st, Kleinfeld & Engelsberg are erecting three 6-sty elevator apartments. On the east side of Amsterdam av, from 114th to 115th st, preparations are being made for a large structure, 200x100, recently bought by the Polstein Realty and Construction Co. The land is assessed for $145,000. On the south side of 116th st the Nurses' Home (9 stories) is in course of erection by Contractor C. W. Kinsella. On Morningside av, Paterno Bros., builders and owners, are covering the block between 115th and 116th sts with two 6-sty houses. At the northwest corner of 117th st and Morningside av an elegant 7-sty house, with interior court, is ready for occupancy.

From Cathedral Parkway to 118th st, the Heights section is building up not only with great rapidity, but with a generally higher class of apartments than can be found in any other part of the city of equal area.

$70,200 in Sales at Broadway-Flushing.

Although it is the summer season, when there is little activity in the real estate market, the sale of lots at Broadway-Flushing continues very active. The purchases are by persons who intend in the near future to build on the property. The outlook is that commencing either in the fall or early spring a number of houses will be erected there.

Among the buyers are a number who bought several years ago in the Bronx and who have erected apartment houses there and have made a success of their investments. They expect to repeat their success at Broadway-Flushing. The total of sales reported by the Rickert-Finlay Co. is 102 lots of a total value of $79,200.

In detail the sales are as follows:

What "Monolith" Is.

The manufacturers of the Ideal Monolith Building Material claim that they have in this material the superior of all building materials of manufactured product and of some of nature's productions also.

There is ample scope for such material in this age of building construction and the demand for a material which will meet all the exigencies created by building inspectors and fire underwriters, and yet be readily utilized in any form or style, and supplant stone, concrete, or wood, with economy, must certainly be far beyond the possibility of one factory to supply.

Six years ago Ideal Monolith was subjected to exacting tests on the advice of the late Edward Atkinson, whom the world respected as an expert on "fireproof" products. The tests were made at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston under the direction of Professor C. L. Norton, whose report says:

"I have made a series of tests of your Monolith floor. It is a good fire retardant. A blast of hot gases 3,000° F., impinging on the face of a piece of Monolith floor, 3/4 in. thick, fails to ignite the wooden backing for upwards of twenty minutes, and does not in that time seriously damage the Monolith. I should rate Monolith as a better non-conductor than brick or tile or asbestos mill-board. Monolith is essentially waterproof. A box having a bottom of Monolith has been kept full of water in my laboratory for nearly two months without showing signs of leakage, and on drying the Monolith appears unaffected. The durability of Monolith as shown by its ability to stand heavy blows without fracture is slightly greater than in the case of oak or birch. Slight indentations, like the marks of nails in boot heels are less noticeable than in hardwood. Monolith is not slippery when wet, and takes a good, smooth surface, and appears to me to be a very satisfactory floor.—C. L. Norton."

The Ideal Monolith is already used as flooring stair treads, continue to specify it, which they would not be likely to do if it were not very desirable.

What is this Ideal Monolith and why are thorough architects applying it in various ways are two questions to be answered. It is a dry and also a liquid preparation; its composition is a chemical secret. When the two preparations are combined it forms a body and may become as hard as stone or as elastic and pliable as hardwood. It may be applied and molded for a variety of building purposes—sanitary and fireproof flooring for instance. Put down in plastic shape it makes a continuous jointless floor surface, and when continued around the walls in the shape of a baseboard to a height of six inches, makes a floor surface that is sanitary, dustless and absolutely fireproof.

The floor surface can be treated and finished the same as hardwood floors. Large surfaces can be laid off in squares and the entire mass of the floor surface can be finished to match woodwork or other trim in color or tints to harmonize with the surroundings, and intricate designs of gorgeous lines or delicate tints may be reproduced in facsimile. The floor is not noisy to walk upon, neither is it hard and rigid like cement or tile floors. It is not cold to the touch and retards the sound of footsteps or other noises from passing below. These facts regarding Monolith make it an ideal flooring for hospitals, schools, sanitariums, bathrooms, toilets, kitchens and, in fact, every place where it is necessary to have a dustless, noiseless, sanitary, fireproof floor surface.

The stair treads and risers made from this material have many advantages over wood, stone or concrete. They are made in one piece and have cove corners, while the ends rest on stringers and the tread of one step rests on the riser of the one below. These stairs are made with or without reinforcement and are the cheapest fireproof stairways on the market.

The wainscoting of Monolith is made in the form of slabs, which are secured to the wall by screws or cemented with the same material. Acids do not affect Monolith. It is therefore specially applicable for toilets.

As cement, Monolith has a remarkable field of usefulness. It enables the tile setter to lay tile floors over old wooden floors without tearing out.

The Sedgwick Flower Company, of 1135 Broadway, New York City, will be pleased to send full details and prices on application.

wainscoting, bases and in the form of tile flooring on wooden construction with or without the use of concrete, and from inquiries it appears to have given great satisfaction both to architects, builders and owners. No adverse opinions can be learned. One of the best proofs of the value of this new building material is the fact that the same architects and builders, Joseph H. Wallace, Temple Court Building, Manhattan, has been appointed engineer in charge of improvements to the Roanoke Navigation & Water Power Co.'s plant at Roanoke Rapids, N. C., to cost $100,000.

Prof. Mansfield Merriman, M. Am. Soc. C. E., Professor of Civil Engineering at Lehigh University, with Mr. Clarence W. Hudson, M. Am. Soc. C. E., who has resigned as assistant engineer of the Phoenix Bridge Co., will open offices at 45 Broadway Sept. 1, as consulting engineers. They will give special attention to investigations and reports on water supply and water power, the design, inspection and erection of bridges, foundations, steel buildings, etc.

Columbia University has erected at 116th st and Broadway the first outdoor reinforced concrete hand-ball court in America. This court consists of one wall 80 ft. long and 15 ft. 6 ins. high by 2½ ins. in thickness. Every 20 ft. a buttress is built, also 2½ ins. thick. There is not one pound of structural steel in these walls, as the reinforcing consists of truss metal lath, the sheets of which are temporarily wired to temporary studs, and the joints of all sheets are broken to insure perfect bond. This 80-ft. wall by 15 ft. 6 ins. high, subject to wind and weather, is an example of what can be done with 2½-inch walls when properly reinforced. The wall is built the same as truss metal partitions in buildings, and technical men will recognize in it a striking departure in outdoor work.

PRIVATE SALES MARKET

Exceptionally interesting announcements in the first part of the week were not imitated successively in later days to give the real estate market of the week any marked distinction from other dull ones in mid-summer. While trading is mediocre, conditions are developing in other ways very satisfactorily to real estate and building interests. From the upper parts of the Bronx reports come of a scarcity of apartments, of the availability of money for small loans, and of splendid opportunities for builders, which is intelligence that quite counteracts the rumors of over-production of apartments in the lower eastern sections of that borough. South Brooklyn, which has done a great deal of brick building this year, offers homes for a thousand families in the fall, and is confident that there will not be many vacancies left. Property everywhere is held at the highest levels of the era, and in many wards of the greater city movements seem to have slowed down for that reason more than on any other account. In the construction departments the amount of work in hand is very great, and the projected work is not after all very much less than it was a year ago in Manhattan and the Bronx. In Brooklyn it is greater, and in Queens very much so. Labor forces are all at work and contented with conditions; apartments in most parts are rented better than ever, and on the whole any large view of the situation which for the moment forgets the temporary speculative dullness and money tightness must give extremely satisfactory results.

Suburban.

Montgomery Maze bought from Cornelius G. Blauvelt the old Blauvelt homestead of 100 acres, lying between Pearl River and Orangeburg. The property has been held by members of the family for more than 100 years.

Howard P. Wheeler is pushing the work of developing Flushing Heights (the Mann farm). The tract, which lies to the north of the Hempstead road, contains 36 acres, or over 600 lots, and will be placed on the market about Sept. 1. A large force of men and teams are at work grading, and the macadamizing will soon be commenced.

At Queensboro Hill, lying just across the Hempstead turnpike from Flushing Heights, the work of paving and macadamizing is being pushed. The grading and macadamizing now being done is largely on Highland and Hillcrest avs, the highest point on the property. The view from this point is fine, and is expected to be the location of the highest class residences on the tract.

The demand for apartments in the Hunter's Point section is still strong, despite the usual midsummer dullness in the renting line. When the fall season opens up it is expected to be much greater. The new 5-sty store and flat house which is now in course of completion at Crescent and 13th sts, will be done in a month or so and it is said that every apartment will be rented by the time the plaster is dry on the walls. This is the first 5-sty tenement of its kind to be erected in this section. The Langley apartment house on 11th st comes under a somewhat different classification, for it has no stores. It is likely that this new house will be followed by others as soon as the success of the venture is assured and builders are brought to see that structures of that sort are safe investments.

William P. Jones, broker, of Brooklyn, reports the following sales: for Eugene W. Lane to private investor, 35 acres at Manor, Town of Brookhaven, L. I.; for Eugene F. There are a large number of buildings upon the abutting property. The grade of the street was altered in connection with the Riverside Drive improvement, the crown located approximately in the centre of the block having been removed and the elevation at the Riverside Drive raised a little over 16 ft. The reconstruction of the sewer has already been authorized, and the Riverside Drive improvement has progressed to such an extent that the street may now be connected with it.

The grading of Clason Point road, between Westchester av and the East River, has been authorized. A resolution for acquiring title to Clason Point road between the same limits was adopted on April 14, 1905, by the Board of Estimate, and the oaths of the Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment were filed on April 20 last. The improvement affects almost the entire length of the street, or a little over two miles. Store Fixtures Cost Less.

Forty-six years ago, in the basement of a shack in Cincinnati, the foundation of what is now the largest store fixture factory in the world was laid. It is strange to note that in all these years the enormous growth of the business has never materially changed the manner of making the thousands of business interiors that are now an evidence of the success of the firm of Wm. Kleeman & Co., located in their spacious building between 54th and 55th sts, from 11th to 12th avs, New York.

The large enterprise is conducted, instead of by a single proprietor and helpers, by as many "charge men" as there are jobs in the factory, each "charge man" having the entire job under control, so that the largest factory in the world to-day is conducted just like several hundred small shops, all under one roof. The superintendent, instead of remotely seeing to the execution of all jobs, is responsible for controlling the several hundred smaller "shops," and each shop exercises absolute and particular attention to the details of its own jobs. Thus, the large institution gives to each detail the attention that it should have, with the added superlative supervision of trained experts in every department of its great work.

The accompanying illustration shows the "Colonial" drug store outfit recently built by Wm. Kleeman & Co. for a prominent Harlem druggist. It consists of modern patent medicine cases with glass sliding doors, and panel sliding doors below; also tincture shelving with drawers below. All drawers are in dust and mouse proof compartments. A prescription case, counters, all-glass display cases and cigar cases. The material is quartered oak, and the cabinet varnished and rubbed. The fixtures are made in sections of four feet each, and can be used and reused in this form or any other form to fit this or any other store. Such an outfit was easily worth $1,000 in 1860, and to-day, in spite of advanced price of material and labor, is sold for about twenty-five per cent. less.

This is true of nearly all store fixtures. The volume of business is so much larger that a very much smaller percentage of profit satisfies the firm and thus benefits the consumer. This age is but the beginning of elegance in store fittings and equipment. It is safe to predict greater elegance, leading to extravagance, in time to come.

A DRUG STORE OUTFIT.

Point road, which has been in use for many years and has been macadamized through a large portion of its length, falls partly within its lines. When the opening proceedings were instituted several buildings encroached upon the land to be acquired, but in their anxiety to secure this improvement at the earliest possible date owners of property in the vicinity have provided for the removal of all encroachments. The improvement of this street by reason of its location must precede any other development in the area traversed, and there can be no doubt but that it will be the initial step in the immediate development of a large area.

WALL STREET brokerage houses and financial writers persist in construing the advancing market action each day as a desperate effort of big interests to unload. The fact is, that when big interests want to accumulate stocks they can only do so by creating this very suspicion, making each seller pat himself on the back and say, "The big interests are not fooling me; they cannot unload on me, I will unload on them," and so the street has been unloading on these great controlling interests as they supposed for the past month, and it would appear it was just what these interests in question wanted. The manufacture of new stocks having ceased for five years, whereas the manufacture of new money has proceeded at a greater pace than ever known, is it not conceivable that the floating supply of stocks is smaller than five or six years ago, so that when large operators wish to acquire a line of securities their task will be impossible of accomplishment if the public were contemporaneous buyers? Such operators must necessarily create the prevailing sentiment and caution to "beware of distribution" in order to have the buying to themselves. All signs point to a sold-out condition of the average Wall Street commission house, and this belief will find expression later in low-priced railroad and industrial issues which have not yet participated in the advance. The sold-out public will resort to these issues so as to get back into the game. This they will prefer to purchasing again the stocks they have lost by their smart unloading, so it would seem that stocks like Interborough, Erie, Wabash, Iowa Central and Wisconsin Central at current quotations offer the preponderance of chances in favor of an extended advance, and this might also be said of United States Steel Common. The threshing returns of wheat are greatly exceeding the early estimates of the crop, and should the Canadian crop realize its promise we may see an approach to a thousand million bushels as a product of the North American continent. A month ago there was some disquietude about money. It has now ceased to be a cause for alarm. Never has the money market been so closely watched nor more sensitive; yet it is not now believed that an acute situation will develop—"A watched pot never boils." Whether true or not, Wall Street has also come to the belief that there is a distinct slackening in real estate speculation, for which great relief is expressed, as the Street had worked itself up into a state of "nerves" over the impression that the speculation had become strained and could not stand up against a long period of tight money, for Wall Street finds it pleasant to believe that its panics have always been caused not by its own excesses but by some reckless performance of outside interests.

THE extraordinary thing about the existing activity of real estate in Manhattan is that it holds its own so well under such disadvantageous conditions. The market has against it now two factors of the utmost importance. For one thing, renting conditions are not at all as good as they were in certain new districts, which means that tenements in these districts are harder to sell, and that comparatively few new operations will be undertaken. But of even greater importance is the condition of the money market, which makes it difficult to obtain building loans, and which is holding up many building enterprises. The plans filed for new buildings to be erected in Manhattan and the Bronx during July, 1906, called for the spending of only about half as much money as the plans filed during July, 1905. It is extraordinary, consequently, that the conveyances continue to be as numerous as they are. Their number does not vary materially from the number recorded during the corresponding period last year, and inasmuch as the number recorded in 1905 broke all previous records by a large percentage, it can hardly be said that the contraction in the real estate business has as yet become very serious. It is much more serious in the Bronx than it is in Manhattan, and as for Brooklyn, the current activity is even greater than it was a year ago. It is an interesting fact that during the first week in August twice as many conveyances of Brooklyn property were recorded than of Manhattan and Bronx property combined. It is also to be remarked that, owing to the sudden diminution of building in Manhattan and the Bronx, the total figures are beginning to run behind those of last year. The plans for new Manhattan buildings recorded during the first seven months of 1906 still call for an expenditure of $5,000,000 more than the plans filed during the same period in 1905, but the Bronx shows a diminution of about $6,000,000 for the same period, so that the balance is now in favor of 1905. This balance will probably be increased before the end of the year, for there will during the rest of the year undoubtedly be a lull in tenement-house building. In the meantime the fall renting season has been begun, and upon its results will depend the activity of the coming winter. Since 1901 there has been no year in which it was so difficult to predict just where speculative activity would be concentrated. Much, however, will depend upon the fate of the proposed rapid transit extensions.

DE WITT CLINTON PARK, with an area of seven and a half acres at Fifty-second to Fifty-fourth streets, fronting on North River, has since its completion in November last greatly benefited the neighborhood, which was much in need of such improvements. Much of the old Strykers Lane property was included within this territory, and its exceedingly slow development was long a bar to the growth of property values in this vicinity and on the West Side generally. The neighborhood about here for many years was of a rough character, peopled by some of the most undesirable citizens within the limits of Manhattan. It was recognized as a slum district, and indeed so objectionable was the reputation it had acquired that apparently the growth of the city at this point and hereabouts had stopped at Fifty-ninth street. The opening of De Witt Clinton Park has changed all this. Play grounds for the children, a gymnasium, and a model market garden kept on scientific principles now flourish. The garden is unique in respect to the attention given to the growth of ordinary vegetables. This section of the city is daily showing signs of progress in a marked degree, and there is a distinct improvement in the character and intelligence of those who make this district their home. The Park is a distinct gain in every way for those who live near it, and cleanliness, self-respect and a moral sense which in former years were absent to a great extent now generally prevail. The Park is a boon to the families of laborers and mechanics who have taken up their residence here, and the uplifting effect of a pleasure ground in bettering conditions and improving the tone of the people is again demonstrated.

UNRIVALLED in excellence as are the hotels of New York City, the extent of the accommodations they offer, the conveniences which they have installed, and their progressive management, combine to make it the more surprising that New York should be the only large city in the country which has, in fact, few "middle grade" family hotels. Between the first-class hotels and those of the cheapest sort there is little middle ground in New York. There are no hotels here which cater or profess to cater to middle class patrons at moderate rates. All other American cities have three varieties of hotels, those of the highest class and largest accommodations, those of the middle class at moderate rates, and the cheap and transient hotels to be found usually near railway stations or boat landings. New York has cheap hotels, but it has few family hotels; that is to say, hotels which cater to "family patronage" particularly. The reason for this is that the standard of rents charged in New York in eligible locations is so much higher than elsewhere in the country that to run a New York hotel according to the standard of family hotels in other cities would result in a loss. Moreover, the measure of prosperity of hotels in this city is based on the extent of the accommodations they offer. The most up-to-date hotel is by an invariable rule the most successful, and the New York hotel which, through the standard of the prices charged, is confessedly not "up-to-date," would have little chance of attracting a considerable patronage from other places or from residents of the city itself.

Skyscrapers in Manhattan.

THE city of Springfield, in Massachusetts, has recently imposed by municipal ordinance an absolute limitation upon the height of buildings erected within the city limits to one hundred feet; and this action has again raised the question as to the desirability of such limitations. So far as a small city such as Springfield is concerned, there is, we believe, no doubt as to the wisdom of such action. It is better for the interest of the great majority of property-owners in a small city that the height of buildings should be restricted. A community of from 50,000 to 250,000 inhabitants cannot afford more than a few tall buildings at the outside, and these few "skyscrapers" are of no particular economic value to the whole city. If structures ten or more stories high are permitted, it means that a few fortunate and wealthy property-owners are allowed to take advantage of the growth of the city in business and population to the disadvantage of other property-owners who are less fortunate and wealthy. If, on the other hand, buildings are restricted to a height of one hundred feet, the result is that more property-owners reap a benefit from the growth of the city. A given amount of business, instead of being transacted in a few tall buildings, will be spread over twice as much space, and will benefit twice as many people, and such a distribution of activity is of no economic disadvantage to the community, because the business is not spread over a sufficiently large area to cause any inconvenience. Skyscrapers in a small city do not contribute essentially to economic efficiency.

But in a city like New York of many million inhabitants the case is very much more complicated. Let us suppose, for instance, that in 1890 a provision had been inserted in the Building Code limiting the height of all buildings to one hundred feet or approximately eight stories—what would have been the result? Assuming that the same amount of business continued to be transacted, such a limitation would mean that this business would be spread over a much larger area. The financial district now includes a space bounded roughly by Maiden lane, Church street, William street and Beaver street, and it is improved mostly with buildings from ten to twenty-five stories in height. If, however, no structure could have been erected over eight stories high, the financial district would cover probably the whole of Manhattan south of Fulton street. The other lines of business now situated in that territory would have been shoved farther north, and the wholesale trade, being confined also to eight stories, would have pushed up as far north as Forty-second street, and probably would have occupied a good deal of intervening territory now given over to tenements. The retail trade would have occupied Broadway and Fifth avenue at least as far north as Fifty-ninth street. The old private residences would almost have disappeared south of 59th, and would have been replaced by eight-story hotels and apartment houses. Manhattan, instead of being improved with a few hundred skyscrapers situated on and near Broadway and Fifth avenue, would be much more uniformly covered with eight-story buildings devoted to all sorts of purposes, just as Paris is uniformly covered with six-story buildings, and New Yorkers would have been obliged on the whole to do a much greater amount of traveling in keeping their business appointments.

It is probable that the additional traveling which would under such circumstances have been necessary would have really been, to a certain extent, a drain on the economical transaction of business, although it should be added that this drain would have been much diminished by the increasing use of the telephone; and it is the belief that the concentration of business activity which the erection of skyscrapers encourages results in a great saving of time, which has prevented the establishment of any limit on the height of buildings. Nevertheless, we have never quite been able to understand why the owners of less advantageously situated real estate have not insisted upon such a limitation, because they constitute the great majority of property-owners in Manhattan, and such a limitation would undoubtedly tend to increase the value of their property. It is only the owners of real estate situated on and near Broadway and Fifth or Sixth avenues who are benefited by the existing lack of regulation. All other property-owners are positively injured by it, because it means that business is concentrated within a small area instead of being distributed over a much larger area. The very high price which real estate brings in the financial district, on Greeley square, on Thirty-fourth street, and on Fifth avenue is partly due to the fact that skyscrapers can be or have been erected in these locations, and a legal limitation on the height of buildings would have meant that the value of such real estate would not have become so high as it now is. On the other hand, such a limitation would also have meant that large areas of property situated in the side streets and on the less important avenues which are now worth from $15,000 to $100,000 a lot might well have been worth from $30,000 to $150,000 a lot. But the owners of less advantageously situated property, who are, of course, in the majority, have never appreciated that their interests would have been furthered by a limitation on the height of buildings, and they have never taken any step or made any move in the matter.

At the present time there is practically no influential demand from any quarter that the height of hotels and business buildings in Manhattan should be restricted. New Yorkers are apparently entirely satisfied to allow a property-owner to build as high as he wants—unless he should want to build a tenement house—and there never was a period in the history of the city in which a larger number of skyscrapers were being erected. In the financial district ten buildings, ranging from sixteen to twenty-six stories, are under construction, while on Thirty-fourth street, Greeley square, Fifth avenue and upper Broadway an even larger number of corners are being improved with buildings from ten to eighteen stories in height. The skyscraper, so far from disappearing, as was predicted several years ago, is becoming more conspicuous than ever in the upper regions of Manhattan, and the tendency is to build, on the average, higher and higher. At least one tower over thirty stories in height will be run up on lower Broadway, and another almost equally as high in Madison Square. New Yorkers take pride in the evidence which such structures afford of the growth of the city and the enterprise of its citizens, and they have no wish to interfere with the process. Probably it will not be interfered with until the concentration of business along certain lines and at certain points leads to such a congestion of street traffic that some drastic measures will have to be taken for the purpose of distributing business over a larger area.

Savings Bank May Pay the Recording Tax.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

It has been reported by newspapers generally that the deputy attorney general, the Hon. Danforth E. Ainsworth, has rendered an opinion holding that one who borrows money from a savings bank on mortgage security cannot pay the recording tax, but that it must be paid by the savings bank. This statement is entirely erroneous. I have before me a copy of the opinion which decides one thing, and one thing only, to the effect that a savings bank has a legal right to pay the recording tax if it desires so to do.

Yours truly,
LAWSON PURDY,
Secretary N. Y. Tax Reform Ass'n.

—The contract for furnishing the faience for the main corridors on the ground floor of the new West Street Building, at Cedar, West and Albany sts, has been awarded to the Rookwood Pottery Co., of Cincinnati. The use of faience in this building, one of the most notable of the kind yet erected in New York, affords another instance of the growing popularity of this new material for purposes of structure and decoration. Almost the entire public space in the ground floor, apart from the ornamental metal screenwork and the plaster ceiling, will be carried out in faience, in the form of pilasters, arches, panels and friezes of faience in several colors. This, however, is not the only use of color to be made in this building. The exterior scheme involves a very large use of colored terra cotta, which is now being manufactured by one of the local terra cotta companies, and of colored marble. Reaching the height of 23 stories and occupying an entire block front on West st immediately facing the river, its polychrome exterior will be a notable feature of interest in the group of great business buildings at the lower end of Manhattan Island, which form so impressive a sight to travelers approaching the city. The architect of the West Street Building is Cass Gilbert, who has before shown what can be done to beautify New York's tall buildings through his use of colored terra cotta on the exterior of the Broadway Chambers. He has again shown himself a pioneer in his application of the finer material known as faience to the decoration of the corridors of the West Street Building. The contractor, the John Peirce Co., is also contributing to the architectural success of the building, by using only the best materials in all lines.

Cement Industry in the U. S.

No Probability of a Trust. — 1905 the Record Year in the Trade. — Manufacture of Natural Cement Diminishing.

The calendar year 1905 is the record year thus far in the gain marked in total production of hydraulic cements in the United States over the preceding year.

The increase is 8,427,051 barrels of cement in quantity and $9,899,613 in value, which statement shows most clearly the great bettering of conditions in the cement industry in this country in 1905.

The total production of cement for 1905 was 40,102,308 barrels, having a value of $35,931,533, as compared with a total production in 1904 of 31,675,257 barrels of cement, having a value of $26,031,920.

The production of Portland cement in 1905 was 35,246,812 barrels, valued at $33,245,867.

The production of natural cement in 1905 was 4,473,049 barrels, valued at $2,413,052.

The production of puzzolan cement in 1905 was 382,447 barrels, valued at $272,614.

These are the revised and corrected figures of the U. S. Geographical Survey, prepared under the direction of Edwin C. Eckel, and issued this week. They will be found to vary somewhat from the preliminary statement of production.

The present geographic distribution of the cement industry is well shown in the following table. The term East, as here used, includes plants in Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey, none being located in New England. The "Central" plants are those in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Missouri. Under West are included Kansas, Colorado, South Dakota and Utah. On the Pacific Coast are the three active California plants. The South includes Virginia, West Virginia, Georgia, Alabama, Arkansas, Texas and Kentucky.

GEOGRAPHIC DISTRIBUTION OF PORTLAND CEMENT INDUSTRY IN 1905.

	East.	Central.	West.	Pacific Coast.	South.
Number of plants operating	39	32	7	3	7
Output in barrels, 1905	19,589,675	10,723,802	2,470,349	1,225,429	1,237,557
Percentage of total output	55.6	30.4	7.0	3.5	3.5

Over half of the total product is still made from a mixture of "cement rock" and limestone, but this percentage is slowly decreasing. The marl-clay mixture shows a similar decrease. The proportion of the product made from a mixture of hard limestone and clay or shale is, on the other hand, increasing rapidly.

Cement is one of the fundamental materials of building which has never been controlled by a trust, and there seems to be no opportunity or desire for arranging such a combination. Several years ago a few fairly large companies took up this matter, but as three of the most powerful concerns could not be induced to consider it the question never reached an advanced stage; and the nature of the industry renders it improbable that any combination or non-competitive arrangement can be developed into a monopoly. Good raw materials are so widely distributed throughout the United States that there is hardly a county which could not produce cement if prices were forced high enough, as the only limitation now on the erection of cement plants is that their cost is beyond the financial ability of an individual or a small firm, since a plant able to produce two thousand barrels per diem requires an investment for land, plant and working capital of between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000.

Setting aside as impracticable the question of trusts and combinations based on monopoly of raw materials, it can be said that there has been noticed a certain concentration of interests in the cement industry. Apart from the organization of cement manufacturers, it is understood that several of the nominally independent companies are closely connected in ownership. The eighty-eight plants in existence are owned by seventy-eight companies. Fifteen of the companies produce over two-thirds of the whole American Portland output, and seven produce half. To place the matter in a comparative form the five largest companies together produce about the same percentage of the American cement output that the United States Steel Corporation does of the American output of pig iron. It is conservatively estimated that it would cost between $75,000,000 and $85,000,000 to replace the plants and properties manufacturing cement in the United States, and the capitalization of the companies falls between $110,000,000 and $125,000,000.

Following is a table designed to show the growth and development of the Portland cement industry in this country since 1890. Under the heading of "Section" are the names of the two counties in Pennsylvania which include nearly all the great cement works in the heart of this industry, the names of several of the States that are large or old producers, and the remaining cement producing States, namely, Alabama, California, Colorado, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Virginia and West Virginia, and such other counties in Pennsylvania as have cement plants outside of Northampton and Lehigh Counties.

The tables for 1890 and 1900 include Warren County, N. J., with the two above mentioned counties in Pennsylvania, and, as the New Jersey county is a part of what has for many years been known as the Lehigh district, this was a proper inclusion at that time. But in 1903 the State totals showing production of Portland had become so large that it was thought best by the Government statisticians to make a separation of the three counties in accordance with the States to which they belong. This course has been followed in the succeeding tables as well.

NATURAL CEMENT.

The decrease in the natural cement industry continued in 1905, and the total production fell below that of the preceding year, as it has done for several years. Many plants in the natural cement manufacturing districts were not put into operation during the year, and some were started up simply to make a small quantity of cement for use by the owners of the plant. Several natural cement mills have been torn down and the land on which they stood sold for other purposes, and a few have been made into lime kilns. There was but one new plant built during the year for an exclusive production of natural cement. The decline in this industry seems to be permanent.

In 1905 the total production of natural cement in the United States amounted to 4,473,049 barrels, having a value of $2,413,052. This decrease of 393,282 barrels, as compared with the production of 1904, is not so large as the decrease shown in a comparison of the product of natural cement in 1904 with that manufactured in 1903. The demand, however, seems to be mostly for Portland cement, and reports from the various manufacturers of the natural product show little indication of any strong revival of a demand for this variety of cement, though the falling off in quantity seems to be checked a little. However, the well-known and historic Rosendale cement maintains a good trade, and has its staunch champions among old-time contractors and builders. The production of natural cement in the Rosendale district was larger in 1905 than in 1904. The consolidation of a number of natural cement producing companies, which occurred several years ago in the Rosendale district, still holds, and the combined companies reported a production decidedly in advance of their output in 1904. One of the old, well-established plants was idle because of the death of the owner, and it is doubtful if the kilns will be used again for making cement.

PUZZOLAN OR SLAG CEMENT.

The growth in the slag cement industry is slow, but the number of plants for producing it gradually increases. In 1905 Kentucky was added to the list of slag cement producing States, and the erection of a large plant at Buffalo will add still another State to that list in 1906. The new plant is located on the property of the Union Furnace Company, and will be built by the same people who designed and erected the new slag cement plant at Ashland, Ky. The total number of mills is 8.

IMPORTS.

The total quantity of hydraulic cement brought into the United States from foreign countries in 1905 was 846,577 barrels. The total quantity withdrawn for consumption was 896,845 barrels. For the first time in the history of cement in this country the quantity of cement imported from foreign countries is smaller than the quantity withdrawn from warehouse during the year of consumption, the difference being 50,268 barrels.

Following is a table showing imports of all hydraulic cements into the United States, by countries:

Railroad Spurs for R. H. Macy & Co.

The firm of R. H. Macy & Co. have received permission to construct and use two spur surface railroad tracks, one to be operated by the underground electric system from the northerly surface track in West 34th st into their new store at the corner of Broadway and 34th st, and the other to be operated by the overhead electric system from the easterly surface railroad track on Webster av, between 236th st and McLean av, in the Bronx, into their building on the east side of Webster av. The permission is for ten years and is revocable on sixty days' notice. The firm will pay $1,070 per annum for the first five years and $1,123 for each of the second series of five years for the spur track in West 34th st, and $100 per annum during the first five years for the Webster av spur.

This is the first instance where application has been made for such a privilege, and the borough and city authorities gave the subject careful consideration. As a matter of broad policy, the chief engineer of highways in Manhattan objected to such a concession, but Engineer Nichols of the City Finance Department could see no objection, provided that the tracks were used only in the night time.

R. H. Macy & Co. are lessees for a term of about eighty-three years of the property at Broadway and West 34th st, and they are owners of the property on Webster av. At present the firm uses a large number of wagons for the transportation and delivery of packages throughout the city and adjacent communities, and now desire to limit the use of such wagons by arranging with the express company operating a system of express cars over the surface railroads of the city for the transportation of these packages. The construction of the spur tracks for which permission has been granted will enable the firm to do so and transfer their packages by means of these express cars directly between their premises in West 34th st in Manhattan, and on Webster av at West 236th st in the Bronx. They are to be used exclusively for the benefit of R. H. Macy & Co. It is proposed to make use of one car per day in each direction at the beginning, but the number may be somewhat increased from time to time, as the business of the firm may require, but will probably not exceed three cars per day.

At many points throughout the city the surface railroads are much congested by the present number of cars running over the tracks for passenger business, and the public is at times subjected to inconvenience and delay. Undoubtedly this congested condition could be materially increased by the addition of cars operated for express business only. Under present conditions, comparatively few express cars are run over the surface railroads, and the granting of this petition would not result in any appreciable addition to that number at the outset. At the same time other similar applications will undoubtedly be presented, which, if granted, might result in a large increase in the number of express cars, which would necessarily add to the congestion materially and to further detention to passenger transportation at numerous points, caused by the transferring of the express cars to or from the main lines.

In this case of R. H. Macy & Co., however, Engineer Nichols called attention to the fact that ample provision is made in their bulding in West 34th st for the loading and unloading of their wagons inside of the building, and beyond the lines of the street, whereby the streets are kept entirely free from numerous teams standing in the street, and the sidewalks are not encumbered or occupied by a large number of packages and bundles, as is usually the case in front of large department stores. The fact that the firm has shown every disposition to prevent all inconvenience and annoyance to the public passing along the streets surrounding their place of business, by making such provisions, was held to be a good recommendation when the question of granting the application was considered.

Seventh Avenue Improvements.

Though 7th av has yet to see the beginning of a prophesied era of general rebuilding, two operations now in hand on that thoroughfare are very significant and in line with the hopes entertained for its future, notwithstanding that one of these, the Mills Hotel No. 3, on the northwest corner of 36th st, has been the cause of some dissatisfaction and outspoken criticism. Conceding that here is one improvement that in some respects is not admirable, it is not conceivable that it can seriously interfere with that handsome transformation of the avenue which far-seeing investors have marked out. Circumstances have combined to reserve this central avenue, many believe, for a distinctive class of improvements, in which palatial apartment houses and hotels will be predominating notes; and as the structural forms and style of living in one era always excel those of its predecessor, 7th av in its middle and upper parts cannot be viewed in any other light than one of the finest avenues of the future, from the general high development of which one Mills Hotel will not be a very important detraction.

A much more pleasant subject for consideration is the beautiful structure nearly ready for occupancy at the southeast corner of 55th st, representing the enterprise of Messrs Potter and Brother at 135 Broadway. This is the "Wyoming," from the plans of Rouse & Sloan. The walls are laid up in bright yellow bricks with corners and base of light cut stone, and the whole aspect of the house is attractive and imposing.

The Wyoming is considered the finest housekeeping apartment house yet built "below 59th st." All the contractors engaged in the construction of the building have a high reputation in their respective lines, and it is not too much to say that the plumbing work and fixtures, the steam fittings and electric fixtures are of the best type, workmanship and material. We can well believe that the house has been built as an absolute investment, and that there is nothing of a speculative nature about it.

All drawing rooms, dining rooms and libraries are finished in mahogany, and all doors to master rooms are of mahogany, the bedrooms and bathrooms being finished in white woodwork. The floors in all rooms, except the bathrooms, and in all the private halls, are laid with hard wood. The apartments are provided with telephones, and equipped for electric lighting. A mail chute is provided in the main halls. All water is filtered as it enters the building from the public mains. For each apartment there are storage rooms in the basement. Furniture and supplies will be received and carried through the house by the service elevators from rear entrance, thus avoiding the injury to furniture and annoyances which occur where main entrances or outside windows of apartments are required to be used for moving purposes. The building contains a complete laundry and drying plant, which can be used at the convenience of the tenants. Apartments comprise from seven to thirteen rooms each, and the rentals are from $2,000 to $5,000 per annum.

—The question of the broker's commission is so vital to a large number of our readers that the following, taken from Bradstreet's Journal, will be found interesting: The Supreme Court of Minnesota held, in the case of McDonald vs. Smith, that a real estate broker, in order to earn a commission for finding a purchaser, must either obtain a contract from a proposed purchaser able to buy whereby he is legally bound to buy on the authorized terms, or he must produce to his principal a proposed purchaser able, willing and ready to buy on the proposed terms; that it is not necessary that the principal and purchaser actually be brought face to face, though the principal must be notified that such a purchaser has been found and offered a full opportunity to make a binding contract with him for the sale of the land on the terms authorized, and the evidence of conversations between the broker and the purchaser in negotiating the proposed sale is admissible if the result be communicated to the principal.

Wives and Husbands as Home Buyers.

Many wives, in cases where the husband's name only appears in the deeds to real estate, believe that such fact gives them no control over or interest in the property. They should know that in such cases the husband alone cannot sell or borrow money on the property without their signature to the deed or mortgage (or trust deed) which will bind them to the transaction.

In such cases, where a couple have children, then on the death of the husband the wife has one-third interest for life in all his real estate, which interest is called her dower (which she can have set off to her if the real estate is extensive enough), and the children have the other two-thirds. If there are no children, the wife is entitled to one-half and the heirs of the husband to the other half. If there is a widow and no kin whatsoever to the husband, the widow is entitled to the whole of his estate.

In cases where the deed is made to husband and wife, naming them both as purchasers, the wife, upon the death of her husband, has one-half of the property, and vice versa, and the children (if any) the other half. Under such deeds the estate, upon the death of either, requires probating.

A good way for small property purchasers to do is to have the deed, at the time of purchase, made to both husband and wife (naming them) "as joint tenants and not as tenants in common," which means that the survivor of either shall have the entire title. After the death of both the whole estate, under the law, goes to the children or the legal heirs, as the case may be.

The conveying of real estate to husband and wife "as joint tenants, etc.," can be done at any time, if not done in the original purchase, by the making of a deed by both husband and wife to a third party (always taking for this an unmarried person who has no judgment against him) and then this third party making a deed back to husband and wife "as joint tenants."

As all this is well enough for prospective purchasers of homes to know, nevertheless the only safe way, when paying out their hard earnings, is to go to a reliable and experienced title expert for aid and advice after making his bargain before signing any contract of purchase and place themselves in his hands throughout the whole transaction.

The De La Vergne Machine Co., Bronx, is installing at the E. & G. Brooke Iron Co.'s plant, Birdsboro, Pa., refrigerating machinery of 350 tons capacity, to be used in drying the air blasts for their furnaces. Messrs. Frank C. Roberts & Co., Philadelphia, Pa., are the engineers.

The building of a bridge between Perth Amboy, on the Jersey side, and Tottenville, on the Staten Island side, across the Kill von Kull, is being agitated again, and it is expected that the Legislatures of New York and New Jersey will be asked this fall to make the necessary appropriations.

The ironwork on the new Brunswick office building in 5th av, 26th-27th sts, is now up ten stories. Following this the stone and brick work is up three stories, and a large force is working briskly. Work is to be finished by Oct. 1, and ready for occupancy by that date. It will hereafter be known as the "Hotel Albany." The interior fixtures and fittings will be sold at auction on Aug. 20 at Nos. 115-117 West 23d st.

The Platt Iron Works Co., which has long occupied offices on Liberty st, Manhattan, has been compelled by the growth of its business to take larger quarters at 100 Broadway. A large wareroom with a complete line of all patterns of pumps and compressors, feed water heaters and condensing apparatus, has also been established at 81 West st, where parts are carried in stock for prompt shipment. The New York office of this company is in charge of Mr. R. E. Fox, Jr.

Common labor is much sought for in San Francisco. The railroads alone want 10,000 men, and as many more are needed to help clear away the debris and excavating for new buildings. There is also a good demand for mechanics. The San Francisco Argonaut says that the wage for laborers on railroad work and in warehouses is now $2.25 a day. Cement workers get $5, hod carriers $4, cabinetmakers $3.50, millmen $3.50, plasterers $6, stonecutters $4.75, carpenters' lathers $6, shinglers $4, painters $4, fresco painters $5, paperhangers $4, plumbers $5, machinists $3.75, tinner $4, sheet metal workers $4, glaziers $4, stationary engineers $4. The union schedule for bricklayers is $8 a day.

The Gardner Engineering Co., of 136 Liberty st, is about to build a plant in the vicinity of New York, comprising iron and brass foundries, machine shops and finishing departments. The site of the factory will embrace seven acres of land and have ample shipping facilities. The company will employ about 200 men at the start and it is expected that this number will be largely increased. The site of the factory has been offered free on condition that the work be started at once, and about $50,000 will be needed. The strictest investigation is invited by the company, and a limited amount of stock is offered for sale at the par value of $10 per share, full-paid and non-assessable. The business of the company will be conducted on a conservative basis, and the plan is to work for the mutual benefit of the stockholders.

Work on the new Astor Theatre and office building, immediately north of the Hotel Astor, at Broadway and 44th st, northwest corner, is advancing rapidly. It is now in the hands of ornamental and plain plasterers, Hammerstein & Denivelle, of No. 451 West 54th st. All of the fireproof partitions have been set and the interior trim, woodwork and decorations will now be installed. Mr. M. R. Blimberg, 157 East 86th st, the owner and general contractor, estimates that the theatre will be ready to open in the neighborhood of about six weeks. The building is of Colonial design, among the first of its kind yet effected in this city since the revision of the laws governing the construction of theatres. The seating capacity is about 1,400, 1-sty and galleries equalling 5-stys in height, and measuring 101x88 ft. Along the Broadway front there will be well equipped stores, with offices above. The estimated cost is about $300,000. George Keister, 11 West 29th st, is the architect.

Cellar Fires.

GREAT DIFFICULTY OF SUBDUING THEM PROMPTED THE REGULATION FOR INSTALLING PERFORATED PIPE.

Chief Beggin, in charge of the Bureau of Violations and auxiliary fire appliances in the Fire Department, is a prominent advocate of the installation of perforated pipe connections in the basements and cellars of business buildings, as provided for in a new law. The perforated pipe system consist of dry sprinkler lines to be supplied with water from the street by the fire department. In a signed article of the August "Journal of Fire," Chief Beggin says the popular saying credited to firemen that "they can eat fire but they can't chew smoke," aptly illustrates the most troublesome feature of their work, and this is considered at its worst in a cellar and sub-cellar. On an upper floor it is generally possible to provide some ventilation so as to relieve a smoke-charged atmosphere to the extent that men can live in it long enough to get water on the fire, but the underground floor rarely offers any opportunities of ventilation. To send men down into a cellar is not only to dangerously overtax their physical organism but also to risk their lives, for, if overcome, they may fall out of sight of their comrades and in the effort to rescue them others may be sacrificed. Under any circumstances men can work only for a short time in a smoke-charged atmosphere, and they even then suffer from the effects of it for some days. The disabling of men explains the sending of extra alarms for cellar fires; it is necessary not only to have additional men to relieve those incapacitated, but also to perform the extra work required to extinguish such fires. In accordance with the established custom of entering buildings and fighting fires at close quarters, an attempt is always made to reach cellars by the usual means of access, such as stairways, elevators or other shafts, but, as a rule, conditions make this physically impossible, and it becomes necessary, then, to make openings wherever possible in order to carry off the smoke. If there are "dead lights" (deck glass set in iron frames over sidewalk), these are broken open, holes are cut in floors, and all possible outlets provided for the escape of smoke. Into the floor and sidewalk openings are put cellar and sub-cellar pipes and distributing nozzles, which discharge water in a circle, but this is working at random, for it is usually difficult to locate the fire or to bring the cellar pipes to bear on it. A cellar belching forth smoke and gas like an active volcano, is beyond human endurance at close quarters, and there is nothing left but to turn the lines into it and drown out the fire. This means not only water soaking of all the contents in the sub-cellar but in the cellar as well; it possibly means the spreading of the water through the foundation walls into the adjoining cellars or down into the soil under the walls, with the consequent water damage in other premises; it means excessive smoke damage throughout the upper floors; it means a chance of the fire getting such headway that all the efforts of the firemen cannot confine it to the underground floors; and it means an extra tax on the men and apparatus, with the result of reducing the protection for other districts. The danger from cellar fires is indicated by the record of prominent fires which originated in such places and extended throughout the building. Many of the most destructive fires in the history of the city started in basements or cellars, and while, of course, it cannot be claimed that such fires, if they had occurred in upper floors, would not have been so extensive, there is no doubt that in many cases the location was an extra handicap, and in the case of certain particular fires it was directly responsible, for it is safe to say that if such fires had been above ground, the department could have successfully handled them.

The actual effect of a typical cellar fire is shown by the record of the fire at 483-485 Broadway, on June 29, 1904. The first alarm was received at 11:40 A. M., followed in ten minutes by a second and third alarm, and it was five hours before the fire was completely extinguished. The fire duty necessary to extinguish this fire is indicated by the record of ten engine companies, working an average period of three hours and fifty minutes, or a total of thirty-eight hours and thirty minutes but of much greater significance is the unprecedented number of men disabled, no less than thirty-three men, three chief officers, five company officers and twenty-five firemen requiring the attention of ambulance surgeons from St. Vincent's, Hudson Street and Gouverneur Hospitals, as the result of working in the smoke-charged atmosphere. An entire company of eight men and two officers, and another company of an officer and seven men were overcome. The extent of the resulting property damage is indicated by an insurance settlement of $60,000, covering buildings and contents.

In contrast to this fire was the one just across the street. At 6:40 P. M., Oct. 24, 1905, station 170 was received and the fire department upon responding found smoke issuing from the underground floors of 484 Broadway. When the street door was forced, the first floor was so charged with smoke that the men could enter hardly more than fifteen feet: and were entirely unable to reach the only stairway leading down stairs. In view of the uncertainty of the location of the fire, the Deputy Chief of the First Division had lines stretched to the cellar and sub-cellar perforated pipe connections, but ordered the companies to stand fast. Then the cover of the sidewalk elevator was opened, a ladder put down, and in the short interval before the changed draft rendered it impossible, the Chief descended to the cellar level, where he was able to assure himself that there was a fire in the sub-cellar. The sub-cellar line was immediately charged, and in a very short space of time, estimated at two minutes, the smoke conditions improved sufficiently for a company with a hose line to enter the street floor, then proceed to the cellar by the stairway, and finding no fire there to keep on to the sub-cellar, where they found the pipes working and located the fire just beyond the middle of the floor. Sending up word to shut off the pipes, the men used the hose stream and quickly extinguished what little fire had survived the shower from the pipes. All this took very short time, estimated at eight minutes, and except for the work of wetting down and overhauling, it may be said that this sub-cellar fire was extinguished within ten minutes.

This remarkable result was due, in the opinion of Chief Beggin, to the fact that the building was equipped with proper appliances for the use of the fire department in handling cellar fires, and it is to be noted that not only was the fire confined to the sub-cellar, but this was done without having to use all the first alarm companies. One company had water on the fire a total of sixteen minutes, a second company ten minutes, a third company five minutes and the fourth company not at all.

PRIVATE SALES MARKET

South of 59th Street.

BROOME ST.—Wexler & Posner bought from F. Manchel 254 Broome st, corner of Orchard st, a 6-sty tenement, 30x100.

Strategy of the Broad-Exchange.

BROAD ST.—For a sum stated as $325,000 the Broad-Exchange Company has bought, through Samuel Goldsticker, the property at 41 Broad st, three doors south of the Broad-Exchange Building. The purchasers will obtain through the building an entrance for their coal supplies in place of a rear entrance through Lord's court, that was in danger of being shut off. Adjacent owners had complained that the Broad-Exchange was usurping too many privileges in the rear alleyway; that the vacant space in the middle of the block had been set aside originally to provide light and air to the surrounding buildings and for the joint use of their owners and tenants, and, furthermore, that the mere fact that one small lot in the Broad-Exchange site had originally enjoyed these privileges was no reason why the courtyard should be used for the benefit of an immense structure which also spread out over much adjoining property. The case was carried to the Court of Appeals, with decisions uniformly unfavorable to the owners of the big building, namely, the Broad-Exchange Company, which is controlled by the United States Realty Company. The former owner of 41 Broad st has leased it back for ten years at a rental of $16,000. It is also considered that the purchase will protect the air and light of the Broad-Exchange Building.

REAL ESTATE NOTES

The Lippner Mortgage & Realty Co., 116 Nassau st, has been incorporated with a capital of $50,000, to engage in buying second mortgages.

The only branch of the real estate market in which general activity prevails is the agency department. The early fall advent of prospective residents and seekers for housings has begun.

An office for the Goodman Realty Co. has been opened at 115 West 42d st, which will be the company's main office in future, the present office at 910 Westchester av being continued as a branch.

Renting business is very active at present and likely to continue so for some time to come. Landlords have no difficulty in disposing of their vacancies, and many places are let for later occupancy. Cold water, medium priced modern flats are in good demand and bring good returns in all parts of the city.

S. Alvin Piza and John B. Johns announce that they have formed a partnership under the firm name of Piza & Johns, with offices at East 154th st and Melrose av, where they will conduct a real estate and brokerage business in all its branches. Special attention will be paid to the placing of building loans and mortgages, and to the economical management of properties. Particulars of properties for sale or exchange requested.

Borough Park Conditions.

Edward Johnson reports great activity in Borough Park real estate. Eight contracts are now being closed, and among sales just completed are the following:

The large Colonial house just finished at 47th st and 12th av to Louis Paccover, a Manhattan lawyer, for $15,000; two frame 2-family houses on 46th st, near 12th av, to Max Putkowsky and Robert Rubenoff respectively, for $8,500 each; a frame 2-family house at 49th st and 17th av to Mrs. Bertha Landau, of Manhattan, for $8,500; a frame 2-family house on 52d st, between 15th av and 16th av, to Igna Olsen, for $8,500; and a single brick residence on 44th st, between 12th and Fort Hamilton avs, to Kalil, the well-known restaurant man, of Park pl, Manhattan, for $5,500.

As soon as his family returns from the Adirondacks in September, Mr. Johnson will move into his new residence at 17th av and 49th st. This house is the most expensive yet erected in this section. With the fifteen lots about it, it is valued at $40,000.

The Flushing Boom.

Edward A. MacDougall, one of the members of the Kissena Park Corporation, which is developing Kissena Park, North, says concerning the Flushing section that the people of Flushing have the chance of their lives, and should not hesitate to let its many advantages become known. They cannot paint the picture too strongly, he said. "Let home seekers and investors know that we have in addition to well paved and lighted streets, as good schools as can be found anywhere, churches of all denominations, the best water, sewers, ample police protection and all the social advantages, that we are also only a few minutes from the business centre of Manhattan, and that this time will be considerably reduced when the tunnel is completed."

"Show the home seekers from the crowded boroughs that they are paying or will have to pay as much, or more, for lots miles further out on the island than they can buy them for here, and you will see such an era of good, healthy buying as you have never seen before."

"Massapequa and those other places beyond the city line can never compete with Flushing and points west of it when the facts become known."

"I do not mean to be an alarmist, but if this sort of wildcat buying continues there will be a reaction when the people wake up."

"What the business man who comes here from the city and invests in a home wants is, first, quick and cheap transportation to the city, and second, some, at least, of the city improvements in his country home."

The Coming Long Island Realty Convention.

The proposition to hold a realty convention of Long Island dealers on Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 18 and 19, has struck home. Responses have been received from all over Long Island by President Kempner, of the Kings and Queens County Real Estate Exchange, that plainly indicate the interest and enthusiasm with which the project has been accepted by the realty trade in general. That the convention will be largely attended and warmly supported is amply evidenced from the expressions contained in the letters sent in reply to the invitations.

Among the men suggested for speakers on the occasion are Judge J. M. Kissara, of Queens, N. Y.; Dean Alvord, Arthur Turnbull, Hon. Wm. C. Redfield, Wm. M. Griffith, of Jamaica, Robert W. Haft, John E. Thompson, L. H. Pounds, A. L. Langdon, traffic manager Long Island Railroad, and several other men prominent in connection with Long Island Railroad and transit matters. Among the subjects to be treated by them are:

- "The Long Island Awakening."
- "Long Island Real Estate Values."
- "Benefits of Association in the Real Estate Business."
- "Real Estate Advertising."
- "The Real Estate Salesman."
- "Best Methods in Land Improvement Enterprises."
- "Co-operation in Land Buying and Home Building."
- "Long Island's Advantages for the Home Seeker and Manufacturer."
- "Sanitary Precautions in Suburban Towns."
- "The Agricultural Possibilities of Long Island."
- "The Present and Future of Queens County," and several other topics to be selected by the writers themselves.

The plans so far as they have progressed embrace a business session on the 18th day of September, a second one on the morning of the 19th, to be followed in the afternoon by an excursion to Oyster Bay and thence to some seaside resort where dinner will be served.

EXPERIENCED MAN WANTED to take entire charge of renting department of uptown Broadway Real Estate office. Thorough knowledge essential. Address "EXPERIENCED," Box 10, c/o Record and Guide.

HOW THE SUBJECT IS VIEWED.

Showing the feeling among real estate men in regard to the convention and the motives underlying, the following expressions are typical:

Milton L'Ecluse, of S. Osgood Pell & Co.: "I will be very glad to do anything within my power to help such a convention along, and will attend it on Sept. 18 and 19, representing S. Osgood Pell & Co., upon receipt of program, etc."

Louis H. Pounds, President, Manor Realty Co. and Ditmas Park: "I will say that I am very much interested in a meeting of this character, and believe it will prove beneficial. I shall be glad to be present and do anything that I can to promote its success."

J. L. Hedden, General Manager, Knickerbocker Realty Co.: "We beg to advise you that we will be pleased to participate in the convention which is to be held in Brooklyn on Sept. 18 and 19 for the purpose of establishing an exchange of Long Island acreage and realty dealers."

John O'Neill, of O'Neill Realty Co.: "I am in thorough sympathy with the object of the proposed meeting. The present time seems most opportune for such a movement as you contemplate. The existence of so large and influential a body of men as the real estate brokers and realty men, without organization, without cohesion, without any organized methods of expression, adrift without any guiding apparatus, appears to me to present an anomalous state of things. My object in attending your meeting consists in a hearty desire to contribute, as far as possible, towards a permanent organization of this energetic, intelligent and highly industrious element in the social and commercial organism of this great city, and you may rely upon my disinterested services and independent co-operation in your very meritorious work."

T. Jefferson Burnett, Flushing: "I am thoroughly in favor of united action on all matters, and see no reason why we cannot apply it to real estate with good results."

John E. Thompson, of John E. Thompson & Co., 375 Fulton st, Brooklyn: "If a permanent organization of Brooklyn and Long Island grows out of this proposed convention, I think it will be a great benefit to all who will become members of the organization."

T. B. Ackerson, of T. B. Ackerson Co., 140 Nassau st, New York: "Our Long Island business has always been a successful department. My advice to brokers and operators is, however, to work with care and caution and not aim at prices so high that they will tumble and hurt some one in the falling."

Adolph Bausch Co., Farmingdale, L. I.: "We are willing to do all we can to further the interest of honest dealers."

Brandon-Silvestro Realty Co., Winfield Junction, L. I.: "We think the movement a timely one and our company will be represented at such convention."

Paris & MacDougall, 1123 Broadway, New York, representing the Queens Borough Corporation, the Kissena Park Corporation, Woodside Heights Land Corporation and Elmhurst Square: "We will be glad to co-operate with all those firms who are legitimately engaged in developing Queens Borough property for the legitimate use of home seekers."

John M. Thompson & Co., 212 Broadway, New York: "We are thoroughly in accord with the project."

Erger, Steiner & Co., Woodhaven Junction: "We are always ready to help any movement for the benefit of legitimate real estate brokers."

Nevin & Nygren, 525 Nostrand av, Brooklyn: "We are very glad to learn that the suburban realty operators contemplate such a move as an organization, as we think it is a move in the right direction."

Wm. M. Griffith, Vice-President of Queens County Trust Co., Jamaica: "I should be pleased to do what I can to make your proposed gathering a success."

Henry P. Libby, of Freeport and Rockville Centre, L. I.: "I anticipate much interest in the program and pleasure in meeting with the 'fraternity' and listening to the discussions which may arise. I believe that organized effort properly directed will work out good results in this calling, as well as in others, and trust that this may be accomplished after a time in the proposed organization."

C. F. Thurber, Rockville Centre, L. I.: "Yours is a good movement and ought to have been started years ago."

Large Bay Ridge Sales.

Messrs. Howard C. Pyle & Co., of 199 Montague st, Brooklyn, have recently closed contracts for the sale of about 440 lots in Bay Ridge section, in the vicinity of the Bush Terminal property, aggregating over $600,000.

225 lots for the estate of William H. Langley, between 1st and 2d avs, 60th and 63d sts.

70 lots, block bounded by 1st and 2d avs, 59th and 60th sts, for Susan W. Hopkins and Frances K. Sanger.

64 lots in block bounded by 1st and 2d avs, 43d and 44th sts, for Stewart McDougal.

35 lots on the north side of 44th st, running through to 43d st, for Percy Kent and others.

10 lots on the east side of 2d av, between 43d and 44th sts, for Owners' Land Co.

30 lots on the south side of 60th st, between 2d and 3d avs.

These lots were all sold for investment to New York parties, who have great faith in the future of this location.

—The Interborough Railway Co. has asked for the consent of the Board of Estimate to the laying of a railway along Ogden av from Central Bridge to Aqueduct av. Such a transit line would be a great convenience to the heights section above Central Bridge, which section is yet practically without rail facilities, with the exception of the almost inaccessible line on Sedgwick av. The railroad company has a franchise for Lind av, but it desires to substitute for this the privilege of running on Ogden av. A hearing of the petition will be given on Friday, September 28.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantees, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

The text of these pages is copyrighted. All rights are reserved.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows; The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

August 10, 11, 13, 14, 15 and 16.

The Index to Volume LXXVII of the Record and Guide, covering the period between January 1 and June 30, 1906, will be ready for delivery on Tuesday, August 28. Price $1. This Index in its enlarged form is now recognized as indispensable to every one engaged or interested in real estate and building operations. It covers all transactions—deeds, mortgages, leases, auction sales, building plans filed, etc. Orders for the Index should be sent at once to the office of publication, 14 and 16 Vesey St.

WALL STREET has sailed out from the shallows into deep water. This makes navigation safer in one regard, but more perilous in another. The conserving influence of a large short interest is gone. The bears have been terribly whipped, and without the sustaining influence of their repurchases the market from this high level might easily have to sustain a bad break should something decidedly adverse be encountered. But with the exception of possible money difficulty there is nothing disquieting in sight. A shrewd observer whose business calls him every sixty days to Chicago, and thence through the Indian Territory and Nevada, says that each journey reveals such surprising additions to the prosperity and optimism that what he considered a year ago as a dangerous boom has long since been distanced by the bull facts until now his feeling is one of surprise at the moderation of people rather than their enthusiasm. This criticism might well be extended to Wall Street measured by the unprecedented facts. Surely it cannot be charged that there is an unreasoning speculation current on the New York Stock Exchange. The temper of the Street indeed is to err on the side of safety. It is ever on the alert for danger signals, and they are welcomed in advance of their appearance. Any sort of phantom is readily accepted in lieu thereof with the resultant illogical and often unreasoning action. Consequently commission houses are not borrowing half the money they were in 1901 and 1902, and their customers run like deer at the slightest sound of the financial tom-tom. The rapidly growing increase in the intrinsic value of railroad shares so constantly pointed out and enlarged upon in these columns, is being more intelligently discussed in connection with larger dividends being declared. It was an epoch-making day in American finance when the dividends of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific companies were declared. And yet the ascertainable facts on analysis of their earnings and conditions could readily have been learned six months ago. The announcement seemed to surprise the average trader who is now, however, adopting these patent facts as the basis for his operations at the present high range of prices, when but a few weeks ago he was selling the same stocks short. A financial writer says: "Anybody who knows anything at all about the Union Pacific Company and the Southern Pacific Company knows that the dividends just declared are ultra-conservative. By haggling over the question of speculative etiquette the Street is losing sight of the real backbone of the present advance, which is the tremendous crops." This is true, for the value of these stupendous yields cannot be less than $8,000,000,000. Consequently, corporation valuations of both railroads and industrials must necessarily benefit. This money question, however, is ever to the fore and could there be any assurance that there would be no normal rates between now and the end of the year, stocks would undoubtedly make new high records. With even six per cent. money it has been demonstrated that a great and broad bull movement is not easy to inaugurate. Uncertainty about money is calculated to discourage speculation and to check the enthusiasm of the public in spite of the unparalleled underlying conditions and plethoric prosperity.

THERE was published in the City Record during the past week the schedule of the assessed valuation of real estate on which taxes will be collected next fall. This is the list which was open for inspection early in January, and is now after an interval of more than seven months being given to the public in an available shape. Its publication is a very excellent thing; but surely the law ought to be changed so as to provide for the general distribution of the schedules at an earlier date. The delay of seven months, which now takes place before the appearance of this information in the City Record, is wholly unnecessary. By the employment of a little additional clerical assistance, a complete schedule could be given to property owners in an available form at least as early as the middle of April, and the saving of this time would be worth far more than it would cost. In a matter of this kind promptness of publication is quite as essential as accuracy and completeness of publication. The longer the schedules are in the hands of the public before the assessments are finally confirmed, the more likely will be the exposure of any unfair discriminations. One of the most valuable checks upon the existence of such discriminations is the publication in the Record and Guide of the assessed valuation of every parcel of Manhattan real estate which is conveyed; but the Record and Guide is very much handicapped in this work by the fact that the schedules are not published in the City Record until seven months after the books are thrown open. Inasmuch as we are necessarily dependent upon the numbers of the City Record in which it is furnished, this delay means that during seven months of the year the assessed valuations which we publish are those of the year preceding, and the value of the work which has been undertaken at a considerable expense is correspondingly diminished. The existing law ought to be modified at the coming session of the Legislature, providing for the publication of the list in the City Record at least as early as May 1st.

A CORRESPONDENT writes to the Record and Guide, and challenges the assertion made in the last number that the unrestricted building of skyscrapers is an economic advantage to the owners of extremely well-situated property. He admits that they believe it to be an advantage, and that they would fight strenuously against any curtailment of their existing liberties, but he believes them to be mistaken. He argues that if, for instance, the amount of business now transacted in the financial district were spread over a much larger area, the rents of offices in extremely well situated locations, such as those within a few hundred feet of the Stock Exchange, would be larger than they are at present. Good offices in the most convenient locations would be increasingly difficult to obtain, and would command proportionately higher prices. The effect of the building of skyscrapers is really to alleviate rather than to intensify the effects of the partial monopoly, which the owners of extremely well situated parcels of real estate possess. These parcels of real estate are in that way put to their maximum economic use, and both its owners and the public thereby receive the greatest possible advantage. The chief difference is that under the existing conditions the owner has to invest many millions of additional capital in order to secure the best available returns, where as under a system of legal restrictions on the height of buildings, he would obtain as large a net return with the investment of only a small amount of additional capital. This argument undoubtedly has a good deal of force. The first effect of any legal restriction on the height of buildings would probably be to depress somewhat the existing level of prices for gilt-edged real estate, because these prices are based on the opportunity now afforded for the erection of skyscrapers; but in the long run the effect of any restriction would be to make the most advantageously situated property still more valuable, while at the same time increasing the value of real estate which is less conveniently located. In London, for instance, where the legal existence of "ancient lights," as well as local regulations, forbid the erection of skyscrapers, the value of real estate in the financial district is if anything greater than it is in New York. If buildings more than eight stories high had been forbidden in Manhattan fifteen years ago, the restriction would not probably have worked to the disadvantage of property owners on Wall Street, Broadway and Fifth Avenue, but the enforcement of such a restriction at the present time would of course, injure the owners of gilt-edged real estate who had not erected skyscrapers, while it would benefit the owners of gilt-edged real estate who had erected skyscrapers. Restriction at the present time would consequently mean discrimination.

IT IS EVIDENT from the figures published in the Record and Guide that the assessment list in spite of the increases made during recent years will still bear sharp scrutiny. There is no doubt that real estate, particularly in the speculative districts, is still under-assessed. A conspicuous instance of under-assessment is the corner of Beaver and Broad streets, recently purchased by the Consolidated Stock and Petroleum Exchange. The Exchange Building Company, according to the consideration expressed in the deed, $870,000, paid for the property, which is assessed at $570,500. This particular piece of property is taxed consequently at less than two-thirds of its actual value; and a similar percentage seems to hold in a curiously uniform way. During the first seven months of 1905 for instance, the aggregate value of real estate sold at expressed considerations was approximately $60,000,000, while the aggregate assessed valuation was approximately only $40,000,000. During the corresponding period of 1906 the sum total of the expressed considerations was approximately $50,000,000, while the sum total of the assessed values of the same properties was only $35,000,000. It will be appreciated consequently that the average assessed valuation is still far from being either 100 per cent. or even 90 per cent. of the actual value. This criticism should not, however, be pushed too hard, because the actual selling value of real estate is an extremely uncertain and doubtful quantity, and if the figures published by the Record and Guide should show that the assessed value was on the average 90 per cent. of the price at which certain properties had really sold, that result would probably imply much injustice in particular cases. What the figures ought to show in order to afford a safe margin would be an average assessed valuation, which was 80 per cent. of the apparent actual value. In this connection it should also be observed that the work of the assessors is becoming increasingly difficult year by year. The number of conveyances in which the consideration is expressed is still decreasing. Thus during the first seven months of 1906 the transfers recorded containing an expressed consideration were 932, which was less by 300 than the total for the corresponding period in 1905. On the other hand the number of transfers recorded containing only nominal considerations increased from 14,171 in 1905 to 14,540 in 1906. Every effort is made by property owners at the present time to conceal values, because such concealment is a good thing for the speculators who at the present time dominate the real estate market.

THE appearance of Mr. William Travers Jerome as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Governorship clears the atmosphere wonderfully because Mr. Jerome is apparently the only possible candidate who has a chance of defeating Hearst. But it is very much to be wished that Mr. Jerome would take his stand upon a more definite and a more comprehensive platform. Whenever Jerome runs for office, his only platform is his own personality. "If you elect me," he says to the voters, "I will obey my oath of office and fear no man." Such a pledge may be sufficient for a candidate for the office of District Attorney, whose duty it is chiefly to punish criminals, but it is not sufficient for a gubernatorial candidate. The Governor is primarily an executive officer, but he has enormous influence upon the legislation of the State; and before voting for Mr. Jerome, one would like to know what sort of legislation he would favor and what sort he would veto. In short, we all know that Mr. Jerome stands for honesty in the conduct of public affairs and for intellectual and moral independence; but he has given very slight public expression to his opinions on the vital political questions of the day. We get the impression that Mr. Jerome considers his reticence to be a source of strength; but in our opinion it is rather a source of weakness. The popular strength of men like Hearst, Bryan, or even Roosevelt, does not consist merely in their personalities, but is due to the fact that their personalities are identified with a definite group of political ideas and with a definite political programme. William Travers Jerome will never become a national politician and statesman until he comes out explicitly for a specific attitude towards the most important economic and political problems of the day.

Money and Real Estate.

UNDERLYING all the reasons and motives for conditions in real estate this summer is the low supply of investment money. Many other reasons there are, but all are supported by this particular one, and none would be considered if, after the enormous quantity of cash that since 1903 has been poured into the various channels of real estate investments, the flow had continued large.

That money is not being held back and impounded somewhere the public is beginning to perceive, and it is also apparent that the public effects of the change in the mortgage tax law have had time to wear away.

As a reason for the money tightness the new mortgage recording tax law seems to have performed its full duty, and its office henceforth can only be to encourage capitalists everywhere to invest their money in the tax-exempt real estate mortgages of New York State. Surely if monetary circumstances were normal a supply from new springs of wealth would be already started hitherward, but temporarily there are stronger attractions. Wall Street, revived and more attractive than in years, is drawing back speculators and investors who for some time had their thoughts centred elsewhere. At this writing Wall st is paying six per cent. for call loans, and in the great pinch of a few months ago it paid eighty.

Wall Street needs money as well as real estate needs it. The railroads want more than they can easily get for betterments; the farmers of the country will soon be calling for money to move their enormous crops. In almost every field of activity the cry is for more money to do business with. A man who has spent forty years in Wall st remarked to the present writer yesterday that the reason for the shortage of funds in real estate as in Wall st is a very simple one, but pregnant with significance to the whole country—there isn't enough money to go 'round. "You may summon to the witness stand all the analytic experts in real estate and finance that you care to, and heap up all the reasons they can think of for the inertia in mortgage money, but the fundamental fact will be that we haven't enough money for the business needs of the country. In other words, our currency system is inadequate," he said. "We have outgrown it, and it is greatly in need of amendment and enlargement."

The head of one of the best known real estate firms, whose main office is in the financial district, remarked:

"In my opinion the whole trouble with real estate conditions is that the ready money supply has reached the stage of exhaustion. In the past two or three years the city has seen the greatest buying and building movements in its history. An incalculable sum, representing the savings of the well doing as well as the surplus of the affluent, have gone into real estate channels, and it is not because of anything the mortgage companies, or the savings banks, or the insurance companies, or Wall st, or anybody else may think or do about real estate values and prospects, the money market is simply undersupplied.

"In the past we have ascribed the shortage to the mortgage tax law, to the insurance investigation, to the high cost of labor and material and to high values; but, so far as I can see, money in the large sense is not being held back but has run out.

"The sums that have been going into real estate have been tremendous. Under the new tenement house laws and the demands of the times generally, a type of house has been necessary which has called for many times the outlay of the former style of building. The average construction in Manhattan has become gigantic; business houses scrape the sky and apartment houses cover half a block. A class of clever and daring men have gone into building operations, and the interest in the business has become intense. Under such circumstances the expenditure in building loans and mortgages as the records show exceeded in 1904 and in 1905 all previous records.

"An effect of the stringency can be stated that way: While these operations are large they have been carried on by builders no more financially able than the builders of the smaller tenements of ten years ago, they have been able to get large loans, and to sell the houses readily, often times from the plans. What sells a house are the terms. The easier the terms the quicker the sale; and when the terms are not easy there is nothing doing for a large class of enterprising gentlemen.

"I should think that the monetary stringency might have the effect of hardening the terms of sale in many cases, in that a larger margin of equity would be insisted on. You can see the point, and what the consequence would be. Many speculators would be unable to buy, or builders to sell. Buildings for which plans were filed would not be erected owing to the enforced postponement of financial arrangements; the demand for brick would fall off, and the quotations for that commodity would tumble."

A report circulated early in the week, and credited to an officer in one of the title companies, alleged that they had agreed among themselves "to put a check on tenement house building for a year." Real estate authorities do not ascribe such great power and authority to the title companies as this statement implies, and are also willing to acquit them of having such a disposition. As title companies are actuated by the same prudential motives as other lenders, it would seem that with adequate security they would be willing to lend on an apartment house as well as on a business building—provided they had the money or could sell the mortgage.

They are moved not only by the same reasons of prudence but also by like circumstances as other men, and presumably are not immune from the money stringency. They have frankly stated the fact, but some writers persist in disbelieving, and seem to look upon these benign corporations as the cause of the stringency. The insurance companies are also suspected by the wisecracks of being in league with those who are holding back money from real estate. Yet one of the insurance companies has gone into the business of loaning money direct on real estate.

Except for the effects of stringent money, real estate interests continue in a healthy condition in most parts of the city. Such moderation in trading and construction in speculative circles that is not reasonable can be accounted for by the difficulty of getting money as readily as formerly. That a larger margin of security is asked under the circumstances is as natural as that a good number of builders and speculators find it inconvenient to meet these terms. This and the fact that a certain type of construction has for the time being outrun the requirement in certain sections—namely, apartment house building on upper Washington Heights, in upper Harlem and the lower section of the East Bronx—is the sum total of the situation.

On Washington Heights three hundred apartment houses were under construction at this time last year. Two hundred of these have been turned over. About one hundred more are in course of erection at the present time, nearly all being of the 5-story "walk-up" type designed for twenty families each, and most of them will be ready for occupancy this fall. A large number of vacancies remain in the houses that were finished last spring. Some houses completed a year ago are scantily tenanted. One row of five has no more than a dozen apartments occupied. Agents in all parts of the Heights are giving from two weeks to one month free rent, and in the new buildings every owner has not succeeded in getting the rates he expected.

But conditions are not alike in every part of the Heights. At Duff & Brown's it was said that in the neighborhood of 145th st renting is better than was expected; in fact, apartments in that quarter were being rented very readily, and on St. Nicholas av rates have been advanced this year. Apartments of six or more rooms rent more readily than small apartments, and the opinion was expressed that there would not be so many vacancies in the new houses if they were better adapted to family needs.

A large amount of building is going on east of 8th av, in 144th, 145th and 146th sts. The two squares formerly used by the elevated road for storage tracks are being covered by various builders. A leading agent of the vicinity said there was an apparent overproduction of apartments in upper Harlem, but the Fall renting might not prove this to be so. He added: "In reality, there can be no overproduction if the rent rates are right for the people. Many continue to live in inferior sections and houses because they have not educated themselves up to paying the higher rates required by the new-law houses. The question of overproduction is a difficult one to answer; there cannot be too many houses, but the rents can be too high for the means of the class intended to tenant them."

In Manhattan, south of 110th st at least, renting conditions are normal. High-class apartments are in strong demand, and rents are firmly held at the levels fixed in previous years. Up to last Friday there had been loaned on real estate in Manhattan and the Bronx this year $286,434,980, as against $478,917,569 in the corresponding part of last year; and the number of mortgages filed in the same time has been 18,828, as against 23,426 in the same time last year. As in Brooklyn the pace is only a little short of last year's in building construction, it seems a fair inference that the principal effect of the stringency in the money market has fallen upon the cheaper class of tenement house operations in the new sections of Manhattan and the Bronx. For Washington Heights 195 houses have been planned this year; and for the district between 110th and 159th sts, 8th av and the Harlem River, 206.

The Index to Volume LXXVII. of the Record and Guide, covering the period between January 1 to June 30, 1906, will be ready for delivery on Tuesday, August 28. Price $1. This Index in its enlarged form is now recognized as indispensable to every one engaged or interested in real estate and building operations. It covers all transactions—deeds, mortgages, leases, auction sales, building plans filed, etc. Orders for the Index should be sent at once to the office of publication, 14 and 16 Vesey St.

How a Construction Company Does Things

THE SHIP-BUILDING SYSTEM APPLIED TO SKYSCRAPER CONSTRUCTION—ORGANIZATION AND METHODS EXPLAINED.

It is only the other day that "skeleton construction"—the system of erecting buildings around and upon a steel framework—became an actual industry. Twenty years ago it was unthought of. Little by little it has dawned upon men who paused in the street for a minute from day to day to observe the progress of a building that a revolution was being wrought in the oldest craft in the world. Now it is hardly a thing to surprise any one to see a part of the walls in place, several stories above ground, with nothing but some spindling steel uprights underneath to support them. A few years ago that very thing was one of the sights of the town. A demand brought into being this method of construction, which has become almost commonplace to the people who occupy the buildings as they stand to-day. There are inspiring things in business, in the application of brains and toil to the work to be done, and this change has a history that has even romantic aspects.

For hundreds of years the building industry had progressed little, if at all. It had lost ground rather than gained it, to judge by standards of skill and efficiency. Then came the need of more stories in buildings. Five and six floors on a lot of high value made office room too expensive. The skyscraper was called into being. To build it an entirely new order of ability had to be called into play. The problem was worked out by the engineers, for to the old craft of the artisan had to be added the knowledge of the bridge builder and that genius in fitting means to an end which Americans are content to describe by the homely word, "gumption."

The modern skyscraper, that structure which, compared to the old-fashioned building, is as the great ocean liner to the sail ship of the olden days, requires ability in constructional engineering, mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, sanitary engineering, a complete mastery and adaptation of the skill and knowledge of many suddenly grown arts and trades and their adaptation to the new "creature" which was so odd when first brought into being, and is so necessary and taken for granted in this year of civilization.

The great construction company of to-day may be briefly defined as an organized body of engineer-contractors composed of specialists in the different lines of modern building construction. It has grown gradually in answer to the modern demand that the different operations which are involved in the construction of that single thing—a building—shall be conducted under one management, exactly as the department stores have been developed in the world of merchandising.

The idea of this organization is no new thing. In ship building it has been regarded as impossible, and indeed it has been impossible to construct a great ocean liner except by a complete organization under one ownership and control. And so the ship building business has grown under systematic and orderly management to a point where a single ship of to-day can carry in one cargo a greater bulk or tonnage than could ten of the greatest liners twenty years back, or than a hundred of fifty years ago.

The difficulties in the way of establishing a single organization for building on land have been far greater than those which were surmounted in the case of ship building, but the principle is the same, and it has won, as it was bound to do.

Forty trades, more or less, are engaged at one time or another in constructing the skyscraper. Four great departments of engineering are involved in the structural designing. To bring all these under one management, in the face of the opposition of the advocates of the older system of dividing the construction work among anywhere from a dozen to the full forty independent contractors has been no easy task.

Big construction companies at present only seek the work of building Class A buildings, which are, of course, only required on ground which is very valuable. Such undertakings, involving the expenditure of a large sum on each single operation, and requiring, as they do, a total suspension of all income during their construction, have demanded as the first essential speed, so that interest charges may be reduced to the minimum, and oftentimes so that the renting season of each year may be safely met. The saving of time may therefore be said to be a sine qua non in the construction of the skyscraper. The older system was found to be a time-saver only under conditions where expense was no object. It was in answer to the demand for time-saving, with economy, that the present organization has grown.

How is it carried out? To give an idea of the scope of the organization, it should be explained that the business is divided into three heads, executive, accounting and legal. The executive head controls seven departments of (1) construction, (2) purchasing, (3) drafting, (4) civil engineering, designing, (5) mechanical engineering, designing, (6) selling, and (7) estimating. Each of these departments has its divisions down to the smallest practical detail.

The construction department, for instance, is divided into two main divisions, the first being the superintendent's division, which includes (1) pay-roll work, or work done direct by mechanics employed by the company, and embracing fourteen different lines, which under the old system would mean fourteen different interests to deal with, and (2) sub-contract work, i. e., work done by sub-contractors. The second division of the construction department includes the four engineering lines without whose help no modern construction can be done. These are the civil, mechanical, electrical and sanitary engineering departments which are concerned respectively with the foundations and steel skeletons; the heating and ventilating systems; the electric lighting plants and the sanitary systems.

Under the pay-roll work a certain company in this city handles at different stages in the construction of a building fourteen different trades. This employment of numerous trades is a feature of the management which has been found to be in very truth the open sesame of a new order of things in the industrial world, for almost all trade disputes and other building trade troubles have been found to grow out of jealousies arising between different independent employers' organizations, which formerly undertook to keep each department of a building by itself. The department store idea, as it has been called, does away with all this, for the very good reason that the employer of all trades has no axe to grind for one trade as against another.

In division I there may be as many as fourteen trades, and the work under these heads is done altogether by mechanics on the pay-rolls of the company. In division II the work is let to sub-contractors but is supervised by the general contracting company, and all the material for the pay-roll work is purchased and supplied by the general contractor.

It will thus be seen that every part of the construction of a building is first studied out beforehand, in the drafting, civil engineering and mechanical engineering departments. The selling department negotiates with architects and owners for the business.

When the contract has been undertaken the superintendents begin to mass their forces at the work. A time schedule is furnished them. The cellar must be done by such a date, the foundations so many days later, and so on until the elevators are running, and the tenants move in. The time schedule is adhered to closely.

Hall of Records Practically Finished.

The Hall of Records is practically finished with the exception of the sculptural groups of statuary for the outside of the building, the cost of which is estimated at $17,000. Twenty-five thousand has been reserved to cover the cost of the work yet remaining to be done, and with that exception the account with the John Peirce Company under Contract No. 2 has been closed by a check from the Comptroller, with the understanding that the John Peirce Company will in due time ask for a final inspection and will complete everything found at that time to be within the contract.

The contract of John Peirce referred to is known as Contract No. 2, for the completion of the new Hall of Records, and the account now stands as follows:

—The Italians of this city who are largely employed as laborers in the building trades and public works, and sometimes as mechanics, are doing exceedingly well at present, judging from the money they are sending home. Millions of dollars are annually sent from America. A single bank at Naples received half a million last year from temporary Italian residents in this country. The general idea of most Italian emigrants is to accumulate something like a fortune in the States and return with it to Italy. The intimacy of the home connection is shown by the exhibit of the Bank of Naples, which, having advertised that sort of business as its specialty, has more than 183,000 accounts opened by Italian emigrants in the United States, and placed to their credit during the fiscal year just closed more than $500,000. During the same period Italians in Argentina sent to this single bank $828,000 and $425,000 came back from Brazil. The total receipts from such sources at the Naples bank were $200,000 above those of the year before. And that is only one bank among dozens in Italy.

Master Sheet Metal Workers.

NATIONAL CONVENTION RECOMMENDS AMENDMENTS TO THE NEW YORK BUILDING CODE—QUESTIONS CONCERNING APPRENTICES, QUALITY OF MATERIAL AND PRICE SCALE.

At the second annual convention of Master Sheet Metal Workers, which met in Indianapolis Aug. 8-10, the following officers were elected: President, Edwin L. Seabrook, Camden, N. J.; First Vice-President, Paul L. Biersach, Milwaukee, Wis.; Second Vice-President, J. A. Pierpoint, Washington, D. C.; Third Vice-President, Charles A. Gauss, Indianapolis, Ind.; Fourth Vice-President, Al. Bourlier, Louisville, Ky.; Secretary, W. H. Barnard, Norfolk, Va.; Treasurer, G. W. Battley, Norfolk, Va.; Trustees—W. A. Gallaher, Wilmington, Del.; Thomas F. Black, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Robert Kain, Cleveland, O., and E. W. Richards, Philadelphia, Pa.

President Seabrook, in the course of his annual address, said:

"There is no finer example of what organization among the master sheet metal workers can accomplish than the results of this meeting in Baltimore last February. If this association adopts the report and the recommendations therein carried out of the joint committee appointed by this conference, a great work will have been accomplished by our national body in the eighteen months of its organization. In order that the conditions of the trade might be made known at this convention, that the association might be the better able to grasp the situation confronting the trade in general, whether members or non-members, this office, about three months ago, prepared a set of fifteen questions in report form. These questions asked for information concerning protection given by the supply houses, foundries, etc., to the trade; if any effort had been made to secure protection; if a price scale for jobbing, repairs, etc., existed; the labor situation as regards open or closed shop; training, etc., received by the apprentice; quality of material. Suggestions were asked as to how the National Association could be of more benefit to local members and the trade at large; also to report any special work the local association had taken up during the year.

"The report blanks were sent, not only to our own local secretaries, but to officers of locals not affiliated with this association and to firms not members of any local. They were sent to every city of importance. The information gathered from these reports is from every section of the country. A large percentage of the blanks sent out were returned, some only partially, others fully answering every question. Many were accompanied by letters giving more detailed information than appeared on the blanks. These reports showed a condition of affairs that should not exist in a trade so important as the sheet metal business. There is a sad lack of harmony and unity of action for the betterment of the trade in many localities. Only in spots is there an uplifting influence working, and those spots are where the effects of organization are at work. There is a wide difference in a report from a city having a well-organized local and the city having none, or one about to expire. I do not believe the trade appreciates the condition it is in. It needs an awakening as to the possibilities before it. It has endured some evils so long that it thinks no relief possible.

"This association at its beginning took a very decided stand regarding the apprenticeship question. It stands to-day unalterably opposed to restricting the number of apprentices by any labor union. Demand should regulate the number and not an arbitrary rule of a labor organization. Every American boy should have the privilege of learning a trade. No restriction should be placed upon the kind of work he should perform nor the amount he should produce; further, we believe he should have a thorough, systematic training by the old-time methods.

"The old-time apprentice in the sheet metal trades, in most instances, has ceased for several years. In very few cases is any attempt made to give an apprentice a knowledge of the sheet metal trade, nor has there been for quite a number of years. Instead of apprentices, a floating class called "helpers" have been employed. These go from one shop to another for a year or two, and then class themselves as journeymen. Consequently there is and has been for some time a dearth of good mechanics. The employer is largely to blame for this condition. If the future is to have good mechanics there must be a proper training of the boys in the present day. The slipshod method of training that has been sown for years past is being reaped to-day in slipshod mechanics.

"One year ago this association, in no uncertain way, called the attention of the trade to this condition of affairs, and we are glad to note that the situation is being discussed and employers are trying to find some method to improve condition in this respect.

"Very few cities report any effort being made for a systematic training. Boston frankly says it has no apprentices. Think of it! Where are the mechanics for Boston ten years hence to come from? Worcester, Mass., says there is not an apprentice in the place. Kalamazoo, Mich., says they don't stay long enough with one employer to learn anything. Pittsburgh, Pa., uses the apprentice where he will make the most money for the employer. Findlay, O., has none—too expensive. The lack of apprentices or any effort for their proper training is the rule and not an exception. Only in isolated cases is the reverse true.

"There are indications, however, that many firms are desirous of adopting some system. If a radical improvement is to be made, three things are necessary:

"1. That the apprentice shall be under the absolute control of the employer—i. e., that no labor union shall have any control of him whatever during his apprenticeship. The labor union and the apprentice must be absolutely separate.

"2. There should be a written agreement entered into between the apprentice, with his parent or guardian, and the employer.

"3. The employer shall lay aside weekly or monthly a certain sum of money to be given the apprentice at the end of his term.

"A minimum uniform price list for jobbing repairs, etc., is a very important matter for the master sheet metal workers in each locality to consider, and to be fair with each other when an agreement of this kind is adopted. The following cities report having adopted a price scale: Peoria, Philadelphia, Camden, Wilmington, Waterbury, Washington, Cumberland, Superior, Norfolk, Indianapolis, Syracuse, Hartford, Rochester and Erie. Out of the large number of reports received, these few places are all that are working under a price scale.

"The quality of the material furnished by the jobber and manufacturer has been a subject much discussed during the past year. The question was asked of the trade at large if the material furnished to-day was satisfactory? Only ten answered in the affirmative. All the others were very positive in declaring material received to-day quite unsatisfactory, one city even going so far as to report the life taken out of copper by some of the processes for manufacturing. There is only one conclusion to be drawn from the information received on this subject, and that is, there is widespread dissatisfaction regarding the quality of material furnished the trade."

RECOMMENDATION FOR THE NEW YORK BUILDING CODE.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, One of our members, William Martin, of New York, has brought to the attention of the Building Code Commission of that city, which is acting with the Board of Aldermen, some important additions to the regulations in the public interest for safety against fire;

Be it Resolved, That the members of the National Association of Master Sheet Metal Workers, assembled in convention in Indianapolis, do heartily commend the recommendation that only tile, slate and metal be permitted by the code of New York City for roof covering within its limits; and

Be it further Resolved, That this association as an expression of the experience and best judgment of its members does earnestly urge the Aldermen of New York, in the interest of fire protection and public safety, to persist in the incorporation of these vitally important regulations into the building code; and

Be it Resolved, That all the members of this association are hereby requested to send letters to Aldermen Levrett and Griffenhagen, of New York, giving encouragement to continue their effort and giving them such information from experience as will strengthen their arguments to secure these public spirited and life protective regulations; and

Be it Resolved, That the secretary is hereby instructed to send copies of these resolutions to the Board of Aldermen of New York City, to Aldermen Levrett and Griffenhagen and to Mr. William Martin, to further the work in which they are engaged and which has our emphatic approval; and

Be it Resolved, That we hereby congratulate the citizens of New York on the sagacity, progressiveness and energy of its Aldermen in seeking in their legislation to protect lives and property.

William C. Fiedler on Newark Real Estate Conditions.

In speaking of the realty situation in the city of Newark, William C. Fiedler, of the Fiedler Realty Company, says: "The market is rather quiet, as many people who are interested in real estate are out of town, but there are a great many inquiries for residential propositions, more so as applied to the suburban districts than close to the centre of the city. There seems to be an extraordinary demand for one and two-family houses. People appear to be getting away more and more from the purely speculative propositions, such as apartment houses, etc., and want more room for their home environments. All classes of individuals have made money during the past year, and they are anxious to live a little better than formerly.

"The increase in taxation will have a deterrent effect on the real estate market and realty operations temporarily, but I do not think that it will affect the business to any appreciable extent.

"The majority of inquiries are of the 'shopping' class, as people making them are looking around to see where they can settle advantageously and permanently before investing. I believe that the fall season will produce even better conditions in the real estate market than we have had formerly for the reason that general business continues to be of large volume, manufacturing and industrial conditions are more staple than they have been for years and the improvements which have been made by many manufacturing plants together with the location here during the past few months of several large concerns is constantly bringing people to the city, while the congested conditions of New York City and Brooklyn are forcing people to seek spacious homes elsewhere, the preference being given to northern New Jersey. Newark is and has for some time been feeling the greatest influx of population of any other town in this vicinity.

"Right now, however, the midsummer dullness is on while many people are away on their vacations, but the real estate market is in that condition which presages important developments in the fall."

Timber Regulations to be Changed.

WHEN the business of revising the Building Code is seriously attacked, as it will not be until Fall, one of the provisions that will be proposed by the Building Department will relate to the sizes and qualities of timber. The regulations under this head have been indefinite, and Superintendent Murphy has been on the verge recently of issuing a new rule with the object of bringing building practice more in conformity with current requirements.

The limits of extreme fiber stress (bending) for wood beams as fixed by local custom is alleged by the department to be too low for safe carrying capacity under present conditions. The working stress stipulated in the present-code for yellow pine is 1,200 lbs. per sq. in. of sectional area, and 800 lbs. for spruce; but the rule actually enforced is the one which obtained back in Superintendent Brady's time, and sets a much lower limit; and the department proposes to raise the requirement for yellow pine to 2,475 lbs. for yellow pine and 2,025 lbs. for spruce.

Meanwhile, Superintendent Murphy proposed promulgating a rule for the sizes and quality of timber which, while raising the line of safety, would not, at this time, fix so high a standard as it is ultimately intended to graft into the new code. This rule would have limited the spans of wood beams in buildings as follows:

	Span in feet.
	Spruce.	Yellow Pine.
3x 8-in., 16 ins. on centers.....	18	20
3x 8-in., 12 ins. on centers.....	20	23
4x 8-in., 16 ins. on centers.....	21	23
4x 8-in., 12 ins. on centers.....	24	26
3x 9-in., 16 ins. on centers.....	20	22
3x 9-in., 12 ins. on centers.....	23	26
3x10-in., 16 ins. on centers.....	23	25
3x10-in., 12 ins. on centers.....	26	—

This and another rule refusing to recognize short leaf pine as the kind of yellow pine referred to in the code are both held in abeyance.

Regarding the exclusion of short leaf pine, the lumber trade is much stirred up. A committee from the New York Lumber Trade Association, with Mr. John F. Steeves as chairman, waited on Superintendent Murphy and has used every effort to have the operation of this rule delayed until such time as the present stock could be disposed of. The superintendent has apparently acquiesced in this.

But he informed the committee that some time this Fall the Board of Aldermen would appoint a new code committee, and that in his opinion that code would provide absolutely for the abolishment of short leaf pine in building construction in this market. This is fair warning to lumber dealers.

Superintendent Murphy, as a practical builder, knows that the yards in this city have to stock up in advance to meet demands based on the rules of his department as to sizes and character of lumber which can be used, and he does not, therefore, wish to be hard on them.

The following notice has been received:

"Owing to the present depressed condition of the lumber market and the action of Commissioner of Buildings for Greater New York, prohibiting the use of short leaf pine of certain dimensions for building purposes in that territory, without distinction between the quality of Virginia pine and South Carolina and Georgia short leaf, we, the undersigned, manufacturers and dealers in short leaf lumber from the port of Charleston, agree that on and after this date we will not accept any orders for shipment for a period of ninety days. It is further agreed that all unfilled contracts shall be completed and shipped and the mills be shut down for a period as above stated.

The above is self-explanatory and shows how far-reaching the action of the Building Department may be.

Rockefeller's mansion at Pocantico Hills, now under way, and estimated to cost $500,000, were drawn by Messrs. Delano & Aldrich, of 4 East 39th st.

It has already been proposed to enlarge the present Hotel Astor at 44th and 45th sts to nearly twice its present size by adding 100 ft. in both streets, increasing the plot from 200x160 ft. to 200x260 ft. Hotel Astor was built about two years ago, and that it has been necessary so soon to devise means for enlarging its accommodations with now the probability of another hotel adjoining, to be built by the same owner, is a very interesting and remarkable fact, and more so that these improvements will be almost coincidental with the opening of the neighboring Knickerbocker Hotel, also Astor property, at Broadway, southeast corner 42d st. Clinton & Russell were architects for Mr. Astor in previous operations. It was stated at their office this week that no plans for the new building have been drawn.
